GREEN BLAMES NEW DEAL FOR 9 MILLION IDLE

Let Industry Alone, A. F. L. Demands.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 31.—Blame for this country's staggering unemployment roll of 9,000,000 persons was laid at the door of the Roosevelt administration and congress today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

In a statement setting forth the official views of the federation's executive council, now in session here, Green made the following points:

1. Government spending for relief of the idle offers no permanent cure for unemployment.

2. The only way chronic unemployment can be ended is for the government to stop interfering with business and permit private industry to provide jobs.

3. Experience has proved that when opportunity for profit diminishes, opportunities for jobs likewise disappear.

Political Action Planned.

Green and the council announced that the A. F. of L. will send delegations to the national conventions of both political parties to urge the inclusion in campaign platforms of a constructive program for elimination of unemployment.

"Unemployment still is the most acute domestic problem of the nation," Green's statement said. "No orderly and intelligent effort has yet been made to determine the facts with regard to unemployment, its causes, its extent, its cure.

"The nation has not hesitated to spend billions for relief of the unemployed, but we have neglected the necessary steps to reduce and end unemployment.

"Therefore, the A. F. of L. refuses to accept the idea of chronic or permanent unemployment. To admit this would be to admit the failure of democracy. We believe that a democracy owes a basic obligation to its citizens to provide them with opportunity to work and achieve a progressively higher standard of living."

Calls for Fact Finding.

The statement said it must be ascertained how many persons are unemployed thru no fault of their own, what age groups are particularly affected, what localities and industries have suffered most, and to what extent new inventions and machinery have displaced workers.

"Experience has taught us," the statement continued, "that government spending, while it provides necessary relief for those forced into idleness, offers no permanent cure for unemployment. The only possible practical way to end unemployment is to provide jobs for the unemployed in private industry.

Cites Lack of Confidence.

"At this time there are not enough jobs in private industry to go around. This is largely due, in our opinion, to the fact that lack of confidence has stunted business growth and expansion. We demand that those in authority take whatever steps may be necessary to restore business confidence.

"We have learned the lesson that when opportunities for profit diminish, opportunities for jobs likewise disappear.

"We recommend that efforts to reduce unemployment be integrated. To this end we urge congress to create a national advisory council on unemployment, which would have representatives of government, business, labor, farmers and consumers. Such a council could bring about unity of purpose and unity of action on a constructive program.

Makes Plea for Relief.

"Until unemployment is reduced, the government must bear the heavy burden of providing relief for the millions now unable to find work in private industry. A large appropriation will again be necessary for this purpose during the coming year. We call upon congress not to seek economy at this time at the expense of the helpless but to provide an adequate appropriation. The nation can drop this relief burden and slash the terrifying high cost of government only when the unemployment problem is faced, met and solved."

The council said that the A. F. of L. will continue to press for the five day week and the six hour day. The shorter work week, the council declared, will spread available jobs among a greater number and offer opportunity for continuous growth to industry by increasing consuming and purchasing power,

SLIPPERS TRIP BANDITS AFTER YEAR AND A HALF

25 Police Help End Holdup Forays.

A small, dark-haired, black-eyed mother, whom police know as the woman in the fur slippers, was locked up at the detective bureau last night as the one who guided a bold bandit gang in its depredations. With her were three other members of the band. A fifth robber, wounded in the gang's last foray, lay near death in the Bridewell hospital.

Mrs. Annette Detente.

The arrests cleared up more than 100 daring robberies. The bandits preyed for 18 months on packing houses, breweries, beer distributors, and oil companies. Twenty-five policemen worked to trap them. The trap was first sprung on Tuesday when the robbers tried to hold up the Metropolitan Petroleum company at 3211 South Wood street. They escaped, or thought they had, but the police actually were closing in on them.

Confess 20 Robberies.

The roundup was made late Tuesday night and early yesterday. Last night Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said members of the gang had confessed 20 robberies and were still talking. They were identified in eight other crimes at a special showup. Identification was made difficult because the outlaws invariably wore handkerchief masks.

The woman in the fur slippers is Mrs. Annette Detente, 26 years old. She has a son, 8, who's just learning to ice skate. Her family connections in crime are deep. Her brother, Jimmy Munno, a paroled convict, was killed by police machine guns in the loop three years ago. He was wanted for robbery. Mrs. Detente's husband, Mike, is serving a term for robbery in Joliet penitentiary.

Used as Advance Scout.

Two members of the gang captured yesterday are brothers-in-law of the woman. She was the advance scout in many robberies. She would "case," or size up a place, and report if there was a police guard. She wore a house dress and black house slippers with white fur tops, to give her the appearance of a neighborhood housewife. Thus clad, she would place an innocent order for fuel oil or beer while her sharp eyes darted everywhere.

The bandits still do not know that it was by identifying Mrs. Detente thru her fur slippers and trailing her that the police finally broke up the gang. They may get some satisfaction in knowing that a special robbery detail under Lieut. Kyran Phelan had to be organized as a direct result of the gang's operations.

All Four Have Records.

Three of the male prisoners are former convicts and the fourth has a jail record. They are:

CHRIS DATTALO, 31 years old, 1518 Harrison street. He was shot just below the right shoulder blade in fleeing the Metropolitan Petroleum company stickup, and is near death. Sentenced to 2 years in Pontiac prison for robbery in 1932; to 3 years in Joliet prison for rape of a girl 14 years old in 1935.

RALPH DETENTE, 24, of 613 South May street. Served two terms, total of 28 months, in St. Charles School for Boys; sentenced to prison for robbery in 1933; paroled in 1936, discharged in 1939.

JOHN DETENTE, his brother, 29, of 624 South May street. Sentenced to Pontiac for robbery, 1928; transferred to Joliet, 1934; paroled 1936 and discharged 1939.

WILLIAM OTT, 25, of 1248 Congress street. Served three one year terms in the Bridewell for theft and robbery.

An old shotgun of Jimmy Munno's and three revolvers were seized. One of the revolvers had been taken from Policeman Martin White in a packing house robbery at 3725 South Halsted street last March 15.

Methods Never Vary.

The gang used the same stolen car during the 18 months it flourished. Methods used were almost the same in all the robberies. John Detente drove the car. Ralph Detente, Datallo, and Ott donned masks and took

CHINA PROPOSES BOY, 6, BE MADE RULER OF TIBET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 31.—A little Chinese boy of 6, whose divinity is so apparent to his followers that they have decided he need not take the last test that would prove it, soon may be consecrated the dalai lama of Tibet.

By virtue of the office, Lingerh Lamutanchu would be the wealthiest child in the world. Eventually he would be the absolute ruler of 5,000,000 Tibetans; for, while spiritual power over this population is divided between the dalai and panchen lamas, only the dalai has civil administrative control.

[The lamaism that these millions follow is a corrupt sort of Buddhism. Almost one-fifth of the Tibet population is said to be lamas. At Lhasa, capital of Tibet, two public schools have been established, one to train prospective ecclesiastical officials and the other for lay government officers.]

Government Urges Selection.

The appointment of Lingerh was believed to be assured today when the central Chinese government at Chungking recommended he be chosen over two other boys of the same age whom the 169 "living Buddhas" of the Lhasa lamasery had considered as possibilities.

Under immemorial custom the final decision is made by placing the names of the candidates, inscribed on bamboo, in a golden urn from which only one name is drawn.

The Chinese government holds that Lingerh, whose parents live in the Amdo district, has been confirmed by the people of Tibet, religious authorities and the rulers of China, as the only possible reincarnation of the last dalai lama, who died Dec. 17, 1933. The government has recommended that the other candidates be taken into the ranks of the living Buddhas and trained to assist the new high priest in his government.

Mystic portents resulted in the choice. Lingerh [Lamutanchu means "divine child"] was born at the exact moment that the 13th lama died. The Tibetan religion assumes the dalai lama never dies. He simply is reincarnated in a new born child.

Vision Leads to New Lama.

First, the time element was correct. Later the tashi lama, the second spiritual head of Tibet who has been in exile in China since 1928, had a vision four years ago in which a woman holding a little boy plucked his sleeve and murmured, "Ah Ka Ma." This pointed to Lingerh, whose mother's name is Ka Ma.

The other candidates also were born at the moment of the old dalai lama's passing. But all investigation, including examination of their heads, on which tradition declares will be secret marks of divinity, tended to support the claims made for Lingerh.

Last fall, as the boy was carried 1,000 miles across Tibet to Lhasa, he was received with great acclaim. Even hair splitting theologians, who had argued there could be only 12 reincarnations of the dalai lama, were silenced. The Chinese peasant boy who came from Koko-Nor province would be the 14th lama.

Delegations from China, Nepal, and Tibet paid him homage when he arrived at Lhasa, the capital on "the roof of the world." He has undergone strict training at the Lhasa lamasery to prepare him for his rule. However, he will not become supreme until he is 18 years old. Meanwhile regents will govern for him. For the next 12 years he will be exclusively in the company of Tibetans. He will not even see his parents or his two brothers.

OFFICERS WEAR WHITE COATS; SLOW BRITISH TRAFFIC IN BLACKOUT

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A squad of white coated policemen in new swift police cars went to work at midnight enforcing Britain's new blackout speed limit of 20 miles an hour.

Policemen on foot are instructed to flash down anybody exceeding the speed limit. Penalties for infraction of the speed laws are severe. Violators can be fined up to $2,000 or be jailed for three months.

Alarmed by the number of auto accidents during blackout since the start of the war, officials have warned the public that the regulations will be strictly enforced.

RECAPTURE KEY TOWN ON SHORE OF LAKE LADOGA

Rout Ski Battalion on Northern Front.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 31 (AP).—Finnish troops tonight completed the encirclement of two trapped Russian divisions in the Kitela sector northeast of Lake Ladoga by capturing the strategic town of Pitkaranta, front observers reported. They threw back Red army attacks "everywhere" along the same front.

Only their numerically inferior forces are keeping the Finns from polishing off the trapped Russians, the account of the capture said. Pitkaranta is about 20 miles from the Russian border and was one of the soviet's early objectives in the war.

Rout Battalion; 300 Dead.

Unofficial sources reported tonight that Finnish troops on the northern front had attacked the soviet 3d Siberian ski battalion of 600 men, killing 300 and routing the rest. These troops were reported to have been specially trained in Siberia and sent to Finland as reinforcements. The precise site of the battle was not disclosed.

The nightly Finnish communique said that Red army attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga had been thrown back with the loss of nine tanks.

Observers, expanding this official bulletin, said the Finns were waiting for the trapped Russians to run out of ammunition before trying to administer a coup de grace. The soviet soldiers were reported to have been without food for more than a week.

New Attacks on Isthmus.

New Russian attacks on the Karelian isthmus were repulsed, the Finnish high command said, with a loss of "about 50 killed." The attacks were concentrated at Taipale. Other sectors were quiet.

Finnish antiaircraft and fighting planes shot down five enemy planes, the high command said, and "carried out several reconnaissance and bombing raids."

Gen. Hugo Osterman, commander in chief of Finland's army, said today that Russian troops had failed to advance at any point beyond the defense lines chosen by the Finns immediately after the outbreak of the war two months ago.

Bomb Town in Lapland.

ROVANIEMI, Finnish Lapland, Jan. 31 (AP).—Fifteen persons were killed and about 60 injured when 27 Russian bombers came over this important northern Finnish town in three waves today and dropped 150 bombs. Among the dead were seven children and three women. The air raid alarm lasted for two hours.

Five of the children were killed in one building when a bomb struck a cellar door and tore out an entire wall. Two women in the building escaped injury.

Five persons, including two nurses and a woman who had just arrived to give birth to a baby, were killed when some of the bombs struck a hospital.

The Russian Communique.

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP).—The Leningrad military headquarters tonight issued the following communique on today's operations on the Finnish front:

"Only activities of scouts. Soviet aviation made reconnoitering flights."

FRESH FOOD FOR REDS

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BEHIND THE EASTERN FRONT IN FINLAND, Jan. 31.—The first meal the Finns gave the Russian prisoners they captured today on the Lake Ladoga front was oatmeal. On many of the heavily bearded Slav faces I saw frozen blood. The prisoners told me this was from the raw horse flesh they had been eating. For many days the Finns had prevented them from making fires to cook their food so they had to eat it raw.

In some of the prisoners' sacks I saw horse bones on which they had been gnawing.

The Reds' proper supplies were exhausted long ago and the invading forces recently were dependent almost entirely on the sacks of bread dropped by soviet airplanes. This source frequently was disturbed as Finnish airmen pursued the soviet

Last Checkout Today at Great Northern Hotel

Forty-nine years ago, while Chicago was congratulating itself on its first electric power line, and looking forward to the Columbian exposition, a fine new hotel was a-building at Dearborn and Jackson streets.

The building, 17 stories high, was completed in 1892. It was the last word in modernity. It had electric lights thruout, something that no other hotel in the city had. It had nine bars and they called one of them the "Silver Dollar," because only silver was accepted in payment for drinks.

A Gay Place in the Nineties.

A gay place the old Great Northern was in the nineties. And fireproof, too. There was nothing to equal it west of New York. In the great lobby a pipe organ boomed and noted figures raised their voices so they'd be heard above the mellow din.

Thru its portals strolled Death Valley Scotty to scatter $100 bills as tips. David Belasco, the elegant impresario, and Mrs. Leslie Carter were among the new hotel's patrons. When it was intermission time in the Great Northern theater playgoers crowded the nine bars. Few noticed it, but on such a night a plainly dressed woman walked in and demanded a room without bath. No foolishness about her; she was just Hetty Green, the world's richest woman.

That was all in the long ago. Today at noon the Great Northern ceases to exist as a hotel. All its regular patrons have been ordered out at that time. Auctioneers are going to take over at once and sell the furnishings before Feb. 16. Then the Marshall Field estate, owner of the property, will begin to demolish the structure.

Needs New Foundations.

The new Dearborn street subway, it has been explained, would necessitate heavy new foundations for the old hotel. Economics prescribes that it's better to tear it down and then erect a one-story building.

At midnight, last night, the ancient hotel was officially closed. The faithful permanent residents were guests at a dinner given by Albert Pick, chairman of the corporation that has managed the place for four years. Glasses were lifted in sad fellowship. The lobby lights were dim and the help said their farewells to the guests.

One of the old time patrons is Lehman Lithauer, who has made the Great Northern his home for 28 years. George H. Cushing, who first visited it in 1893, is another. There are four others whose combined tenure is 152 years. Last night they were all packed, ready to leave.

"Regrets?" asked Lithauer. "Yes, indeed. I almost feel like I owned it. And I'm staying until the traffic moves only one way—out."

STARVING AT A HOTEL, HUNDREDS ARE SAVED FROM SCOTCH WINTER

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 31 (AP).—Having responded to an appeal saying "we are starving," an emergency train fought its way thru weather hazards and brought to Glasgow today most of the 400 persons who had been weather-bound since Saturday in a hotel at Crawford-on-Beattock moor in Lanarkshire.

With supplies for regular guests only, the hotel was confronted with a food emergency when it became overcrowded by stranded bus and train passengers who were unable to travel beyond the moor because of the weather.

There was little improvement in the transport tieup thruout the country, the worst in Britain's history, as a result of the most severe winter in 46 years.

Swedish Mail to America Sent Via Berlin and Rome

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Germans today said that Swedish mail to America and other overseas countries was being routed via Berlin, Rome, and Lisbon, Portugal. This measure was taken, it was explained, because of the "dangers of British waters" and because British and French censors caused delays.

Australia Gets First of 100 Planes Ordered from U. S.

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 31.—The first of the 100 Lockheed Hudson planes ordered in the United States have arrived and will be assembled for flying in about two weeks. Seven American experts will assist in assembling them.

Belgium Seeks Prewar Trade with Germany

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 31.—The hope that England and France will consent to Belgium's trading with Germany on the prewar scale is expressed by those keeping in touch with the progress of negotiations now going on in Paris and London.

Provisions to this end already are said to have been inserted in the trade pact which is expected to be concluded at the end of the week. The delegates have reported that both countries are giving a sympathetic ear to Belgium's argument that the blockade has done her more harm than Germany and, since Britain and France between them absorb more than 25 per cent of the total Belgium exports, they are hurting themselves as well.

Dependent on German Coke.

Not only is heavy industry here dependent on German coke, but unless Belgium receives 4,000,000 tons annually from the reich she is unable to keep her agreement with France providing for the exchange of coke for 6,500,000 tons of iron ore.

Since the Belgians signed a provisory trade pact with France in December, Germany has refused to keep up the coke shipments and has been holding out for the prewar trade volume both ways. As the Belgium trade is only an insignificant part of Germany's total, the British and French are reported to be relaxing in their original objections. German and Belgian trade negotiations, therefore, are hinging on the outcome of those in Paris and London.

Diamond Business Booms.

One business that really has boomed since the war started is the diamond trade of Antwerp, the world's diamond cutting center. Increasing numbers are buying diamonds as investments. Antwerp's export of diamonds alone last year was said to have amounted to 50 million dollars. Fifty thousand persons are supported by this industry in Antwerp.

Orders come in from all parts of the world. The prices of industrial diamonds, with Germany and England competing in the market, jumped 800 per cent in the first two days of the war.

planes and often brought them down before they could drop their loads.

The prisoners said the Russian losses in this sector could be counted only by the thousands and that the survivors were now desperate for lack of food. The invasion in this direction which began with the beginning of the war was brought to a halt near Koirinoja.

The Finnish island stronghold of Mantsi on Lake Ladoga, a little off the coast and not far from the soviet frontier, like Koivisto on the Gulf of Finland, has been continually bombarded by soviet land batteries and bombed from the air, the attacks having been intensified especially as the position became more and more critical. All the attacks have been beaten off and nowhere has the enemy been able to improve his positions.

Cavalry Plays a Part.

Cavalry has played no small part in the operations north of Lake Ladoga. The method practiced by both sides is similar: each horse serves three men, one mounted and the other two drawn along on skis.

When contact with the enemy is established the mounted man seeks shelter for his horse while the ski men remain to fight. The Russians appear to have borrowed this method from the Finns, but they are not so adept as the latter in the practice.

Must Have Foreign Aid.

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP).—Dr. Harri Holma, Finland's minister to France, told newspaper men today that Field Marshal Baron Mannerheim's Finnish army "is condemned to death if it does not receive sufficient aid quickly in its fight against Russia." "An army can perform one miracle but never a series of miracles," the minister said.

Holma acknowledged that effective aid was coming from countries all over the world, particularly France, England, and the United States, but emphasized that more is needed.

The Pasteur institute of Paris has organized a 100 bed hospital which is leaving soon for Finland with a number of ambulances, some of which have been provided by the Paris post of the American Legion.

It was also announced that the gambling tables at Monte Carlo soon will contribute to Finnish relief a percentage of the receipts for several evenings.

'AJAX, GRAF SPEE VICTOR, RETURNS TO ENGLISH PORT

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The battered Ajax, one of the three British cruisers that defeated the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and caused the commander to scuttle her off Montevideo, Uruguay, came home today to Plymouth.

The cruiser's return after two years at a foreign station, was unheralded but news of her arrival at Plymouth sound during the night spread thru the town. People lined the waterfront for a glimpse of the battle scarred veteran. Later the crew, old hands at spinning the yarn of the battle with the Graf Spee, poured it again into eager ears.

Two wounded members of the crew were left in South America.

FRENCH SCOUTS MAKE RAIDS ON GERMANS' SOIL

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP).—Tonight's communique of the British-French high command on the western front said: "Our patrols penetrated into enemy territory at several points and successfully accomplished their missions."

Military sources said French troops repulsed two German attacks west of the Saar river yesterday after several hours of fighting. Sixty Germans were said to have attacked one French post. Thirty advanced against another a mile distant.

[The German war summary yesterday stated: "In the west, only minor fighting activity."]

Finns Repeat Victories

A Russian ski battalion has been reported routed on the Salla front (1) by Finns, who killed 300 of the 600 Siberian ski troops. Russian planes killed several persons in a bombing raid on Rovaniemi (2). In the Kitela sector the Finns recaptured the strategic town of Pitkaranta and completed encirclement of two Red divisions (3). New Russian attacks were repulsed at Taipale (4).

NAZIS ADOPT NEW TACTICS TO WARD OFF BRITISH SUBS

Believed Sign of New Activity by Foes.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Special measures have been taken in the German bight [Heligoland bay] to protect naval units and other shipping against the dangers of submarine attacks, the German admiralty announced today. This was believed to indicate that British submarines are becoming increasingly active in German waters.

According to reports in Berlin British submarines have damaged two German cruisers since the outbreak of the war. On the other hand, the Germans claimed that two and possibly three British submarines have either been trapped in submarine nets or struck mines.

U-Boat Chasing Craft.

The admiralty explained that the new antisubmarine measures involve "increased employment of U-boat chasing craft and other defensive measures." Whether the German navy has built special U-boat chasers similar to those of the British was not revealed.

Additional nets have been reported to have been laid to protect the reich's naval bases. Magnetic mines also are supplying an important part of this defense.

Say 18 Vessels Sunk.

The German supreme command announced that in the last two days 18 British patrol vessels and armed merchantmen have been sunk by German air raiders. It was disclosed that in some cases the German planes were using 500 pound bombs in their attacks on British ships.

The Germans declared that since the war began the western powers have lost 23 oil tankers aggregating 170,000 tons. Tankers are particular objects of German attacks by planes and U-boats since Britain must import all her oil.

PREDICT DEFEAT FOR ROOSEVELT ON FINNISH LOAN

SenateCommittee Studies Plan in Secret.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Members of the senate foreign relations committee predicted defeat for President Roosevelt's Finnish loan proposal after a meeting today at which Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, defended the pending administration bill.

A majority of the committee members, according to senators present at the closed session, expressed opposition to the making of government loans to any country at war.

Urge 100 Million Increase.

The bill under consideration, which Mr. Jones advocated, would increase from 100 million to 200 million dollars the revolving credit fund of the Export-Import bank for the purpose of financing the exportation of nonmilitary products to both Scandinavian and South American countries. This scheme was proposed by President Roosevelt as a "reasonable approach" to the Finnish loan question.

Members of the committee said there was substantial opposition to the whole foreign loan program. It is doubtful whether the committee will report any bill at all and certain that any bill reported will contain an amendment prohibiting credits to nations engaged in war, committee members declared.

Back Bond Sale Plan.

There was much support in the foreign relations committee for the solution of the Finnish loan problem proposed yesterday by Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.]. Harrison opposed any government loan, directly or indirectly, to Finland, and suggested as an alternative that the Securities and Exchange commission authorize the registration and sale of Finnish bonds to private investors in this country.

Senators opposing the whole foreign loan program voiced the suspicion that President Roosevelt was taking advantage of the popular sympathy for the Finns in their struggle against the communist Russian aggression to put over an important part of his 4 billion dollar spending-lending program, which congress junked in 1939.

Bill Killed in House.

This program originally included 500 million dollars for loans to foreign governments, but congressional opposition forced sponsors of the proposed legislation to reduce the amount to 100 million. The bill passed by the senate increased the lending authority of the Export-Import bank by only 75 million dollars and the house killed the whole program.

While urging a 100 million dollar increase in the lending limit of the Export-Import bank, Mr. Jones, at today's session, was noncommittal as to any further financial assistance to Finland.

In response to questions, Mr. Jones conceded that so-called nonmilitary supplies purchased by Finland with Export-Import bank credit could be exchanged for British and French munitions.

Typical of the comment of senators opposing the administration bill was the statement of Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.]: "This is just a subterfuge to lend money to a country engaged in conflict and I'm opposed to it. My desire to keep this country out of war outweighs my sympathies for Finland."

Dog Gives Alarm

James Ball, 13, who lives in building where fire occurred, with dog Fritz that awakened family when flames started.

Thirty men, women, and children were routed early today when fire swept thru the front half of a three story rooming house at 926 Lawrence avenue. Eight escaped down the ladders, five of them with the assistance of firemen.

A 2-11 alarm was sounded because of the danger of fire spreading to nearby residences. Traffic on Sheridan road, half a block west, was rerouted for an hour. Anthony Mullaney, chief deputy fire marshal, estimated the damage at $3,000. He said the fire started in a basement rubbish pile.

Raymond Lloyd Jr., 17 years old, who was ill, and his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lloyd, were helped down the ladders from their second floor apartment. Another son, Charles, 16; her mother, Mrs. Cora Mae Lorentz, and the latter's husband, Raymond, made their way safely down the ladder unaided. Lorentz carried his dog, whose barking had awakened the family, he said. Firemen also assisted Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fernando from the third floor and Miss June Doggett from a second floor apartment.

GERMAN ADMITS CLAMPING STERN RULE ON POLES

Deputy Governor Denies Executing 18,000.

BERLIN, Jan. 31 (AP).—Germany's way of ruling occupied Poland is in the best interest of the Polish population but the Poles must recognize warring Germany's right to eliminate enemies on her flank, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, deputy governor of the area, told correspondents today.

Germany's future relation to any Polish state as may survive will be determined, he predicted, by the readiness with which Poles revise their thinking and cease to conspire against Germany.

Denies 18,000 Were Executed.

He decried as gross exaggerations claims by the exiled Polish government in Paris that 18,000 persons had been executed by the Germans in Poland, but warned that Germans, "fighting the fight of our lives," could not tolerate conditions "which might amount to a stab in the back."

The paramount consideration in Poland must be Germany's needs and interests, Seyss-Inquart insisted.

He said it had been necessary to deal sternly with criminals, but contended this was for the benefit of the Poles themselves.

"Poland is not central Europe," he added. "We had to introduce measures which these primitive people understood."

Stiff Measures Adopted.

Stiff measures often have been taken with chauvinistic Polish intellectuals, he admitted. The workers and peasants are easily led, he added, and are being taught German orderliness and efficiency.

The Red Cross and Quakers are permitted to function in Poland, he related, but Germany insists on controling their operations.

"It is true," he said, "that we have forbidden Jews at present to ride on express trains."

German Grain Shipped In.

Ten thousand tons of grain, Seyss-Inquart said, were shipped monthly from Germany to Poland to help feed the population, and a bank of issue soon will be established.

Seyss-Inquart denied Germans had interfered with church life in Poland.

"We recognize that the Pole is deeply religious," he said, "and have no intention of interfering. Except for the churches ruined by war, all are open. Priests officiate as usual. In scattered cases, when priests continued chauvinistic agitation from the pulpit, we forbade them to preach."

[The Polish embassy to the Vatican asserted on Sunday the Germans had made attempts to wipe out the church in Poland.]

Clothing Stores Closed.

Seyss-Inquart said textile and shoe stores are closed to prevent hoarding and price increases, and inventories are being taken. After reopening the stores will sell only to those really needing clothing and shoes.

The German administration has continued to pay pensions and 100,000 unemployed are receiving doles, Seyss-Inquart declared.

Franco's Party Absorbs All Labor and Employer Groups

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 31 (AP).—Spain's government today put all labor unions and employers' associations under the direct control of the Falange, Generalissimo Franco's political party. A law approved by the cabinet on Jan. 27 and published today ordered the associations incorporated into the Falange's national syndicalist organization. Professional associations and coöperatives existing before Oct. 10, 1938, were not included, but are expected to be placed under Falange control later.

FRANCE DECREES PUNISHMENT FOR FOOD GAMBLERS

Merchants Must Meet Normal Demands.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 31.—A decree aimed at merchants who attempt to speculate in foodstuffs by restricting sales was made public today by the French government, which already has provided stiff penalties for attempts to increase prices unduly.

Under the terms of the new regulation a merchant can be fined or jailed or have his shop closed for refusing to satisfy the normal demands of his customers by withholding goods for speculative purposes.

The same penalties apply for making the purchase of one article depend on the purchase of any other or for limiting sales to specific hours of the day except in certain authorized cases.

Winter Complicates Problem.

The wartime problem of getting food to the civilian population has been complicated by the unusually rigorous winter, which has tied up much of what transport facilities were available.

This apparently is the only reason for the shortage of milk the last two days. Coffee still is rare and olive oil and other cooking oils can be had only in certain quarters of Paris.

There is a particular shortage of beef, but the reason for this is one which keeps any French housewife from grumbling. It is that the consumption of beef by the army is about equal to that of the entire population before the war.

Butter Is Plentiful.

Butter continues to be plentiful. During the last war sugar was scarce because the Germans held the sugar fields and refineries, almost all of which were in the former departments of Picardy and Artois.

[Picardy and Artois now are called Somme and Pas-de-Calais, respectively. These departments lie southwest of Belgium.]

This time the sugar fields and refineries are sheltered behind the Maginot line and it is said there probably will be no need to ration sugar even if general rationing is installed.

The government has given no indication so far that it plans to issue ration cards, altho these are already printed and ready for distribution. However, the disclosure that the mobilization of the peasantry has created serious agricultural problems which, unless remedied, may result in a shortage of home produce this year, has caused some alarm in the press.

Britain to Ration Paper; War Disrupts Supplies

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP).—The supply ministry announced today that paper would be rationed shortly. Supplies of butter, bacon, ham, sugar and coal already are on a ration basis because of the war. Much of Britain's wood pulp supplies come from Scandinavia, a trade which has been disrupted by the war.

[Another dispatch yesterday said the British government had instructed all its stenographers to single space departmental correspondence, to write on both sides of the paper, and to stretch out margins as far as possible.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP).—Dorris Bowdon, 21 year old movie starlet from Memphis, told friends she was flying to New York today to marry Nunnally Johnson, writer. She and Johnson, who is on leave of absence from the studio where Miss Bowdon is under contract, have been seen with each other frequently during the last year. Miss Bowdon was attending the University of Louisiana when a film scout discovered her.

FIRST PICTURES SHOW SINKING OF COURAGEOUS

The first pictures of the sinking of the British airplane carrier, Courageous, are published today in THE TRIBUNE. The pictures, taken by an officer aboard a British warship which aided in rescue work, arrived in New York on the Atlantic Clipper yesterday and were transmitted to Chicago by Associated Press Wirephoto.

The photographs, long delayed by British censors, were released by the British government, but the names of the officer and his ship were kept secret.

The Courageous was torpedoed last Sept. 18, the first major British casualty of the war. Five hundred fifteen lives were lost. Four hundred thirty-eight persons were saved. The American freighter, Collingsworth, was only five miles away when the big warship went down. Capt. John L. Reynolds of the Collingsworth picked up 55 of the survivors. The Courageous was sunk in the North Atlantic. She went down within half an hour, leaving many of her crew struggling in the water because many of the life boats could not be launched.

BRITISH PREMIER MAKES GESTURE TO U. S. ON TRADE

Says His Ambition Is to Restore It.

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP).—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told Americans tonight that their war-withered trade with England will prosper if they wait until "the time comes to turn once more from war to peace." He also gave Fuehrer Hitler gibe for gibe, defiance for defiance, and announced the destruction yesterday of a German submarine, which earlier had sunk a convoyed tanker.

"We are prepared for air raids if they should come," was the premier's answer to the man who last night jeered at "old Mr. Chamberlain and his Bible" and threatened England and France with a taste of "the fight they asked for."

He reviewed the "prodigious results" of the British war effort—more than 1,250,000 men under arms, airplane construction stepped up to a point seven times greater than 1935-'36, orders for supplies totaling nearly £200,000,000 [$800,000,000], doubled and in some cases quadrupled gun production and shell output more rapid than that of 1914.

No Threat to Neutrals.

Yet no neutral, he said, "feels itself threatened by this enormous accumulation of power."

Chamberlain, speaking before the national defense committee, in a London hotel, did his best to placate Europe's disturbed little neutrals, some of whom have expressed resentment at a broadcast suggestion by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, that their only hope lies in "united action" with Britain and France.

"We have never sunk a neutral ship. We have never wittingly sacrificed one single neutral life," Chamberlain said.

To Japan, he voiced his distress that the oriental power should be angry at British war methods. The Japanese were aroused over the seizure by a British warship of 21 Germans from the Japanese steamer Asama Maru on Jan. 20. Japan has formally protested to Britain over the incident and the subject now is under diplomatic discussion in Tokio.

Largest Customer.

Discussing trade relations with America, Chamberlain said: "We have in the past been the largest customer of the United States for their agricultural produce. As soon as the war began we were compelled to curtail our import of things which were not essential to us that we might concentrate our dollar resources upon purchase from the United States of those enormous masses of munitions and equipment which it is necessary for us to have in order to carry on the struggle.

"But let nobody suppose that we want to use the measures that we have taken for any purpose other than prosecution of the war, nor that we are indifferent to losses which neutrals may thereby sustain."

Restoration of Trade.

Then, praising the British-American trade agreement of more than a year ago and its "most-favored-nation" principle, Chamberlain went on:

"One of our foremost aims in the future will be the restoration of international trade, which seems to us to present the best opportunities for restoring in turn the standard of living and consuming power of nations. That is the policy we have in mind when the time comes to turn once more from war to peace."

The prime minister continued, "It is becoming clearer every day from the actions of the Germans themselves that we are fighting not only for ourselves but for every country that feels itself oppressed by the fear that some day they may find themselves in the position successively occupied by Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, and now by Finland."

Chamberlain began his speech with a gibe at the secret preparations for Fuehrer Hitler's broadcast from Berlin last night, expressing pleasure at attending a meeting "neither the time nor the place of which you have found it necessary to conceal from the public."

Arrangements for Hitler's speech in the Sports palace on the seventh anniversary of his chancellorship were kept secret until just before it began.

Later, in the house of commons, Chamberlain formally announced that the admiralty, effective tomorrow, would take over all merchant shipbuilding and repairs, as well as naval building.

He also said that Britain will purchase all the empire's wool until one year after the war ends.

Chamberlain, in disclosing destruction of the German U-boat which attacked the convoy and sank a tanker, declared that it was the first occasion in a long time that a submarine had dared an assault against a British and French line of ships. He said the British had rescued most of the submarine's crew.

Crew Is Rescued.

The ship sunk was the 5,063 ton British steamer Vaclite. The Vaclite's crew was rescued by an Italian ship. The U-boat was sunk by a bomb from a flying boat after it had been crippled by depth charges from the convoy's warship escorts.

The bombing of the 4,634 ton British steamer Royal Crown in the North sea yesterday, with the loss of 12 crewmen, was disclosed late tonight when a lifeboat landed on the British coast with 15 survivors.

The Netherlands motor ship Rian landed at Flushing, Holland, with 18 survivors from the 1,178 ton British steamer Highwave which was bombed Monday off the British coast. Two of the men were wounded.

Survivors said a German plane dropped 20 bombs before sinking the ship with a direct hit. Crewmen of the Rian witnessed the attack. They said the explosions of the bombs lifted the Rian four feet in the water.

JAPAN DISCLAIMS ANY HOPE TO BAR U.S. FROM CHINA

Diet Told of Hope to Win New Trade Treaty.

TOKIO, Feb. 1, Thursday (AP).—Altho disclaiming any intention on the part of Japan to eliminate legitimate rights and interests of the United States and other third powers in China, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita today said that "it is inevitable that trade and other economic activities of the third powers should be affected at times by military operations."

Hachiro Arita.

Arita, making the foreign minister's annual address on foreign policy at the reopening of the diet [parliament], made this assertion in discussing the situation arising from the ending by the United States of the 1911 Japanese-American trade treaty, which expired last Friday.

Referring to this treaty as a pledge of friendship between Japan and America, Arita said the reason for its denunciation is believed to be that the move would serve to solve various questions that have arisen between Japan and America in connection with the Japanese-Chinese war.

Disclaims Plan for Monopoly.

Stressing that Japan's policy is to invite the active participation of other powers in construction of a new order in East Asia, Arita said vast military operations must affect third power activities and added:

"Our government has resorted to all possible means to protect the rights and interests of the third powers while our military forces have frequently endured even strategic disadvantages on that account.

"I firmly believe that with the establishment and development of the new order America will come to learn the absence of a desire on our part for either exclusion or monopoly in both economic and commercial fields."

Arita said relations with Germany and Italy have grown increasingly cordial ever since the conclusion of the anticomintern agreement and that Japan's policy of defense against the comintern [the communist international] remains unaltered. Relations with Russia are better, he said.

Europe's War a Big Factor.

As for the European war, Arita said drastic changes that will be brought about in Europe probably will have a tremendous effect on the China affair and the stabilization of East Asia.

"International peace fails to be maintained for various reasons," Arita continued, "but after all, is this not largely due to the fact that some nations insist upon trying to maintain an irrational and unjust international status quo relative to race, religion, territory, resources, trade, immigration, and other matters by adopting exclusionist policies or by abusing their superior positions?

"Real world peace based on justice cannot therefore be expected to prevail unless and until these causes are thoroly examined and the root of evil eliminated, after which all countries would be enabled to find each its proper place in the family of nations."

Push for New Treaty.

Arita devoted more time to discussion of Japan's relations with the United States than those with any other country. He cited Japan's failure in attempts to negotiate a new treaty, but said that Japanese-American trade relations have in practice undergone no change with expiration of the treaty.

"The treatyless situation, which deprives trade of stability and makes relations in general difficult, is not desirable for either Japan or America," he said. "We propose to exert further efforts in the confident hope that Japanese-American relations will be restored to a normal status—that is to say, to a treaty basis."

Tells of British Incident.

Arita spoke thus of Japan's relations with Great Britain:

"It is most unfortunate that on Jan. 20 a British man-of-war searched the Japanese ship Asama Maru and seized 21 of the German passengers on board. In view of the unprecedented fact that this incident occurred in our home waters, it is deeply regretted by our government as well as by the entire nation. Negotiations are now in progress with British authorities and we are doing our utmost to arrive at a satisfactory settlement."

Arita had a conference today with the British ambassador, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, on the Asama Maru incident, following a meeting yesterday in which he informed him that return of the 21 Germans to Japanese custody was "essential."

Japan's giant industrial machine was slowed virtually to a snail's pace today by new restrictions on electric power consumption.

AUSTRIAN PRINCE MADE AN OFFICER IN FRENCH ARMY

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP).—A decree published today in the official gazette disclosed that Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, one time vice chancellor of Austria and leader of the Austrian heimwehr [home guard] had been commissioned an infantry lieutenant in the French army. The government accepted the prince's offer to serve against Germany for the duration of the war.

The prince, who headed an Austrian Fascist heimwehr before Germany's absorption of Austria, asked the French government on Sept. 15 for permission to organize a special Austrian brigade to fight Germany.

The German government subsequently deprived him of his German citizenship and confiscated his property, which included numerous castles and other estates in Austria. Von Starhemberg supported the heimwehr largely from his own funds and it became virtually his personal army.

JAP-RED BORDER PARLEYS SETTLE NOT ONE ISSUE

MOSCOW, Feb. 1 [Thursday] (AP).—A communique issued by the joint soviet Mongolian and Japanese-Manchukuan boundary commission today said its efforts to find a line of demarcation had been abandoned because of a total disagreement.

The communique, distributed by Tass, soviet official news agency, said the commissioners met 16 times in December and January but at the final meeting on Tuesday were as far apart as ever.

The commission was appointed following the armistice of Sept. 15, which ended sporadic warfare on the disputed boundary between Japanese-dominated Manchukuo and sovietized Outer Mongolia.

CLOSE MORE GERMAN SCHOOLS TO SAVE COAL FOR WAR INDUSTRIES

BERLIN, Jan. 31 (AP).—Schools thruout the state of Wuerttemberg were closed today to conserve coal for industries essential to the war. The school fuel situation varied in other parts of Germany. A general order by the national defense council provides that all schools must yield their coal on demand. Some schools in Berlin are closed, some are operating part time, and others full time. Most schools in the Rhineland are open.

Dutch Miners Given Leaves.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Jan. 31.—In order to allow mining companies to increase the output of national coal mines, army officials today decided to grant leave to one-fifth of the total number of miners mobilized. The mobilization of 4,000 miners from the province of Linburg brought coal production in that province down to 600,000 tons in the last three months, or almost 12 per cent lower than normal production.

NAZIS TO ENLIST SCIENCE IN DRIVE FOR MORE BABIES

BERLIN, Jan. 31 (AP).—Artificial insemination to insure sons for the fatherland is urged on childless couples by the Schwarze Korps, official publication of Heinrich Himmler's Schutzstaffel, élite guard of Nazidom.

"In cases where incurable inability to beget progeny on the part of the husband has as a counterpart the perfect health of the wife," the publication said, "the possibility of artificial fructification may offer a saving way out to prevent divorce. The problem, then, is that of finding a helper toward procreation—somebody who must be of high caliber as regards both health and character and who will place his hereditary substance at disposal. Artificial transplantation will be done by a physician."

2 MORE MONTHS GRANTED CITY TO DRAFT FRANCHISE

PWA Warns Against Further Delay.

On the eve of the latest deadline, Feb. 1, the city yesterday was given another two months in which to draft a unified traction ordinance. Further delay would endanger the $18,000,000 PWA grant for the Chicago subway, the city was warned by John M. Carmody, federal works administrator. The original deadline for adoption of a new ordinance was July 1, 1939.

John M. Carmody.

"It is obvious that these extensions cannot go on indefinitely," Carmody wrote to Mayor Kelly. "Failure on the part of the city to meet the requirements would necessarily jeopardize the city's allotment."

Must Vote by June 1.

Carmody stated that it was only because of the assurances of Mayor Kelly that progress toward the solution of the traction problem had been definite that the deadline for completion of the ordinance had been advanced to April 1. By June 1, he said, the proposed ordinance must have been approved by the public in a referendum.

Carmody was in Chicago yesterday to attend the American Road Builders' association convention. He declined to comment on traction affairs. The city already has received and spent $4,500,000 in federal funds.

Supporting the mayor's claim of progress, the negotiators filed with Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe a report which won his approval for the payment of biannual interest of $1,817,958 to first mortgage bond holders of the Chicago Surface Lines. The interest is due today. On last Dec. 18 Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, now on vacation, said payments would be held up pending "substantial progress."

Judge Told of Progress.

Judge Igoe was informed that the required "substantial progress" had been made looking toward a final agreement on essentials of the proposed ordinance.

Philip H. Treacy, special traction counsel for the federal works agency, said joint meetings of an aldermanic committee and the negotiators will be resumed next week. Details are being worked out by engineering and legal staffs.

12 COLOMBIAN ARMY PILOTS TO GO TO PANAMA

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 31 (AP).—Authorized sources today disclosed that 12 Colombian military pilots would leave for the Panama Canal Zone next week, ostensibly for training.

Other reports were that they would coöperate with American army flyers in patroling the Colombian coast under the Pan-American neutrality agreement.

MANY AMERICAN ADMIRALS NEVER SERVE ON SHIPS

Only 30 of 77 Are on Ocean Duty.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Admirals in Uncle Sam's navy and generals in the marine corps hardly ever go to sea, and generals in the army see more of swivel chairs than they do of troops.

There are 77 admirals in the navy. Of these 66 are rear admirals of the line and 11 are engineers, paymasters and the like who never can rise to the command of the fleet. Of the 77 only about 30 are listed as at sea and most of these see more of the shore than they do of the waves.

There are at present about 125,000 officers and men in the navy, which gives a proportion of one admiral to about 1,620 men. The navy is seeking to build up to 145,000 officers and men, which would make the proportion one admiral to about 1,880 sailors. By that time, however, the navy may have several more admirals.

Has Four Major Generals.

The marine corps is 1,400 short of its authorized strength of 25,000. It has four major generals and eight brigadier generals. The total strength of the service approximates a world war infantry division and about two of the modern streamlined divisions.

The marine corps' proportion of generals is one to approximately 1,960 men. Because of the nature of the corps, its regiments are gathered into but few brigades, because marines are scattered thruout the naval establishment.

Of the 12 marine corps generals, only three command brigades—one commands the 1st brigade at Quantico, Va., another the 2d brigade at San Diego, Cal., and the 3d the marine fleet force, which consists of two reinforced brigades.

Army Has 67 Generals.

General rank goes to the corps commandant, commander of the training school at Parris Island, S. C., commander at Quantico, Va., director of the marine reserve of 14,000, head of the equipment board, head of the marine schools, chief of staff of the department of the Pacific, head of the examination board, and head of the equipment board.

The army has 67 generals—21 major generals and 46 brigadier generals. Of the 21 major generals one holds the rank of general as chief of staff, and four the rank of lieutenant general as commanders of the four army areas.

Approximately one-half of the generals—34—are on duty in Washington. The other half are at stations thruout the country. Those in Washington rarely see soldiers except at reviews, parades, and military weddings or funerals.

SEAWAY TREATY HOPE RETAINED BY ROOSEVELT

Senate Leaders Believe Chances Remote.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—President Roosevelt today indicated he is hopeful that his pet power and navigation project, the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway, will be passed at this session of congress.

Asked why he revived treaty negotiations with Canada for the development at this time, Mr. Roosevelt said that he was reviving it rather late; that he should have revived it two or three years ago.

The President was then asked whether he did not believe revival of the controversial project would interfere with his desire for a short session of congress. He answered that treaty revival should by no means be taken as an indication of a long and bitter session.

Chances Reported Slim.

Up on Capitol Hill administration leaders were not as sanguine as the President. They acknowledged that the chances of passage of a treaty at this session are slim, even should one be signed by the Canadian and American governments.

It was recalled that the treaty was defeated in 1934 by a substantial vote. In its drive for a two-thirds vote necessary for treaty ratification the administration got 46 votes. The opposition polled almost as much with 42 votes.

Of the 42 senators who voted against the measure 21 still are in the senate.

Canadian Reports Puzzling.

In the meanwhile the capital was puzzled by conflicting reports from Ottawa on the prospects of treaty signing. It was variously reported that the Canadians would sign the pact in 48 hours and that the signing would be put off until after the Canadian general election called for late March to consider a vote of confidence in the government.

Indications that the treaty making would have to await the election was given last week when the Canadian delegation was called home during the midst of negotiations and the general election was called the day the delegation arrived at Ottawa.

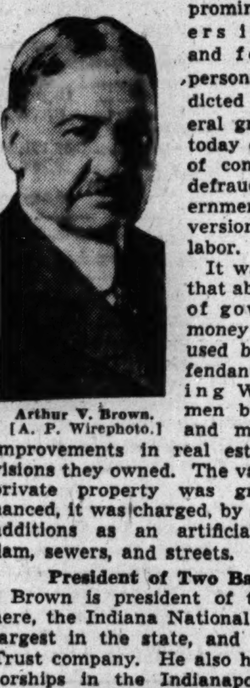
HEAD OF INDIANA BANK IS INDICTED IN WPA SCANDAL

Four Others Also Charged with Misusing Labor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 31 [Special].—Arthur V. Brown, one of the most prominent bankers in Indiana, and four other persons were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government thru diversion of WPA labor.



Arthur V. Brown. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

It was charged that about $80,000 of government money was misused by the defendants in having WPA workmen build roads and make other improvements in real estate subdivisions they owned. The value of the private property was greatly enhanced, it was charged, by such WPA additions as an artificial lake, a dam, sewers, and streets.

President of Two Banks.

Brown is president of two banks here, the Indiana National bank, the largest in the state, and the Union Trust company. He also holds directorships in the Indianapolis Power and Light company, Kingan & Co., meat packers, and numerous other businesses.

He is a member of the board of directors of Butler university, the Meridian Street Methodist church, the Methodist and James Whitcomb Riley hospitals, the Flower mission, and the Christamore settlement. A year ago Brown, who is a Republican, was honored by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce for outstanding civic contributions. He is a 33d degree Mason and holds memberships in numerous other clubs and lodges.

Clubwoman Is Indicted.

The four indicted with him are:

Miss Elizabeth C. Claypool, Indianapolis clubwoman and member of a widely known family. Her father was the late Judge Solomon Claypool. She is a wealthy real estate operator.

Arthur F. Eickhoff, president of the Eickhoff Realty company and a teller at the Indiana National bank. He is a brother-in-law of Representative John W. Boehne Jr. [D., Ind.].

Charles E. Jefferson, former member of the county flood control board.

Karl F. Kortepeter, former Marion county [Indianapolis] WPA director. He resigned that post last Feb. 17 after being told he established too close a relationship with sponsors of projects. The alleged misapplication of government funds took place while he was coördinator of WPA activities in the county.

Now Under $5,000 Bond.

Kortepeter is now at liberty under $5,000 bond pending an appeal from his conviction in federal court here last December in connection with a similar conspiracy alleged by the government. He was sentenced to serve 18 months and his father-in-law, G. G. Derbyshire, was sentenced to serve a year and a day for diverting WPA labor and money to build roads thru a tract of land owned by Derbyshire near Southport.

Federal District Attorney Val Nolan, whose drive to clean up alleged WPA "dirt" in Indiana already has been marked by the conviction of eight persons, including a former mayor of Kokomo, explained the diversions alleged in today's indictments.

He said the government unwittingly paid $27,000 for the construction of Crows Nest drive, a road 4,000 feet long, thru a subdivision immediately north of the city. The subdivision is owned by Miss Claypool and the Union Investment company, of which Brown is president.

WPA Men Build a Dam.

Brown also held title, Nolan said, to a 32 acre tract south of the city where WPA labor costing $10,000 was used to build sidewalks, curbs, gutters, and driveways adjacent to otherwise unimproved lots.

The federal prosecutor named the three other men, Eickhoff, Jefferson, and Kortepeter, as having improved, with WPA labor, a subdivision southeast of the city. There, he said, WPA workmen opened and improved a mile and a half of streets and constructed bridges, a dam, and a lake. The property, he said, was owned by the Eickhoff Realty company.

The defendants face a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a fine of $5,000. Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell set their bonds at $5,000 each. No date for their arraignment has been announced.

Trio Disrupted

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—The Andrews trio has been cut down to a solo—at least for the time being—because of lack of harmony in their home.

A representative of the radio singing sisters, Maxene, Patty, and La Verne, said today that their father objected to romances between Maxene and Lou Levy, the trio's manager, and between Patty and Vic Schoen, their arranger. Maxene and Patty, being over 21, decided to leave home. La Verne decided to stay.

Somebody, said the trio's representative, told the police that the trio's father, Peter Andrews, had a gun in his apartment and as a result Andrews was arrested charged with possessing a pistol without a permit. He was released in $500 bail for hearing today.

SCHOOLBOY HELD IN RAPE DEATH OF A YOUNG MOTHER

Tells of Previous Attempt in Jail Confession.

South Haven, Mich., Jan. 31 [Special].—A South Haven High school boy, 15 years old, was held in the county jail tonight in an investigation of the rape and death of Mrs. Faye Edwards, 20 years old, a housewife, mother of two young children.

Police said the youth admitted attacking the young woman Monday night and attempting to rape another South Haven housewife. Mrs. Edwards was taken to a hospital, where she was treated for shock and hysteria. Later she was removed to her home, where she died about noon today.

The name of her confessed assailant was withheld from the public on the order of Probate Judge Merle H. Young of Paw Paw, who presides over the Juvenile court of Van Buren county. The judge contended this action was within his right because the Juvenile court has jurisdiction over the boy.

Prosecutor Plans Action.

County Prosecutor Sheldon Rupert said he will appear before Judge Young tomorrow morning and demand that the boy be turned over to the Circuit court for trial, at which time his name will be disclosed. Under Michigan law the judge must accede to this petition in cases where boys under 17 years of age are accused of a felony punishable by a sentence of 5 or more years.

Police said the boy admitted he attempted to rape a young married woman early Monday evening, about an hour before he attacked Mrs. Edwards. However, as he tried to pull her into a ravine, his foot slipped and his intended victim struggled out of his grasp.

The housewife, whose name was withheld, screamed for help and the boy fled upon the approach of neighbors.

Seized Near Her Home.

While officers were hunting him for this attack, the boy lay in wait for another victim a few blocks away. As Mrs. Edwards passed him, walking along a street three blocks from her home, the boy, wearing dark glasses, stepped up behind her, put his hand over her mouth and pressed into her back something she thought was a revolver, she later told police.

Threatening repeatedly to kill her if she made an outcry or refused to follow his orders, the boy forced the young woman to accompany him into the back yard of a home closed for the winter.

Mrs. Edwards staggered to the home of a friend and then was taken to a hospital. The search for the rapist was widened and eventually led to the boy after his companions had told of him wearing dark glasses and carrying a knotted handkerchief, as Mrs. Edwards' attacker was reported to have done.

Fined $100 for Violating State Medical Practice Act

C. J. DuBois, 40 years old, 3521 West 63d place, was fined $100 on charges of violating the state medical practice act by Judge James G. Gullett, of Elizabethtown, in Hardin county, sitting in County court here. Assistant State's Attorney Roman Stachnik said DuBois assumed the title of doctor and substituted for a south side physician when the latter became ill. DuBois said he had attended medical school for four years, but has no license.

presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

A PALM FOR THE HAND

By CALEB

INTERESTING deductions come to anyone who makes more than a superficial study of today's so-called "industrialized" society—with particular reference to some of its unexpected phenomena. It was freely predicted that radio would eliminate the phonograph and piano; that talking pictures would eliminate the stage; just as alarmists comment that the new device called "fac-simile" will some day supplant the newspaper.

Yet already noticeable is one of the "phenomena" mentioned above, which, in this connection, is well worth considering carefully. Namely—that every vogue of the "better" heightens, deepens and widens the appreciation-areas available to the "good"—so that the actual overflow provides the latter with a larger public!

In our offhand assumptions, for example, that the "Machine Age" has belittled or abolished handcraft, many of us have been entertaining entirely false ideas about both. Both flourish — handcraft today more than ever—and for that there is a most illuminating "why." Machines require mass markets—solely to justify their quantity production. Contrariwise, the hand requires class, or special markets . . . buyers it need not serve in quantity comparable with the machine. It can, none the less, do individual and exclusive things which the machine, with its volume objectives, cannot do—and it does them.

The hand, therefore, still more than holds its own in such specialized fields as weaving, pottery, jewelry, silver, glass, china, linencraft, and woodcarving—in ways that do not compete with, but complement, the machine. Carrying quality into the wares that most need it, expert handwork develops that quality to heights of expression which mechanics cannot reach.

Our Store for Men, for example, illustrates just such manual artistry, in its lines of McCrossen hand-woven neckties from Old Santa Fe, in New Mexico . . . done in "limited edition" patterns inspired by the scenes, colors, and customs of the Southwest. There is no reflection on the machine, but rather an enhancement of it, in the fact that where mass production's limitations prevent, the creative hand can thus cater to, and satisfy, individual buyers . . . command thousands of "class" markets that would otherwise languish unserved.

Understanding, in brief, of the machines's own shortcomings has focused more and more attention on the beauty, originality and flexibility of handcraft . . . to the ultimate gain of both. That is why, beyond the inherent limits of the machine, we prize and heartily approve the ever-growing popularity of the hand.

HOW TO TELL if you are CONSTIPATED And What To Do!

How often should your bowels move? That varies in different people. But Insurance Companies who want to protect your health—who want to keep you from constipation with its headaches, indigestion, bad breath, mental and physical fatigue say "1 to 3 times daily."

And here's sensational news about an IDEAL "daily" treatment for constipation. Tests at a World-Famous Hospital have proved that a little daily dose of Kruschen—(world-famous formula now in pleasant tasting, "bubbling" form)—actually helps Nature produce her own gentle "daily" complete bowel movements by keeping the waste in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel. Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase dosage."

Kruschen gives you more for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for weeks. Made in U.S.A.

76,000 COUNTY, STATE, CITY AIDS TO PAY U. S. TAX

55,000 Federal Workers Already on Rolls.

There are more than 131,000 pay rollers working for the federal, state, county, and city governments in Cook county. Their total annual income, paid from the treasuries of the various governments, is estimated at over 239 million dollars. These figures were obtained yesterday from a survey of pay roll records. They do not include suburban officials.

The totals mean that, excluding approximately 55,000 federal employés, more than 76,000 city, county, and state employés are studying federal income tax forms for the first time. They are now subject to the federal tax under the public salary tax act passed last year by congress. Formerly the federal income tax law gave immunity from state or city income taxes to federal employés and federal immunity to state, county, and city employés.

Will Pay On 142 Millions.

The total annual income of the 76,000 state, city, and county employés who are now subject to the federal income tax is estimated at $142,000,000. There is no way of computing the tax to be paid on that amount because of the various exemptions granted taxpayers and the fact that there are no statistics listing the numbers of persons at different salary levels.

Following is a table of the various government units in Cook county, the number of their employés and their annual pay rolls:

	No. of employés.	Annual pay roll.
Federal government [estimated]	55,000	$ 97,350,000
State [estimated]	6,000	7,200,000
City	27,480	50,000,000
Park district	5,191	8,025,824
Sanitary district	1,464	4,217,467
Library	990	1,263,000
Chicago Relief administration	2,500	3,437,080
County	6,500	11,554,460
Forest preserve	400	655,000
County schools	4,484	8,056,325
Chicago schools	21,000	47,315,473
Totals	131,000	$239,074,629

The most accurate figure that could be furnished by the federal government was that there are 49,965 civil service employés working in Cook county. Federal employés in Chicago estimated the total at 55,000. No government salary totals were available. The $97,350,000 annual federal pay roll estimate was obtained by multiplying the 55,000 estimate by $1,770, the latter being the average annual federal salary, according to statistics released from Washington.

Federal employés have paid federal income taxes since the tax law went into effect.

6,000 on State Pay Rolls.

According to the best figures available, approximately 6,000 state employés reside in Cook county. Figuring an average annual salary of $1,200, this would make their total income $7,200,000 per year.

The number of city employés includes salaried and "per diem" employés [day laborers]. The 50 million dollar city payroll estimate is based on the report of City Controller Robert B. Upham that salaries and wages of employés on the city corporate fund payroll totaled $45,930,045 last year. Comparable payroll figures for other funds, including the motor vehicle tax and water funds were not available.

The city figure includes $16,687,560 paid last year to 6,642 members of the police department and $7,482,227 paid to 2,875 fire department employés.

Park District Peak Given.

Park district officials have pointed out that the total of 5,191 employés listed in their department represented the peak pay roll load of August, the height of the park season. Last January there were only 3,569 park employés. The Chicago Relief administration employé total also varies. It is controled by the amount of funds available for relief purposes and the number of people on relief. In May of last year it reached a peak for the year of 2,802 employés.

Both county and forest preserve employé totals are subject to seasonal fluctuations. Of the 400 forest preserve employés, 170 work only three and one-half months of the year, it was stated.

Of the 21,000 city school employés, 16,000 are teachers. The total annual salary of the city teachers is approximately 40 million dollars.

COURT DECIDES COUPLE MUST GO BACK TO CANADA

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has refused to grant a rehearing of its decision which forbade the deportation of Stanislaw Boraca and his wife to their native Poland. The court held, however, that the Boracas must be deported to Canada, from which they entered the United States illegally 11 years ago.

On Jan. 3 the court reversed a decision of Judge Charles E. Woodward, which ordered them deported to Poland. Such action, the court remarked, would be "inhuman and shocking to the senses." United States Attorney William J. Campbell asked for a rehearing. Denying this plea in an opinion handed down Monday, the court held the law authorizes deportation to the "country whence they came," which in this case means Canada.

Fred J. Schlotfeldt, district director of immigration, said it now will be necessary to reopen the case and introduce evidence that Canada has refused to take the Boracas. Even if the courts ultimately order deportation to Poland, he said, nothing will be done immediately, because of the war conditions, to carry out the order.

FLORIDA GUARDS GOOD NAME WITH CITRUS EMBARGO

Lakeland, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP).—An unprecedented seven day embargo on Florida citrus, which suffered millions of dollars damage in the recent cold wave, was clamped down today by the state citrus commission.

Commission members said eastern and midwestern markets would have sufficient fruit on hand by tomorrow night, when the embargo becomes effective, to take care of consumer demand until the bar against sale and transportation of oranges, grapefruits, and tangerines is lifted Feb. 8. The commission ordered the embargo at the request of growers, shippers, and canners and representatives of all citrus organizations in Florida to safeguard the industry's good name by keeping frozen fruit off the markets.

The embargo will apply to all oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines except that sold to canneries.

17 MILLION GIVEN GOVERNMENT AID, REPORT REVEALS

Cost in October Placed at 268 Million Dollars.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Nearly 17 million persons in the continental United States were supported by the government last October in addition to 939,876 regular employés of the federal government, according to figures released today by the Social Security board.

Public assistance and work programs called for an outlay of more than 268 million dollars in federal, state, or local funds, or at an annual rate of 3 billion 200 million dollars.

The October expenditures were 4 per cent above the 258 million spent on doles in September. October was the first month since last March that an increase occurred.

Other Costs Excluded.

Aggregate payments exclude the costs of administering all programs and of the materials, equipment, and supplies used in operating projects. Nor do they include unemployment compensation or old age insurance, which are financed by pay roll taxes.

The board estimated that October payments for assistance and earnings went to 5,975,000 households, or 16,900,000 persons. The estimated numbers of households and individuals were 3.8 and 2.5 per cent, respectively, higher than in September when 5,758,000 households and 16,487,000 persons were dependent upon the government.

Checks Going Out Today.

Other developments in the social security field today were:

1. The board announced that approximately 3,700 checks will be mailed tomorrow to the first recipients of federal old age and survivors insurance under the social security program. This will mark the first month of payments for life under the revised law. During this month 23,029 claims were filed and 14,000 approved, altho adjustments must be made in many cases for lump sum payments already made.

2. President Roosevelt asked congress for $295,000 additional funds during 1940 to allow the federal security administration to match state funds under the Social Security act, for vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry. Congress previously voted 3½ million dollars for this purpose.

Work Despite Weather.

3. WPA Commissioner F. C. Harrington announced that every effort will be made to keep WPA projects operating during unusually inclement weather to prevent loss of time and wages. He said that the weather will not be permitted to interfere with plans for increasing the rolls above the present level of more than 2,000,000 persons to meet winter need.

The total outlay of $268,412,000 for public asistance and work programs in October was distributed as follows:

Old age assistance, aid to children and aid to blind	$ 47,884,000
General relief [entirely state and local]	38,677,000
Farm security administration subsistence payments	876,000
Civilian conservation corps	19,308,000
National youth administration	6,772,000
Work projects administration:
Projects operated by WPA	98,178,000
Operated by other agencies	3,752,000
Other federal works and construction	52,965,000
Total	$268,412,000

October outlays for the last seven years follow:

1939	268,412,000
1938	320,296,000
1937	217,750,000
1936	284,111,000
1935	216,465,000
1934	193,001,000
1933	99,189,000

A breakdown on relief by states in October showed that in Illinois there were 169,319 cases receiving $3,643,848 in general relief, or an average of $21.52 per case. Illinois also had 136,793 recipients of old age assistance, who received a total of $2,700,847, an average of $19.74. Figures for September showed that all public assistance and work relief amounted to $17,769,000 for Illinois, with the total for Cook county amounting to $7,291,725.

HOUSE IN UPROAR OVER 'PLOT' AIMED TO DISCREDIT DIES

Rep. Hook Defends Letters Branded as Forgeries.

Harold Weisberg.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—A sharp dispute was aroused in the house today over the authenticity of letters quoting William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Fascist anti-Semitic Silver Legion, as saying he had a "gentlemen's agreement" that he would not be hailed before the Dies committee.

Accused on the house floor of leading a conspiracy to defame the character of Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.], Gardner Jackson, legislative representative of labor's nonpartisan league, was called before a secret session of the committee to disclose his connection with the letters, which have been branded as forgeries.

$105 Paid for Letters.

Both Jackson and Harold Weisberg, former employé of the La Follette Civil Liberties committee, who is assisting him in the preparation of a book on the Dies hearings, acknowledged that $105 was paid to David Mayne of Washington for turning over the letters.

Last night the Dies committee headquarters issued a statement saying that Mayne had testified he forged the letters. Today Representative Frank E. Hook [D., Mich.], who introduced the letters into the Congressional Record last week, replied in a written declaration:

"I have the affidavit of David Mayne under oath that all the signatures are genuine Pelley signatures written by Pelley. This under oath in contradistinction to a statement not under oath dragged out of him by the Dies committee in executive session."

Refuses to Back Down.

Later Hook told newspapermen that he would not withdraw his remarks unless forced by the house, and declared that Mayne was "in the employ of the Dies committee at the time all this stuff was going on," tho paid by a committee member.

Also hinting at some such "complicity," Jackson and Weisberg added that they told the committee that they had no reason yet to doubt the validity of the Pelley letters. Both emphasized that Dies committee members had not denied allegations of collusion between Dies and Pelley.

While asserting that he had not headed a movement to defame Dies personally, Jackson said he told the committee he had "wished to see a movement which would discredit Dies' work in the committee." That view of his, he added, is widely known.

Guests at Supper Party.

He surmised that stories of "conspiracy" to defame the committee chairman might have arisen from reports of a supper party of congressmen at his home, where continuance of the Dies committee was discussed. Among those present, Jackson declared, was one Dies committee member, Rep. Joseph E. Casey [D., Mass.].

Some congressmen told him there, Jackson said, that they opposed the committee, but that they would court political suicide by voting against it.

Debate over the Pelley letters started in the house when Rep. E. E. Cox [D., Ga.], asked Hook to expunge from the record his recent attack on Dies, without waiting for action on a resolution for that purpose pending in the rules committee.

Calls It Tissue of Lies.

Rep. Frank B. Keefe [R., Wis.] followed with a sharp statement that Hook's speech was part of a "conspiracy to defame the character of Martin Dies." Rep. John C. Schafer [R., Wis.] interposed to inquire if "the big shot in this conspiracy is Gardner Jackson?"

Keefe contended that assertions in the committee's statement verified his opinion that the "evidence" Hook inserted in the Congressional Record was "a complete forgery from beginning to end and a tissue of absolute falsehoods."

"I hate to think that the gentleman from Michigan was guilty of writing the material in that speech," Keefe said. "I had good information that except for the window dressing it was written by a gentleman who was part of a conspiracy and the purpose of that conspiracy was to defame the character of Martin Dies, chairman of the Dies committee."

Surprised at Conspiracy.

Keefe said that the "conspirators" offered the same speech to Representative John M. Coffee [D., Wash.], but Coffee declined to use it in any way.

"I am surprised that the gentleman from Michigan, who has denounced communism and who has in his soul the very germ of Americanism, would be led by a group of conspirators to defame a brother colleague on the floor of the house," Keefe said.

"I had information then that the evidence was a complete forgery from beginning to end and a tissue of absolute falsehoods."

Keefe declared the integrity of the house was at stake because the statements Hook placed in the Record had been published all over the country.

Captured on a City Street

A porcupine captured yesterday by police of the Summerdale station as it was roaming around the 1600 block on Berwyn avenue. The police will give it to the Lincoln park zoo.

Given to Zoo

Good riddance, sighed Summerdale police yesterday as they sped their prickly and dour guest, Murphy, off to the Lincoln park zoo. Murphy was picked up Tuesday night by Policemen Frank Bellack and Steve Luczak, who found him lurking in the back yard at 1631 Berwyn avenue. Neither threats nor coaxing would budge him, so they tried out a new method of capture. They plopped him into a garbage can. No one could learn where he came from and, being a porcupine, Murphy wasn't telling.

21,930 ON HOSPITAL CARE ROSTER GET $868,195 BENEFITS

The Plan for Hospital Care, in a quarterly report to 77 member hospitals yesterday, announced it had paid a total of $868,195 in hospital bills since 1937. The bills were paid in behalf of 21,930 members who received a total of 145,604 days of hospital care.

The report indicated the average benefit for each case up to Dec. 31 was $39.59, with the average length of hospitalization 6.64 days.

Most of the benefits were paid in behalf of members who went to plan hospitals. However, $54,543 was paid out for 1,710 members who were cared for in out of town hospitals.

DR. DUBIN FACES DENTAL BOARD IN SECOND TRIAL

A special dental committee of the state department of registration and education opened hearings yesterday on charges of violation of the state dental practice act against Dr. Adolph A. Dubin, operator of seven dental offices. Similar charges against nine other dentists associated with Dr. Dubin will be heard later.

The hearing concerning Dr. Dubin is the second on the same charge in the last two years. In January, 1938, the department recommended revocation of his license, charging unprofessional conduct. The decision, according to Philip E. Ringer, department attorney, was based on a ruling of the Illinois Supreme court which upheld a $500 fine on Dr. Dubin for violating the dental practice act. Judge Harry Fisher in the Circuit court, however, set aside the department recommendation on a technicality.

The present action accuses Dr. Dubin of practicing dentistry under the name of the Madison Dental laboratory, with offices in Chicago, Evanston, and Oak Park. He is also charged with improper and unprofessional conduct because of advertisments, loud speakers, solicitors, and ballyhoo methods in attracting prospective patients.

Another Roosevelt Gets Into Birthday Spotlight

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP). — An eight pound son was born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt Jr. while the nation was dancing at the birthday celebrations for President Roosevelt, a distant cousin. MADDEN FIGHTS CHARGES OF BIAS HURLED AT NLRB Denies C. I. O. Favoritism at A. F. of L. Expense.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—J. Warren Madden, chairman of the National Labor Relations board, appeared before a congressional committee today in defense of the board's administration of the Wagner labor act. He was flanked by an imposing array of press agents, propagandists, and photostatic experts.

For more than two months the committee headed by Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] has listened to evidence that the labor board is prejudiced in favor of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, dominated by John L. Lewis, and has shown bias against the American Federation of Labor, of which William Green is president.

Chairman Madden branded this evidence as untrue. Under the direction of Charles Fahy, attorney for the board, Madden identified a series of tables and graphs intended to show that the A. F. of L. had been favored over the C. I. O. in labor disputes.

Own Bureau Prepares Data.

When the committee displayed interest concerning the source of these statistics, Madden admitted they had been prepared by a research bureau in his organization. He accepted responsibility for their verity.

The evidence presented by Chairman Madden was so much at variance with previous testimony that one member of the investigating committee commented:

"It seems to be evident now that the labor board needs a shakeup. The evidence up to now indicated that the personnel was biased in favor of the C. I. O. Mr. Madden's testimony indicates that the A. F. of L. has been too much in favor."

The publicity experts accompanying the chairman of the labor board carried about 200 pounds of printed propaganda, which was distributed to the press table. Under questioning, Madden said he had not previously seen this printed matter.

Takes Full Responsibility.

"I'm willing to take the responsibility for it," he declared. "It refutes beyond question the charge that there has been discrimination in favor of the C. I. O."

Madden blamed the dispute between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. for most of the labor board's troubles.

"The split in the labor movement," he told the committee, "created great difficulties in the administration of the Wagner act. The split caused an enormous jealousy between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. and presented the board with a lot of problems which it never had expected to be called upon to decide. It put the board in the ungracious position of being an umpire in a civil war within the labor movement."

Wins $1,000 Award

Mrs. Sophie Belzer Engstrand, winner of $1,000 original novel award for teachers.

Mrs. Sophia Belzer Engstrand, 4922½ Quincy street, has won the $1,000 Dial Press award for teachers, it was announced yesterday. This prize is awarded for the best original novel with a scholastic background. Mrs. Engstrand's manuscript was chosen from more than 400 others, submitted from every state in the union.

Her novel, "Miss Munday," to be published on April 25, tells the story of a teacher who had to choose between the profession she loved and marrying a man of whom the local school board disapproved.

Mrs. Engstrand is the wife of Stuart David Engstrand, a well known novelist. She attended Morton High school in Cicero, the University of Chicago, and Columbia university, and taught school in New York, Wisconsin, and Arizona. She retired in 1937 to devote her time to writing.

WINS DAMAGE FOR FALL.

Miss Dorothy Brunet, 6314 Eggleston avenue, was awarded $5,000 damages yesterday against the S. S. Kresge Department Store, Inc., of Delaware, by a jury in federal court for injuries suffered when she fell on a stairway in a Kresge store at 6308 South Halsted street.

WARN AUTO UNION AGENT AGAINST STRIKE VIOLENCE

Courtney Takes Hand in New Garage Trouble.

Don Burrows, business agent for the Auto Mechanics' union, local 701, which is picketing the Lavery Motor Sales agency at 6127 Cottage Grove avenue, was summoned to State's Attorney Courtney's office yesterday and warned against terrorism.

The warning was delivered by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorney's police. It was ordered by Courtney after a shot had been fired thru a window of the agency's used car salesroom at 6529 Cottage Grove avenue Tuesday two hours after a strike had been called and pickets placed around the agency.

Denies Knowledge of Shooting.

Gilbert said that Burrows denied knowledge of the shooting and suggested it might have resulted from trouble he said the agency is having over used car auctions. Gilbert said Burrows told him the agency has an auction branch on South Michigan avenue at which there have been several window smashings. Gilbert said he investigated, however, and found there had been no such attacks.

Work proceeded as usual yesterday at the garage despite the strike. Burrows, who is conducting a membership campaign, said he has enrolled three of the garage's eleven workers eligible for membership and that he called the strike after negotiations for a union contract failed.

A. J. Lavery, head of the agency, said he is willing to coöperate with union labor, but that he refused Burrows' demand for a closed shop because he is unwilling to force his men to join a union if they did not wish to do so.

Workers Say They're Satisfied.

The men, interviewed at work, said they had refused to join the union because Lavery gives them better working conditions than the union can. He gives them year-around employment, they explained, pays half the premium on health and life insurance, and permits speedy and efficient workers to increase their earnings.

Some of their comments:

CHARLES HECK—I have worked for Lavery off and on since 1926. The union doesn't give anything in return for its $25 initiation fee and $3 a month dues.

JOHN ZIMMERS—I average $35 a week. Last week I made $65. I get 40 cents of each dollar my work brings in. The union promises 90 cents an hour, but a lot of the union men don't get it.

RUDOLPH B. COX—I average $35 to $40 a week, and this is no sweatshop. We get spring water to drink and individual clean towels. You don't find things like that in many garages.

IRVING TICE—I get $35 a week. It's the best job I ever had.

The workers said that most of them averaged $35 a week or more, on a percentage basis or an hourly scale.

Burrows said his is not a racketeer union, and that it has had a clean record. He claims 2,600 members of the 4,000 eligible for membership. Burrows said he was called in to reorganize the local eight years ago and that he has obtained better pay and fewer working hours for members.

Hvid Inquest Delayed.

Burrows told Capt. Patrick Collins and Sergt. John A. Noonan of the Woodlawn police that he gets $150 a week salary.

The coroner's inquest into the baseball bat assassination of Marinus Hvid, owner of a strike picketed garage at 3514 North Halsted street, was continued again yesterday until March 5. The continuance was asked to give police more time to search for the goons who killed him.

Hvid's garage was picketed by the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers and Helpers' union after he had been suspended by the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, an owners' association.

WITNESSES IDENTIFY THREE ON TRIAL FOR MASS GOON ASSAULT

The state rested yesterday after witnesses identified three men on trial before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Graber for violence during the strike last summer at the Revere Copper and Brass company, 2200 North Natchez avenue, as participants in an attack in which six persons were stabbed, beaten, and burned with acid.

The defendants, Steve Mizialko, Walter Zaker, and Michael Keglovitz, all members of the American Federation of Labor division of the United Automobile Workers of America, which struck at the plant, are accused of conspiracy to commit assault and malicious mischief. The state nol prossed the case against a fourth defendant, Tony Oswald, when he was not named in the testimony.

The three defendants are accused of having been members of the goon motorcade that attacked five men hired to remove material from the Revere plant during the strike. The sixth victim of the attack was Earl Sanders, who was in a grocery at 5823 North avenue, where the workers sought refuge from the goons. The defendants said they did not join in any conspiracy and that they took no part in the violence charged.

MINERS REFUSE 3D TERM BOOST FOR ROOSEVELT

Columbus, O., Jan. 31 (AP).—The United Mine Workers convention shouted praise for President Roosevelt today, but refused to indorse him for a third term.

Forty-seven resolutions urging a third term indorsement were referred to the unions' international executive board for appropriate action as circumstances may warrant.

The convention thus authorized President John L. Lewis and the board to select a presidential candidate—a "liberal" was specified—who they felt would best serve labor's interests. The action, supporting Lewis' recommendation that the convention itself make no presidential indorsement, came after 90 minutes of debate.

Offer Reward for Arrests in Holdup of Two Actresses

A $1,500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the five bandits who robbed Constance Bennett of jewelry valued at $28,095 Sunday morning in the loop has been offered by Taplis & Harding, 175 West Jackson street, insurance adjusters. Payment hinges on the recovery, undamaged, of all the jewelry stolen from Miss Bennett, as well as that stolen from her companion, Anita Louise, screen actress, who valued her losses at $5,000.

BLAME FOR HIRING 'INSANE' COP IS MINE, SAYS SMITH

Won't Disclose Sponsor of Trooper Howe.

F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, accepted full responsibility yesterday for hiring John Howe, state highway policeman, whose seizure in the 11th ward jury bribery case led to disclosures that he is a fugitive from a state hospital and an accused bandit. Smith, however, refused to dispel the mystery surrounding the identity of Howe's political sponsors.

F. Lynden Smith.

Acknowledgment that he put Howe on the force was made in a statement issued in Springfield. He admitted he retained Howe on the police force even tho the latter's record became known a few weeks after he was hired in 1936.

Tells of Hiring Cop.

"As personnel officer of the division of highways in 1936," Smith's statement said, "upon receipt thru the regular channels of an employment notice for John Howe, I referred the notice to Chief Walter Williams, with a notation to interview Howe. Williams interviewed Howe and prepared a letter for my signature appointing him, which I did."

"But who was the person who sponsored Howe's application for appointment," Smith was asked. "Who was the politician interested in Howe's case?"

"I won't say anything more than is contained in this statement," said Smith. "I think this thing's had enough publicity."

It was explained in Smith's typewritten memorandum that Howe's fingerprints were sent to Washington after he was accepted on the force. Some weeks later Chief Williams reported that the federal bureau of investigation had sent him the following data:

"Referring to your print regarding John Howe who is an applicant, you are advised that a search of fingerprint records of the FBI discloses the following information concerning this individual: 'Subject as John Howe, No. C-25735. Arrested by Chicago police department, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 16, 1930, charged with robbery, gun.'"

Howe Never on Trial.

An investigation was made, according to the statement, and Smith learned that Howe had never been tried or convicted of a crime and that preceding his appointment as a state highway policeman he had spent approximately five years in a position of trust. The statement said that the charges of robbery against Howe had been dropped by the state's attorney's office and this "certainly gave credence to the theory that there was no substance to the charges."

Last Jan. 18, however, when Smith was informed of Howe's arrest in Chicago on charges of jury tampering, he ordered the policeman suspended. Last week the 10 year old robbery indictments were reinstated. On Monday a jury in the Criminal court decided Howe is sane and he now is being held for trial on the charges. Three of his robbery victims have identified him.

Claims He's First to Drive Car from U. S. to Argentina

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP).—Ellis K. Short, 30 years old, returned by boat from South America today, claiming to have been the first motorist to drive from the United States to Argentina over the route proposed for the Pan-American highway. He said the 17,000 mile trip, which required 9 months and 27 days, took him thru virgin jungles and over 12,000 foot passes in the Andes. Short said his car was taken by boat from Puerta Limon, Costa Rica, to La Guira, and ferried over a small bay, but went on its own power the rest of the way.

COURTNEY APPEARS IN COURT TO ANSWER CHARGE IN 'FIX' QUIZ

State's Attorney Courtney appeared in Chief Justice John Prystalski's Criminal court yesterday to answer Attorney Joseph T. Harrington's demand that a special state's attorney be appointed to investigate Courtney's conduct in dealing with the foreman of the "fixed" jury which acquitted two 11th ward vote fraud defendants recently.

Harrington's petition charged that the jury foreman, Oliver Thoner, had been abused and threatened with the loss of his job, and it demanded appropriate court action against Courtney and his staff for their treatment of Thoner.

Courtney's answer denied Harrington's allegations, stated the court was without jurisdiction, that the petition failed to establish any matter of contempt or misconduct, and that the answer was being filed only as a courtesy to the court.

Judge Prystalski set the hearing for 10:30 a. m. today.

Infant Is Burned to Death in Crib; Blame Vapor Lamp

Robert Ludwig Jr., 9 months old, was burned to death yesterday in the attic flat at 6603 South Marshfield avenue. The baby's parents had left for work less than a half hour before, having arranged for a neighbor to visit the child at 9 a. m. An electric vapor lamp had been left burning to alleviate the child's cold.

MILK INSPECTION FEE TO COVER CITY COST URGED

A proposal that the city charge 2 cents or possibly 4 cents per 100 pounds for milk inspection now provided free in the Chicago milkshed was taken under consideration by the board of health yesterday after an hour's debate.

The recommendation was made by Paul F. Krueger, chief sanitary officer for the board. He said the board now inspects 17,000 farms, 100 receiving stations and 142 pasteurizing plants. The cost of the service for 1939, Krueger said, was $326,000, with no offsetting revenue. He estimated the city would get $325,000 a year at the rate of 2 cents a 100 pounds.

Board members said the cost would amount to only 1-24th of a cent per finished quart of milk and probably would be paid by the producer rather than the consumer. Harry Reynolds, a board member, indicated he favored the proposed charge. He said Chicago is paying for the inspection service but that suburbs which do not have inspection services are sharing in the benefits at no cost.

Court Orders Former Judge Ousted for Back Rent Bill

Laurence B. Jacobs, an attorney and former Municipal judge, was ordered yesterday to vacate his office in the Steuben building for failure to pay $1,066 in rent. Federal Judge William H. Holly directed the United States marshal to hold all Jacob's personal property, furniture and effects to satisfy the bill.

WALLACE DENIED AN INJUNCTION AGAINST DAIRY

Milk Act Enforcer Gets First City Setback.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday refused the government's request for a temporary injunction to force a Chicago dairy to comply with a federal milk marketing order or go out of business. The ruling was the first setback for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in his current efforts to regulate milk handlers and producers in this area.

The dairy is the Wrightwood dairy, 2942 North Ashland avenue. It was cited several weeks ago for failure to file with N. J. Cladakis, milk administrator in the Chicago market, detailed monthly reports on its purchases and sales of various classes of milk.

These reports are required under the agricultural marketing agreement act of 1937, which took effect here last Sept. 1. Through them the secretary of agriculture fixes the price of milk paid to producers.

The petition for an injunction submitted to Judge Woodward was based on affidavits and complaints filed by Administrator Cladakis. Government lawyers contend that immediate action against alleged offenders is mandatory under the act.

Secretary Wallace was successful in the only other similar suit tried in this district. Judge Philip L. Sullivan issued an injunction against the Lemont Dairy company, 840 West 31st street, after a hearing Nov. 2.

But on Nov. 13, eleven days later, the United States Court of Appeals of the 2d circuit, sitting in New York City, reversed a similar action by a federal District court in that jurisdiction. The New York suit also was an attempt by the government to enforce one of the secretary's milk marketing orders.

Cites Appellate Ruling.

This ruling was cited by Judge Woodward yesterday. In effect, he held that the Wrightwood dairy was entitled to a full hearing of its side of the case before the government presses for an injunction.

Still pending before Judge Woodward are petitions filed by the Wrightwood dairy asking [1] that the government be required to submit a bill of particulars, and [2] that the original suit for injunction be dismissed. Judge Woodward ordered the government to file briefs in reply.

Later in the day Judge Sullivan granted a request that the Lemont injunction be dissolved. It was indicated that this concern is now complying with the marketing act.

50 Years a Postmistress, Will Retire at 82 Today

Miss Ann Pierce, postmistress at Montgomery, near Aurora, sorted letters for the last time yesterday. She is 82 years old and will retire today after more than half a century of service. Appointed during the administration of Grover C. Cleveland, she is believed to be one of the oldest postmistresses in the nation.

It's Leap Year, and Here's the Man Who Can Prove It

It's the open season on bachelors, and the man who can prove it is Sidney Summerfield, chief clerk of the marriage license bureau. Leap year figures for January showed 2,254 licenses were issued, compared with 1,963 in January, 1939.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

TRAP SNAPS SHUT ON ROBBER GANG; ONE NEAR DEATH

4 Others Seized; Woman Held as Holdup Scout.

command of the office to be robbed. "Up with your hands! Lie on the floor, with your bellies down!" was the invariable order. Everything the bandits touched, they took. Thus they left no fingerprints.

Sergt. Tim O'Connell first established Mrs. Detente's activities in behalf of the gang. He learned from a beer distributor that a dark woman, about 5 feet 1 inch tall and weighing 110 pounds, had ordered a quarter barrel of beer one night, and the following day the distributor was robbed. Detectives Tim O'Connor and Joseph Logsdon forged another link. They found much of the gang's loot had been pawned by a woman of the same description.

Sometimes the gang would lie low for a while, after an exceptionally heavy haul, as last June 26 when $3,075 was obtained from a cleaning shop and ice cream store on the north side. But the neighbor woman with the fur slippers would bob up again, sooner or later, and there would be another robbery.

As the gang began to rob oil companies, a notice was sent by the police to each firm, warning them to look out for Mrs. Detente and to follow her if she appeared. She went into the Metropolitan Petroleum office Monday and made inquiries about the price of oil. She was followed two blocks to where she entered an automobile. The license number was in Ott's name.

Two Wounded in Battle.

Capt. Frank Demski of the Brighton Park district detailed Policemen Harold De Lave and Cyril O'Connell to the petroleum office. On Tuesday Ralph Detente and Dattalo walked in. The policemen opened fire. The bandits returned it and escaped with Dattalo, as later developed, seriously wounded. Also wounded was James K. Robbins Jr., a chemical company salesman caught in the cross fire.

A watch was posted at Ott's home. John Detente and Mrs. Detente were seized when they appeared to visit Ott late Tuesday night. Detente—the man who always drove the car on the holdups and didn't seem to care for guns—talked first. His brother was arrested at Lytle and Harrison streets. Ott came home early yesterday and was jailed. He was well dressed; the others were ragged, dirty, and sullen.

Find Wounded Member.

The last stop was at Datallo's hideout at 2221 Taylor street. His wound had been doctored in an amateurish fashion. He was in great pain. "You ain't got nothin' on me," he snarled. "I was stabbed—get it? Stabbed in a fight." But the wound was a bullet wound. After defying Chief Sullivan at the detective bureau, Datallo suffered a sudden collapse, and a hemorrhage which Bridewell physicians said gave him no chance to live.

Five other persons, including Datallo's wife, Penelope, 20, were taken to the bureau for questioning about the gang's activities. An attorney, George Hans, said he would go before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court this morning with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the Detentes.

THREATENS LEAP TO DEATH FROM HOSPITAL LEDGE

Nurses, doctors and interns peered from the windows of Mount Sinai hospital with worried faces. Spectators in the street looked up. Firemen sped to the spot and spread a net. And then, Saul Moss, a patient, decided not to jump.

Moss, 31 years old, of 5914 North avenue, who had been in the hospital for two days for observation, crawled out of his sixth floor window yesterday morning onto the fire escape.

A nurse called Dr. Stephen Manheimer, the superintendent. Dr. Manheimer called the fire department. Then he climbed out on the fire escape with an attendant, and persuaded Moss not to jump. Moss crawled back up the ladder and into his room.

Bandit Gang Caught in Police Trap

ROBBERS SHOOT VICTIM; ACCUSED BY THREE OTHERS

Willard Smith, 51 years old, 4900 Kenmore avenue, a taxi driver, was shot in the shoulder and robbed of $4 last night in an alley near Clark and Illinois streets by two men who had hired his cab.

A short while later two men hailed the cab of Lawrence Middleton, 764 Oakwood boulevard, at State and Congress streets. Near La Salle and Elm streets they robbed him of $7.80. In starting to turn around Middleton saw the men enter a building at 1225 North La Salle street and informed the police.

Cecil Caluya and his cousin, Flore Caluya, Filipinos, both 30, were arrested there and identified by Middleton. In the Alexian Brothers' hospital Smith also identified them. Two earlier north side robbery victims later added their identifications.

LAXITY IN CAPONE CASE CHARGED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

Federal Judge John P. Barnes criticized the United States attorney general's office yesterday for failing to serve Al Capone with a summons in a civil suit filed against the former gang chieftain here on Sept. 28, 1937. The suit seeks to collect unpaid income tax, penalties, and interest amounting to $350,011 for the years 1924 thru 1929.

"I don't think the attorney general is exercising the necessary diligence in prosecuting this matter," said Judge Barnes when government counsel asked still another continuance in the case. "I'll give the government 60 more days. If this case is not ready for trial by April 1 I'm going to dismiss it."

United States Attorney William J. Campbell explained that the law provides that a person must be served in his regular place of abode. He said that this prevented serving Capone while he was in Alcatraz prison, and that the attorney general considers Capone's present residence in Baltimore, Md., as temporary. Since the statute of limitations on the case does not expire until October, 1941, the government can file a new suit if the present one is dismissed.

HAUPTMANN BOY, 6, HAS EPILEPSY, WITNESS ASSERTS

New York, Jan. 31 [Special].—Manfred Hauptmann, 6 years old, son of Bruno Huptmann, is suffering from petit mal, a mild form of epilepsy, Dr. Jacob H. Friedman testified in Bronx Supreme court today. He was a witness in a $100,000 damage suit brought by the child's mother against the auto owner who ran him down May 4, 1938.

The jury in the case was completed today, the second day of the trial. Many talesmen were excused on their answers to this question by Mrs. Hauptmann's attorney, Thomas J. O'Neill: "I want to ask you if you would have any prejudice against Mrs. Hauptmann or her boy because of her late husband's connection with the Lindbergh case? Some people believe the boy's injury was some sort of punishment meted out to him because of what happened several years ago in the Lindbergh tragedy."

O'Neill told the jury that the youngster suffered multiple fractures of the right leg and numerous cuts after being struck while in front of his home in the Bronx. The attorney said the child spent 41 days in hospitals. The suit is against Frank H. Moser, a cartoonist of Hastings, N.Y.

Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted on April 3, 1936, for kidnaping Charles Lindbergh Jr., son of the flyer.

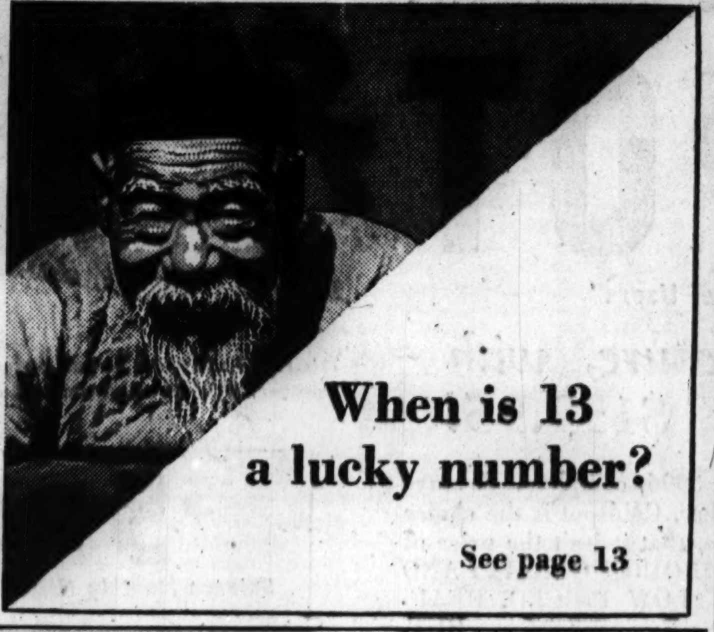
78 Lose Lives in Japanese Blizzard; Homes Leveled

TOKIO, Jan. 31 (AP).—The number of deaths from blizzards in north central Japan totaled 78 today, with 29 persons reported missing. Most of the victims were killed when the flimsy roofs of their homes collapsed under the weight of the snow. The storms, which have lasted almost a week, destroyed 247 homes.



[ADVERTISMENT]

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

[ADVERTISMENT]

A MEAN-ACTING LIVER CAN MAKE YOU CONSTIPATED!

You may have wondered why some laxatives fail to give real relief from temporary constipation. Often this is because the flow of liver bile is insufficient to prevent decay of intestinal wastes. Try Beechams Pills, the purely vegetable compound. Besides being a gentle, effective laxative, they encourage this flow of liver bile which is so necessary to help digest what you eat, help prevent decay of intestinal waste and help keep elimination thorough. Buy Beechams Pills at your druggist's—10¢, 25¢, 50¢.

PEOPLE in the advertising business learn lots of queer things.

They learn, for instance, that one advertisement may sell goods hand over fist, while another that looks just as good is a bust.

They learn that one publication may be a successful advertising medium, while another which is read by just as many people can't compare as a seller of goods.

Advertising people—like other successful business men—end up with one maxim: "Repeat the experiences that turn out profitably, and discontinue the duds."

Significant is the way advertisers repeat year after year in The Saturday Evening Post. No other magazine in history ever enjoyed so much advertising from so many advertisers for so many years. In 1939, for example, the Post was awarded eleven million dollars more advertising revenue than the next magazine. And most of it from customers who came back for more.

It can only mean that the Post has delivered enough extra something to its advertisers to make them come back year after year.

"Wise merchant boasts not of customers who come in, but of customers who come back."

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

SMEARING THE DIES COMMITTEE.

On the floor of the house of representatives last week, Congressman Frank E. Hook, Michigan Democrat, undertook to show that Congressman Dies was in collusion with some of the promoters of racial and religious intolerance and was protecting them from investigation. In support of his accusations Mr. Hook introduced into the Record letters which he said had been written by William Dudley Pelley, head of the Silver Shirts, to one David Mayne who was identified as the Washington representative of this particular brand of intolerance, public nuisance, and tin horn conspiracy.

Mayne himself appeared before the Dies committee Tuesday—Mr. Dies himself is ill in Texas—and admitted that the Pelley letters were forgeries written by him and sold for $100 to Harold Weisberg, who said he had once worked for the La Follette committee and had been dismissed because he had been peddling information to the Daily Worker, the New York communist publication.

Mayne said that Weisberg told him that Gardner Jackson, lobbyist for the C. I. O. Labor Non-Partisan league, wanted to get something to tie Dies up with the Nazi and Fascist groups. So, according to Mayne's story, he wrote the letter in which he represented himself as Pelley saying that he and Dies were buddies and there would be no trouble with the committee.

Congressman Joe Starnes, Alabama Democrat, acting as chairman in the absence of Congressman Dies, says that the committee is in possession of affidavits revealing that persons in New York City offered sums of money, as much as $3,000, in an effort to show a connection or collusion between Dies and the Christian Front. Eighteen members of this batty organization for which Father Coughlin assumes the inspiration were arrested recently by FBI agents and accused of conspiracy to start a terrorist campaign. The episode was given a greater play than the puerile character of the accused or even the connection with Father Coughlin would have seemed to justify, but it coincided with the renewed efforts to get something on Mr. Dies.

The attempt to smear the committee and its chairman has been active for nearly two years, in fact ever since the work of the committee drew attention to the interlocking interests of the New Deal, the communist party of America, its vanguard in the C. I. O., the sitdown strikers, and the governmental agencies such as the department of labor and the National Labor Relations board. For one thing, the committee showed that the chief economist of the National Labor Relations board, David Saposs, was a member of the national executive committee of a communist labor organization in 1932. It had also shown the protection Mme. Perkins of the labor department had given Harry Bridges, an incident which came to a showdown in the frameup by Dean Landis and Mme. Perkins to keep the alien from being deported as a violent revolutionary.

The smearing officially started in the White House. At a press conference in October, 1938, Mr. Roosevelt dictated a statement in which he accused the committee of "a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election." He said he was very much disturbed by that kind of testimony. 'I was disturbed not because of the absurdly false charge made by a coterie of disgruntled Republican office holders against a profoundly religious, able, and law-abiding governor but because a congressional committee charged with the responsibility of investigating un-American activities should have permitted itself to be used in a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election."

The disgruntled coterie consisted of Judge Paul V. Gadola of the Circuit court of Flint, Herman Luhrs of the Detroit American Legion, John M. Barringer, city manager of Flint, and Police Captain Edwin Hughes of that city. The governor was the present Associate Justice Murphy, who was accused not only of permitting the sitdown strikes and riots but encouraging them. Witnesses had told of communist meetings at which the Red salute was given as a part of the rioting in Flint which the governor refused to stop.

The best answer to Mr. Roosevelt was given recently by Earl Browder, executive secretary of the communist party, at a Madison Square Garden meeting. He said: "When the governor of Michigan in 1938 was deserted by his own political machine and faced a stiff fight with the Republicans, he was glad to get the support of the communist party in conducting his campaign for reëlection. He will not deny it. He will not deny he had long, intimate conferences with the communists on how to conduct his campaign for governor."

Mr. Dies replied to Mr. Roosevelt at the time the statement was made. There had been an effort to ridicule the committee by distorting the record to show that Mr. Dies and his associates had been alarmed by the discovery that Shirley Temple was a communist. "The Shirley Temple fabrication," said Mr. Dies, "was conceived by certain radical writers whose sympathies for soviet Russia are matters of common knowledge. Immediately, and as if by prearrangement, Secretary Perkins and Secretary Ickes repeated this crude and silly fabrication, thus hoping to lend the color of truth and respectability."

The fraud was ineffective and then, as Mr. Dies said, the next move was to exert every conceivable pressure to stifle the investigation. When congress authorized the inquiry into subversive activities it was assumed that the committee would have the coöperation of the department of justice and that it would be assigned lawyers and investigators. That assumption was based upon another assumption and both were wrong. The federal administration did not coöperate because the federal administration did not intend that any information regarding its communist hookup should get to the public.

Mr. Browder, since his conviction for a passport fraud, has said, and truthfully, that the New Dealers were using the communists on every front and in every activity "to rouse the masses," create the class consciousness and the class hatreds upon which the New Deal was founded, and were going faster toward Moscow than the communists themselves thought was prudent. Congress assuming, apparently, that there would be coöperation and apparently not being aware of the facts, gave the committee an inadequate appropriation. In consequence its work was much interfered with and the smearers then complained that here was a complete futility which should be abolished.

The New Dealers made a great fight to kill the committee. They failed. With more money and a better equipped staff the investigators made more trouble for the New Deal with their disclosures. This year when congress met in January the committee asked for extension, having nowhere nearly completed its work. There were only 21 members of the house who would oblige the administration by voting to suppress the investigation. After that failure the smearing campaign has now taken a new turn, as revealed in the forgeries and character defamation. Defamation is a characteristic of a communist campaign. The New Deal has given its support to this smearing and has done a considerable part of it. John Lewis' C. I. O. has joined in the denunciation and the defamation.

Every radical, revolutionary, collectivist, communist, and fellow traveler in the country has taken time off to attack this investigation, its findings, the witnesses who have appeared before it, and the character of the men who have been active in it. The procedure is extraordinary and it is revealing. It shows who is being disturbed by the inquiry, who has taken alarm at it, and what they do not want brought to light. Both Mr. Browder and Mr. Lewis of late have made a great show of breaking with the New Deal. They have said hard things about the chief in the White House—that he double-crossed them and that they were thru with him. There is something phony about this.

Mr. Browder and his organization and Mr. Lewis and his organization know that they have received more from Mr. Roosevelt and his organization than they could possibly get from anybody else. It may be that all three want to cover up at this particular time when the turpitude of the communists everywhere and the violence of the C. I. O. have made the public impatient of their pretenses. Until September of last year Mr. Browder was the first of the third termers and was preaching Roosevelt forever. Mr. Lewis still has the labor board working the way he wants it to work and if he seems to have turned sour it may be to cover up or it may be his way of getting the New Deal still more tightly tied up in a sack

The communists, the C. I. O., and the New Deal act alike, they think alike, they look alike, and they are alike. And these similarities are not accidental. They are inherent and, that being the truth, the recent bustup must be regarded as a fraud on the face of it.

Editorial of the Day

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES.

[Detroit News.]

One thing that can be said for the government old age annuity plan of Senator Robert F. Wagner is that it would be a powerful antidote against pension grabbing schemes of the kind which of late have flourished so feverishly.

Wagner's annuities, up to $100 a month in amount, would be sold thru the postoffices and designed to attract the patronage of a large proportion of the voting public. And there is nothing that would make a voter more averse to free annuities for his neighbors than his own participation in an annuity plan in which a portion of his income was being regularly invested. These investments in security would serve, like the ownership of land, to build up in the country a political force favoring stability and rational conservatism.

However, there are drawbacks to the Wagner plan—apart from those the private insurance companies may be trusted to enlarge upon. One, indeed, is the possibility that in times of stress this plan itself might be in danger of transmutation into a species of pension grab. If the time should come when numbers of the insured would find it hard to meet their obligations, would pressure not develop for reducing the premiums, perhaps for remitting them altogether?

Some years back such a contingency would not have appeared so serious as a possible threat to the actuarial durability of a plan of this kind. But in recent years people have been conditioned to look to the government for relief in every sort of difficulty and with a minimum of care for the exhaustibility of government resources.

In fact, an argument sure to be made against Wagner's proposal is simply that it is one more instance of inviting people to look to the government for something private enterprise ought to supply, even if it doesn't.

To complete the record on Heinegabubeler's [Jan. 23, 27]:

In the first place, we have been misspelling the name, with a "ge" instead of a "ga." No sharpshooters have observed this error.

In the second place, Mr. Heine, etc., moved his paradise for practical jokers from the old Quincy street address, next door to the Great Northern theater, in 1900. He carried his man-traps, boob-bait, quiddities, and bartenders to 348 South State street, five doors north of Harrison street, where he remained until 1920. Then he called it a lifetime and retired.

Mr. Heinegabubeler's real name, known to few, was and is Thomas Collier. He now lives at 904 Park View avenue, Joliet, Ill., with his only daughter, Mrs. Ruby Collier Zeman, who testifies that he "is still full of jokes and ditties."

The fame of Heinegabubeler's spread over the land and during the State street period there were similar resorts, bearing the same name, in St. Louis, Baltimore, Buffalo, Seattle, Portland, and Spokane. Heinegabubelerism was apparently a major industry of the prewar years, and we hope that the inventive Mr. Collier derived royalties from or shared in the profits of the six other joints whose addresses were on his business card.

That card, carrying a half-tone cut of Mr. Collier looking like a candidate for alderman of the 1st ward, was what the young moderns call "a doozy." Here is a part of its text:

"Long-winded telephone 4-11-44 Main. Remember the Main. Heinegabubeler's so different buffay. Intoxicating liquors, holesale and retail. Importing agent for delirium tremens, bug juice, tanglefoot, rot gut, kill-me-quick, Jersey lightning, etc. Bank references: Sand Bank, Sandusky, O.; Faro Bank, Cripple Creek, and the Banks of the Wabash. Our motto: If drinking interferes with your business, quit your business. [Over.]"

[All in favor of seeing what Heinegabubeler printed on the other side of his card say "Ay."]

NIGHT LETTER TO THE NORTH.

I think of you so much when I'm alone,
Watching the pale, translucent moon that slips
Like some frail bubble which the wind has blown
Above the trees, beyond my fingertips.
How still the world is in a silvered sleep.
Only the sea grows restless with its dreams
As now and then the flying fishes leap
Revealed to me in phosphorescent gleams.
Dark shadows lie beneath the drowsy palms,
Changing in subtle charm as night wears on Until a fresh wind carries in its arms
The breathless moment that preludes the dawn.
The stars are setting and the moon is low.
Another day has come. I miss you so!

Myth of Peg-Leg Ike, Hillbilly Style.

Say, Mister Collins, that ain't the way I heard it! I knew that feller's friend, Peg-Leg Ike [Jan. 26], but the way I heard it Ike hated snakes and one day when he wuz a-hoein' of his corn, up rared a big ol' rattler. Well, ol' Ike he just up an' swang his hoe at the critter, figurin' on taking' the head right off'n it. But he missed and that 'ere rattler sunk its fangs into the hoe handle.

Well, sir, d'you know that 'ere hoe handle swoll up so durn big in ten minutes that Ike had to call four fellers to help carry it inter the shed. AND, it kept right on a-swellin'.

Ike kept that thing in the shed fer years—didn't know what to do with it, bein' it wuz so big and unhandy, but finally when the railroad wuz goin' to run a line in, ol' Peg-Leg Ike sold 'em that hoe handle fer ties, and they cut it up and never needed another piece of wood. Murgle.

CARDINAL'S SONG.

A redbird from a leafless tree
(A gaudy, scarlet thing)
Looked down at me right saucily
And soon began to sing.
"Why sing you thus to me?" said I.
"Your noise I can't endure!"
His only answer was to cry,
"Spring! Spring! Sure, sure, sure, sure!"

Quoth I, aghast, "You speak of spring,
Why, that is months away!
Why make dull February ring
With songs that sound like May?
You'll freeze before tomorrow night!"
But still, in accents pure
Shrilled out the little forest sprite,
"Spring! Spring! Sure, sure, sure, sure!"

I left him. 'Twas a vain delay
To try to change his notion;
One had as well attempt to stay
The tides upon the ocean.
His sweet strains haunt me yet, it seems,
An ailment I can't cure;
I even hear them in my dreams,
"Spring! Spring! Sure, sure, sure, sure."

Whatever Became of Our Class President?

Maybe he was misquoted, but "an authority on University of Chicago athletics" is supposed to have said:

"To be a crack student and president of the senior class in high school count more in receiving a Midway scholarship than to be a crack student and captain of the football team."

That explains it. The Maroons were running for office instead of touchdowns.

DESTROY PARASITES WITHIN THE MOUTH.

In all probability far more individuals are subject to Vincent's infection than is currently believed. We put so many things into our mouths that some of them are bound to be unclean and the cause of the malady—a wormlike parasite [a spirochete]—once it finds lodgment—dislikes to give up so comfortable an environment.

The chief demand of these corkscrew-like invaders is that their habitat shall be provided with little or no oxygen. They don't like a dilution that contains as much as ordinary air—20 per cent. In consequence, crevices about the teeth and gums, badly fitting crowns, and fillings offer favorable sites. Perhaps this is the reason that smoking is included among the causative elements inasmuch as far less pure air enters the oral cavity—thus lowering the oxygen percentage.

Another factor is poorly functioning dental structures. If the occlusion between the upper and the lower jaws is not accurate some disturbance will ensue and the tissues around the teeth will suffer. Few cases of this sort are encountered where good "meeting" of the teeth is present. Many authorities believe that the responsible germ will not thrive unless some other organisms have paved the way. In other words, certain microbes prepare the soil upon which the Vincent types will flourish.

The disease may strike suddenly. Temperature may rise as high as 102 degrees Fahrenheit—with headache, marked depression, malaise, loss of appetite, and constipation. The lymph glands beneath the chin may be firm and swollen. Sometimes considerable pain will be experienced with a profuse flow of saliva which may be tinged with blood.

On looking within the mouth, the gum margins will appear cherry red, particularly the projections between the teeth. These areas are puffy and extremely sensitive to the touch. In fact, bleeding usually attends the slightest injury. Within a short time the affected parts become grayish in shade with some sloughing. Unless the ailment is checked, ulceration spreads to adjacent tissues and the mucosa of the lips and cheeks—as well as the tongue—may become involved. The patient will often complain of a most disagreeable metallic taste, the explanation of which is not clear. At any rate, destruction of the gums will continue and may even extend to the bone.

In the chronic form, tissue loss is far slower but the delicate papillæ between the teeth will dissolve away gradually—leaving deep deformities. This allows food to collect in these spaces. In time, this material ferments—giving rise to the foul odor of the breath. At first a mouth disease, it may later proceed to the throat and the lungs. Occasionally pulmonary abscesses and gangrene will follow with the expectoration of great quantities of putrid sputum.

We must look upon the affliction as one that must be attacked early. Treatment is generally effective if the patient is faithful in carrying out instructions. Certainly we can avoid contaminated eating and drinking utensils and carrying the fingers to the lips. Then we can adopt a program of cleanliness which will include the mouth and the teeth—care being taken not to harm the soft regions. Deposits of tartar may be scraped away and the oral cavity rinsed several times daily with some mild antiseptic that will supply oxygen. Hydrogen peroxide is helpful as is sodium perborate. Potassium permanganate is also of value and one part of the crystals to 2,000 of water is suggested as a wash. A solution of neosalvarsan in glycerin—applied to all visible lesions—may be employed.

It goes without saying that the dentist must be consulted and his full coöperation secured in removing all possible pockets where the infection may hide. This treatment must be continued until cultures fail to reveal the organisms and the surfaces have ceased to bleed.

Along with local management every effort must be made to raise the general resistance. Water drinking and the use of citrus fruits, milk and cream, vegetables, and cod liver oil are in order. In other words, both the vitamin C and D content of the diet must be raised appreciably. In certain cases, a dose or two of neosalvarsan will prove curative.

PROBABLY HIVES.

Y. D. writes: What would cause a lump, the size of a silver dollar, to appear suddenly on the forehead? There is no redness, but a slight swelling that seems sore to the touch. There has been no injury to the head.

REPLY.

In the absence of injury the most likely cause is some allergic manifestation such as hives.

MANY KINDS OF ARTHRITIS.

M. G. writes: How many kinds of arthritis are there?

REPLY.

Too many! In general, two varieties are recognized—atrophic and hypertrophic. Each, however, has many subdivisions. Some are due to infection; others to metabolic disease. In the atrophic form the bone is worn away, while the hypertrophic is characterized by enlargement of the joint tissues.

GRAVES' DISEASE.

C. B. writes:
1. What is Graves' disease?
2. Is surgery necessary?

REPLY.

1. Another name for an overactive thyroid gland, accompanied by staring eyes.
2. As a rule, yes, altho X-rays may be helpful.

SWELLING UNDER CHIN.

W. M. writes: What causes the glands underneath the chin to swell slightly?

REPLY.

Usually due to a slight infection about the lips or teeth, or to some blocking of the salivary glands. If there is a sore within the mouth see your physician without delay.

TELL ALL.

A. K. writes: Most physicians ask patients to catalog their illnesses. Is it necessary to mention those that were suffered 10 or more years ago?

REPLY.

Yes. Certain maladies may produce permanent organic changes. The more the physician knows about you the more intelligently will he be able to aid.

SKIN TESTS.

R. K. writes: What kind of tests are given in a case of allergy?

REPLY.

Those most frequently used are skin tests. If one is sensitive to a certain product, redness and swelling will follow when the material is injected into the epidermis.

STOP SLAPPING.

Miss G. writes: Whenever I slap my skin it swells up into welts. Once my whole handprint remained on my arm. What is wrong with me? What can I do to correct the condition?

REPLY.

You have a very sensitive skin. The condition is known os dermographia. Irritation of any kind may produce this type of reaction—similar to hives. Your physician may wish to give you histaminase as this material will neutralize the substance which is liberated when the epidermis is irritated.

WORMS.

Mrs. A. writes: I discovered that I had a worm about eight inches long. I am in the habit of eating lots of raw salads. Could this be the cause? What is the cure?

REPLY.

No doubt a roundworm. Your physician can prescribe a drug which will force the parasites to pack their luggage and leave in haste. Be sure your raw fruits and vegetables are washed thoroly.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Jan. 21.—German trains en route to Basel are stopped at Weil, across the border, so the GSP [secret police] can search passengers.

Germans and others are taken off the train, questioned and examined, and then allowed to proceed by motor coach to the German station in Basel. Trains which bring the passengers to Weil return to the interior of Germany.

Five express trains have arrived daily at Weil since the German railroads resumed normal schedules on Dec. 28.

Since the beginning of the war it has been customary for German authorities to scrutinize all travelers going to Switzerland, whether neutrals or Germans. Recently a Swede in the garment business, accompanied by a young German girl as model, was taken from a train at Lorrach, north of Weil, and questioned so long that the train went on without him.

The papers of the young German girl were subjected to an especially thoro examination. They were forced to spend the night in Lorrach and at 6 o'clock the following morning the salesman was awakened by an agent of the police for more questioning. He was eventually allowed to go to Switzerland, but was warned to say nothing of what he saw on his trip thru Germany.

Despite warnings against talking about conditions in Germany some Germans reveal a certain criticism toward the régime. A few days ago an official of the Reichsbahn [German state railway] visited friends in Basel and spoke bitterly of the conditions of the railroads there. This man had spent a lifetime as a railroad worker and took great pride in his job. He had been a backer of Adolf Hitler from the beginning because the Fuehrer had improved conditions of the workers.

But on his visit here this official said the German railroads were being permitted to go to pieces and that there had been more wrecks in recent weeks than for many years. This, he declared, was the result of the policy of the Nazi party, which he found irresponsible and shortsighted.

Meanwhile German book sellers are enjoying a boom. Publishers are reported to be running off extra editions. Even cook books are selling readily and books of pictures are finding their way into thousands of homes. There are two reasons for this. One is that while food and clothing are rationed and entertainment is curtailed there is no restriction upon the purchase of literature and people who have money to spend invest it in books. The second reason is that millions of soldiers who have little to do in the Siegfried line while away the weary hours reading. People at home read to forget their troubles.

How Our States Got Their Names

22. MISSISSIPPI.

This state, according to historians, is named after the Mississippi river, which was named by the Indians. The name probably comes from "meeche" [great] and "cebe" [river], thus "the great river." Mississippi was admitted to statehood on Dec. 10, 1817. It was first settled by the French in 1699.

Mississippi state seal. Eagle holds arrows and olive branch. In outer circle is six pointed star.

Mississippi nicknames, according to the book "State Names," by G. E. Shankle, include the Bayou, Border-Eagle, Eagle, Groundhog, Magnolia, Mudcat, and Mudwaddler state. The eagle name derives from the picture of that bird on the state seal. There are many bayous in the state. Magnolias, groundhogs, and mudcats [a kind of fish] are or once were numerous there. Shankle says the mudwaddler nickname is not traceable.

The state motto is "Virtute et Armis" [By Valor and Arms]. The state song is Mississippi, state flower and the state tree the magnolia, and the state bird is the mocking bird.

ANCIENT CARS.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Most railway equipment of the 1890s has been junked or relegated to museums. Motor cars and airplanes coming on the scene long after the '90s also are curious items in historical exhibitions, and have been for a decade or more.

One amazing exception is our elevated equipment. We ride daily in cars built 50 years ago, when the automobile was a vague dream and airplanes had not reached even that status.

The "L" tycoons say they are not making any money. Huh! We, who pay the highest urban fare in the country, take the greatest risks, endure the foulest crowding, want to know who they are kidding. Certainly not the customers. However, under the present political setup in Illinois and Chicago we do not expect to be let in on that secret. H. L. E.

OUT IN THE COLD.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—From time to time I read in your columns of dogs being rescued from icefloes by humane society agents. But never a word about the undernourished, improperly clothed, to say nothing of physically defective, humans who are being taken off the relief rolls by the wholesale and assigned to WPA work for which they are totally unaccustomed and unfit physically. They are sent to the extreme outlying districts with the temperature hovering around the zero mark, without protection from the elements and no provision made for shelter. Truly, they are exiled to our own Siberia.

Most every one has been assigned to an outdoor project, the WPA officials knowing that they cannot work in these ungodly spots with the temperature as it has been for the past 10 days. No work—pay 14 cents carfare and possibly three hours traveling time and for this futile effort the WPAers are allowed the handsome sum of 44 cents or one working hour. At the same time the well-paid office force is being increased.

The politicians are building a Siegfried line for the coming April primaries at the expense of the deserving and needy. W.

"THE MUSIC MASTER."

Chicago, Jan. 26.—I was very much impressed with the front page cartoon entitled "The Music Master" in today's issue of The Chicago Tribune.

It portrays the longing and sentiment of all Americans of Polish descent, in fact—of every Polish soul thruout the entire world.

We are greatly indebted to the great artist, Mr. Parrish, for his ingenuity, and to The Chicago Tribune that made this possible. John Nering.

FROM A GRATEFUL PARENT.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Having just attended the graduation exercises [in which my son was a participant] and not having time to thank all his teachers, I thought it a good idea to let all your readers know of the superlative work the principal and her staff are doing at the Jacques Marquette school.

Too many parents accept the individual help, loyalty, and patience shown their children as their just due. I have watched my boy [this one being the second child graduating from this school] go from first grade, and it is indeed a revelation how these fine people give the best of themselves to aid in starting our sons and daughters on the right road to a happy and useful life. Many sincere thanks for all the extra work done for me and mine, and God bless all of you. H. C.

HELP FOR FINLAND.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Finland is in trouble and needs material aid. But who can help her? Russia and Germany threaten the countries in Europe which would help; besides, they need the stuff for their own protection. So the Finns turn to the United States, their best friends. We give them our sympathy and all kinds of valuable aid, except what the army needs to fight with. Why not give them some means of returning blows, upon condition that they use them only to clear their country of the invaders. I'm sure the Finns would gladly consent. Washington sent Franklin to Europe for help and received it. C. A. W.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

PERSONAL INJURY SUIT.

Chicago, Jan. 25 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. A was coming home from work when he was struck by an auto last April. He was in the hospital for 45 days before he died. A lawyer was engaged to handle his affairs on a one-third basis. Two of his children witnessed the signing. Now his lawyer does not seem to be doing much about it. What can we do?

2. Where can I, if possible, get the testimony that was given at the coroner's inquest?

3. Can the hospital and doctor charge interest on their bills? At what rate?

4. B, the driver of the car, carried liability insurance. The insurance company made a small offer, which wouldn't cover the bills which include doctor, hospital, nurse, and funeral expenses. What can we do?

5. A left one minor and four grownup children at the time of his death. Can this minor collect anything for support? His wife preceded him in death, so one of the older children was appointed guardian and administrator of his small estate.

6. How long does an estate stay in probate?

7. How much can an attorney charge for probating?

8. Can a lien be placed against the property by either the doctor or hospital?

9. Could the property be sold before the case is settled? J. S.

1. Depends in part on the reasons that the lawyer assigns for his inactivity. Presumably he would be interested in the case if there was a substantial prospect of collecting. We would infer that the case is weak either on the negligence evidence or on the assets of the defendant out of which a judgment might be collected.

2. Try applying at the coroner's office.

3. Yes, at 5 per cent per annum.

4. The only way to force matters would be by suit. In order to collect you would have to prove that their policy holder was negligent and that A was not negligent.

5. See 4.

6. Before this year, creditors were allowed a year in which to file their claims. Now the period is nine months and it should be possible to close estates within about a year.

7. Depends on the agreement and on the facts.

8. A creditor of a deceased property owner could force probate, file his claim in the probate proceedings and if he obtained a judgment on the claim, such judgment would be a lien.

9. If the property belonged to the deceased, then probate proceedings would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title.

BROOKS, LYONS OPEN DOWNSTATE TOUR NEXT WEEK

Speak Tomorrow Night at Headquarters Rally.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Wayland Brooks and Richard J. Lyons, whose Republican candidacies for senator and governor are teamed, will start their downstate tour next week, following formal opening of their Chicago headquarters in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow night.

Plans being made yesterday would route the pair on different itineraries during their mornings and afternoons downstate, but would bring them together for evening meetings in the larger communities.

Expect to Start in Egypt.

Details have not been completed, but it is probable that the southern territory known as Egypt will be visited early in the tour. Lyons and Brooks will spend most of their time downstate until about three weeks before primary day, April 9, when they will concentrate on Cook county.

Dwight H. Green, Lyons' leading opponent, started downstate this week. Both he and Lyons have been thru the counties on informal tours in recent months.

James E. Hill, downstate manager for Brooks and Lyons, said that tomorrow's opening will be attended by delegations from all the 102 counties in the state. The meeting will be held in the grand ballroom where both candidates will speak.

Happy Over Solidarity.

Hill said Lyons and Brooks were happy over the solidarity of the organization support which is swinging their way. He said they were jubilant over results of straw votes recently taken "showing Lyons far and away ahead of the rest of the field in the race for governor."

Support given Brooks and Lyons on Tuesday by a group of Republicans termed "Deneen leaders" was minimized yesterday by former Senator Charles S. Deneen, head of the faction.

The veteran leader, who is expected to support Green, said that actually a number of the so-called Deneenites had not been aligned with his following for some years.

For example, the senator said, James A. Kearns, who called the Lyons meeting on Tuesday, had not been with him for ten years, and A. W. Komarek, Riverside committeeman, had never held leadership status in the Deneen organization.

Others Not With Him.

Luther D. Swanstrom, brother-in-law of former Federal Judge George E. Q. Johnson, was another who had never been with him, Deneen said. He added that as far as his own committeeman, Henry D. Lindblad of the 17th ward, was concerned, Lindblad had not been with him since he ran for the presidency of the county board in 1938.

Committeeman Robert W. Dunn of the 44th ward, the senator continued, told him he was faced with three factions in his ward and was having difficulty in keeping them together.

County Commissioners William Busse and George A. Miller, as well as Committeeman L. A. Wescott of Oak Park, had been known as Lyons supporters for months, Deneen said, and had attempted to swing the other members of the faction with them. There was nothing new in their reaffirmed attitude, the former senator added.

William H. Weber, former county chairman, left the Deneen camp in 1912, its leader declared.

BLAST DAMAGES PASTRY SHOP.

An explosion yesterday of a gas oven in a pastry shop at 3419 Southport avenue knocked four employés to the floor, but none was injured. The shop interior and front were damaged.

DEMOCRATS PICK CONVENTION CITY DATE ON MONDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, announced after lunching with President Roosevelt that the committee will select the date and place of the party convention at its meeting here Monday.

It is expected that the committee will select a late date so that the Republican national committee, which meets here Feb. 15, will be forced to fix the time and place of selection of candidates for President and Vice President before the Democrats gather for the same purpose.

Farley said he could not list all the cities seeking the Democratic convention, but was certain that Chicago, Philadelphia, and San Francisco would bid for it.

At the White House President Roosevelt, who plans to leave the capital for a week-end trip to his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y., tomorrow night, said he would return Tuesday in time to shake hands with members of the committee after they have ended their business. In this connection Mr. Roosevelt laughed off as "a new one" a report that Farley would resign and be succeeded by Senator James Mead [D., N. Y.].

GREEN PLEDGES AID TO RESTORE JOBS AND TRADE

Danville, Ill., Jan. 31 [Special].—"Foremost in any program for rebuilding the American standard of living in Illinois is the neccessity for increasing employment so that our citizens will have the means of buying the products of agriculture and industry," Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, told a massmeeting in the Armory here tonight.

"There can be no permanent recovery in our country without a solution to the unemployment situation," Green said, "nor until there is stability of agriculture, industry and labor without bitterness one toward the other, nor any one group having an advantabe over the rest.

"If I am elected governor next fall, I shall make it my first duty to set about encouraging labor and industry to patch up their differences, and to reduction of the heavy tax burden that now discourages industry, so that more jobs can be made and more business concerns will locate in Illinois. If we take care of our problem, the other states will find theirs easier to solve."

HONEST BALLOT GROUP RE-ELECTS MRS. ROBERTSON

Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson began her fifth annual term as president of the Honest Ballot committee yesterday, following her reëlection at a meeting in the Great Northern hotel. Robert B. Hart was reëlected secretary.

Mrs. Robertson said that 31 civic organizations are now coöperating with the committee in its drive to provide watchers and challengers at the polls on election day.

Frederick A. Virkus of the Union League club was elected first vice president of the committee.

INVITES ALL RIVALS OF DEWEY TO ENTER PRIMARY IN ILLINOIS

Hill Blackett, Republican national committeeman, said last night that he would send personal messages to G. O. P. presidential aspirants, inviting them to place their names on the Illinois preferential primary ballot April 9.

Blackett said the invitations would be extended because of the decision of managers of the Thomas E. Dewey campaign to place his name on the state ballot.

"Now that Mr. Dewey has decided to enter the primary," Blackett said, "I hope that all candidates will file. If our party is to go back into power it must be built from the bottom up and not from the top down.

"It is essential, if our delegates to the national convention are to truly represent the voters, that they must know their preferences, not only as to first choice but as to second and third choice."

REP. ADAMOWSKI SEEKS POST AS COMMITTEEMAN

Petitions were in circulation yesterday for State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski, Democratic house leader at Springfield, for 36th ward committeeman. Harry Kohl, the present committeeman, is not seeking reëlection and his son-in-law, former Ald. George W. Robinson, has announced for the post.

Robinson has been handling the job in his father-in-law's absence. At a recent meeting of committeemen from the legislative district he moved that Adamowski be indorsed for reëlection.

Adamowski said yesterday that Robinson knew he would oppose him if he ran for committeeman.

SETTLE DAMAGE ACTION AGAINST HOME BUILDERS

Roosevelt Family Among Scheme Promoters.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 31.—An $850,000 damage suit against Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, and her co-promoters in the City Housing corporation failure here has been settled out of court, reliable sources revealed today.

A judgment was entered and payments were made to 99 former home owners who charged the company with fraud and misrepresentation in their development of the Sunnyside housing scheme in the borough of Queens, New York City, it was said the plaintiffs each received a sum less than three figures.

More than 75 per cent of the families who invested their funds in the Sunnyside venture lost their homes. Sunnyside, belying its name, has been the scene of a mortgage strike, evictions, auctioning of homes, and rioting against police and deputy sheriffs since 1933.

Roosevelts Among Stockholders.

Mrs. Roosevelt became a defendant because she was a former director of the corporation and a member of its advisory council when the damage suit was instituted in 1935. She also was a stockholder, as were the President and his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt. The elder Mrs. Roosevelt invested $15,000 in the Sunnyside bubble. Whether the Roosevelts still own stock is a secret the management refuses to reveal.

Other defendants included Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, Arthur Lehman, brother of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and Alexander M. Bing, president of the corporation. One of the substantial stockholders was John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The suit against the former officials and directors of City Housing was settled on last Dec. 21 before Supreme Court Judge Peter M. Daly in Queens. In this way the company averted a trial. City housing officials made no announcement of the settlement.

Model for Other Schemes.

City Housing was hatched in 1924. Altho it was a private corporation it was the basis for the grandiose model homestead projects inspired by Mrs. Roosevelt and built by the present Washington régime, such as Arthurdale, W. Va., Greenbelt, Md., and Matanuska Valley, Alaska.

City Housing, from which sprouted Sunnyside and a similar community at Radburn, N. J., was publicized and promoted as a limited dividend company from the outset. In 1936 the New York state legislature passed the limited dividend housing act providing for corporations which would sell dwellings at cost plus the 6 per cent dividend to shareholders.

With Mrs. Roosevelt as one of the directors, Sunnyside community was started in 1924 at the western end of Long Island and within the corporate limits of New York City. The company erected 563 family homes and several apartment houses.

N. Y. Profit Lost in Jersey.

Sunnyside's early profits and the proceeds from a $2,000,000 bond issue were sunk into the Radburn community, where houses were thrown up on Jersey's spinach land. Radburn was a complete and colossal failure.

More than 300 home owners began a mortgage strike in 1933. They demanded the interest rate be cut from 6 to 3 per cent. They accused the company of overvaluing their homes and pocketing builders' speculative profits, running upward from 30 per cent.

During the long fight repeated attempts were made to obtain help from the Federal Home Owners Loan corporation, but it was said the federal investigators recommended no loans be made because the houses were poorly constructed and overvalued in the first instance.

CHICAGO SCHOOL GRADUATES FIRST AIR CORPS CLASS

The first group of 24 regular army enlisted men to complete the special army air corps mechanics' training course at the Aeronautical university, 1338 South Michigan avenue, were graduated yesterday. The men, privates and noncommissioned officers from the Selfridge field air base at Mount Clemens, Mich., will return there to commence servicing air corps planes today.

The graduation exercises were conducted by Lewis M. Churbuck, president of the university, and Kenneth L. Burroughs, chief instructor. The outgoing class will be replaced within a day or two by a new group and there are now at the school roughly five other classes at various stages in the course.

Toots' favorite commission, Mrs. Tess says, is to be sent to the drug store for ice cream. When she returns, she is given a ladleful for her payment.

N.Y. WATER FRONT AIRPORT ENVY OF CHICAGO VISITORS

Gotham Shows the Way to Build Ideal Field.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 31.—Visitors from Chicago inspecting New York's municipal airport here today concluded that this field, open for the last four months, is one of the finest in the United States. They also acknowledged it has just about everything the present Chicago airport lacks and all that they hoped to obtain from their projected lake front air terminal.

Map Showing Location of New York City Airport.

The New York field is adequate in size and layout for the largest types of land planes that are now projected by the most optimistic engineers. It is situated on land that was reclaimed by fill from the water of Flushing and Bowery bays. Best of all, it is situated on the city's eastern doorstep, and is within a 20 minute automobile drive of the Grand Central station area in Manhattan.

This is all the more impressive by contrast with Chicago's cramped and crowded little field nine miles southwest of the loop business district and at least 45 minutes away by automobile. Whereas Chicago's field is surrounded by power and telephone lines, residential areas, and manufacturing districts, the airport here has perfect approaches on three sides that are bounded by water.

Another graphic contrast is the speed with which the New York field was designed and built. Less than two years ago engineers completed the plans for the airport, and the first steamshovel full of dirt on the project was lifted on Sept. 9, 1937. Chicago has been making efforts to expend its present field for five years and has been futilely dreaming about the ideal downtown island field for 15 years.

The story of the New York field is a story of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's ability to squeeze some 43 million dollars in alphabet money from various public works and works progress administrations in Washington. The completed field cost approximately 53 millions, of which the city of New York supplied not more than 15 millions.

More Delay in Prospect.

Meanwhile Chicago has had difficulty in raising half a million dollars to pay for the removal and reinstallation of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks that bisect the mile square tract available for airport uses near the locale of the present field. The money has been appropriated, but only after long drawn budget struggles.

A total of some $6,000,000 has been spent in the last two years on the 300 acres now used at Chicago for landing purposes and on the additional 320 acres that will be added to this when the railroad tracks have been shifted. Ninety per cent of this money has been supplied by WPA or PWA, largely because Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, is an aviation enthusiast.

And despite the fact that money is now available, attorneys and engineers say that legal difficulties in condemning new land for the railroad right of way, and constructional difficulties in installing the new line of tracks to supplant the existing trackage, will prevent the Chicago enlargement from being completed before the summer of 1941.

Runways Are Inadequate.

At present the Chicago airport has only one runway that is 4,800 feet long. All others are less than 2,900 feet long, barely adequate for the 24,000 pound twin engined Douglas DC-3 airliners that use the field. They will hardly be safe for the 43,000 pound four engined Boeings and the 50,000 pound Douglas airliners that will be in regular service by the spring of 1941.

At New York's field the No. 1 runway—NW-SE on the compass—is 6,000 feet long with water approaches. The No. 2 runway is 5,000 feet long, NE-SW, with approaches from the northeast over water and southwest over a park. The No. 3 runway is 4,500 feet long with water approaches from due east and west. The No. 4 runway is 3,532 feet long, due north and south. The approach from the north is over water and from the south over a park.

Chicago's situation will be somewhat relieved with the expansion of the field. Four runways will be 5,200 feet long, two others will be 6,400 feet long, and there will be several others more than 3,000 feet long. Nothing can be done, however, about the territory surrounding the present field.

An Idea for Chicago.

A look at New York's port on the tip of a peninsula gives a Chicagoan an idea of the beauty of the projected Chicago downtown island field which would be located a mile and a half east of Grant park at the foot of 16th street. Plans for this airport have been approved by the Civil Aeronautics authority, the army, and navy, and city engineers.

Cost estimates have indicated that such a field at Chicago would require an expenditure of between 15 and 16 million dollars. This would provide for a fill of 325 acres and about 17,000,000 cubic yards of material. This is approximately the same as required to fill 337 acres for New York's field, where 17,300,000 cubic yards were used.

New York was able to obtain alphabet labor by taking its fill from Rikers Island, a quarter of a mile across Bowery bay from the field. A temporary trestle was constructed and the fill delivered by motor truck. The job was completed in approximately 12 months, and a maximum of 23,000 men were at work on it at its height.

One Advantage Cited.

Engineers say Chicago's problem is more difficult but would require much less labor and probably would cost about one-third of the $25,000,000 estimated as the cost of the New York fill. Alphabet engineers here admit that the New York job was inefficiently done because of the need for using so much manual labor to meet federal requirements.

But once completed, Chicago's field would be not more than 10 minutes by automobile from the center of the city. The airport would be far enough from shore so that approaches could be made over water no matter what direction the wind. And it would have runways of approximately 4,200 feet length, entirely adequate for even 100,000 pound airliners of the future.

ROADS VITAL PART OF U. S. DEFENSES, SAYS GEN. FORD

Highway Builders Told of Army's Needs.

BY HAL FOUST.

The importance of America's highways to its national defense was told by Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the 6th Corps area, in a paper delivered yesterday before the 37th annual convention of the American Road Builders association. It was read by the corps engineer officer, Lieut. Col. M. P. Fox.

The military significance of road improvements is being stressed at this week's meeting in the International amphitheater of the highway builders in hopes that congress will appropriate generously for pavements as a preparedness measure.

Vast Territory to Defend.

"It should be borne in mind," wrote the general, "that the army of the United States is small in number, with a vast expanse of country to defend. Motorization and mechanization of the army and the adaption of new weapons are now in progress. The resultant increased mobility and fire power will compensate in a measure for lack of numbers by permitting the concentration of increased fire power at decisive points.

"This, however, presupposes a road net capable of permitting these rapid concentrations. Our highway system thus becomes a vital element in national defense, ranking high in importance with the soldier and his weapons."

"Aside from a strategic road net, there are other areas in which the roads would be inadequate in the event of war. There are industrial areas in which the production of material required under war conditions will be many times greater than required in peace time. There are camps and cantonments which will be occupied by large concentrations of troops for conditioning and training.

Significance of Planning.

"The areas of heavy war time production are known. The condition of the highways is known. The elimination of congestion and traffic hazards that would arise in the event of war is fully as important from the viewpoint of the army as is the placing of the strategic highway net in a condition suitable for military operations."

The road convention, attended by 50,000 delegates, will continue thru tomorrow.

The Illinois Road Builders association, at an annual meeting in the Blackstone hotel, resolved: "That congress should adopt a program for federal loans to cities, counties, and states for the purchase of right of way for superhighways; [2] that congress include highway construction in the national defense appropriations; and [3] that federal design standards for secondary roads be reduced so they can be built more cheaply and thus obtain greater mileage under federal aid.

John M. Carmody, administrator of the Federal Works agency, was the principal speaker last night at a banquet in the Stevens hotel.

Asks Divorce Today

MRS. ORSON WELLES.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 31 (AP).—Mrs. Anna Stafford Welles will file a divorce suit tomorrow against Orson Welles, radio dramatist and actor. Her attorney, Albert Hilliard, said today the case would be based on a cruelty charge and a contest was not expected. The couple was married Dec. 24, 1934, in Woodstock, Ill.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY HIT-RUN CAR ON ASHLAND AVE.

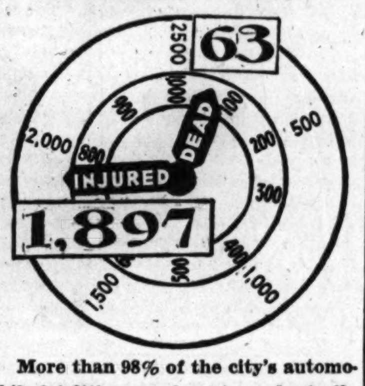
Mrs. Rose Furdyna, 59 years old, 2631 Luther street, was killed last night by a hit and run automobile at 42d street and Ashland avenue. The car tossed her crumpled body on the parkway. There were no witnesses. Mrs. Furdyna had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Oleferchik, 4222 South Maplewood avenue.

Charles Borgan, 76, of 2924 East 92d street, a retired sheet metal worker, died yesterday in the Chicago State hospital of complications which developed after he was struck by an automobile Oct. 4 at 92d street and South Chicago avenue.

Joseph Bianchi, 70 years old, 535 West 63d street, a confectioner, died yesterday in the Englewood hospital of injuries suffered Monday when he was struck in front of 6023 South Halsted street by an automobile driven by Fred La Valle, 19, 2143 West 121st street, Blue Island.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 84 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 63 were killed in Chicago, where 1,897 were injured in the same period.

THE MASSACRE
Chicago's 1940 Traffic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

ARGOS, IND., DOCTOR DIES.

Rochester, Ind., Jan. 31 [Special].—Dr. John P. Kendall, 75 years old, died last night at his home in Argos, north of here. He was born in New York City and had practiced medicine at Argos for 50 years.

INDIANA PLEDGES AID TO CHICAGO IN HIGHWAY PLAN

Assurances were given yesterday at a meeting in Gary that the Indiana state highway commission would cooperate with Chicago and Illinois in building a superhighway around the congested centers of the Chicago metropolitan area.

"There are no definite plans as yet and no route chosen for the highway," said Dr. Ernest Schaible, mayor of Gary. "But the improvement is needed. Indiana towns would be helped rather than hurt by it. Tourists now pass thru our business sections and create a traffic problem."

20,000 PAY ON EVE OF CITY AUTO TAX ARRESTS TODAY

Twenty thousand motorists jammed the offices of the city clerk and city collector yesterday to obtain city vehicle liceneses in advance of the deadline. This morning police will begin issuing summonses to drivers who lack the 1940 stickers. Yesterday's payments of $190,130 sent the total collections for the year to $2,792,586. This is $528,314 more than was in hand at the same time last year.

Anson Weeks, Band Leader, Pays Fine for Speeding

Anson Weeks, orchestra leader, was fined $10 for speeding and $10 for having no driver's license by Judge John Gutknecht yesterday in Traffic court. He was arrested Nov. 3 at Sheridan road and Foster avenue and charged with driving 59 miles an hour.

Wrightwood Ave. Subway Will Be Opened Tomorrow

Michael F. Mulcahy, president of the board of local improvements, announced yesterday that the $225,000 Wrightwood avenue subway under the Milwaukee railroad tracks, near Pulaski road, will be opened to traffic tomorrow.

CHICAGO DOCTOR STATE HEAD OF MENTAL HYGIENE

Dr. Conrad Sommer Fills Newly Created Post.

Dr. Conrad Sommer, director of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, was appointed yesterday to the newly created post of state superintendent of the division of mental hygiene.

The appointment, effective today, was announced in Springfield by A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, in whose department the new division falls. It was set up on the recommendation of the Chicago Institute of Medicine which surveyed all state institutions recently at the request of Gov. Horner as an outgrowth of the recent typhoid epidemic at Manteno.

Supervises All Mental Cases.

As superintendent of mental hygiene, Dr. Sommer will supervise medical care and treatment of the 30,000 patients in the 10 state mental institutions in Illinois. He will be responsible to Dr. H. Douglas Singer, state alienist, and has obtained a year's leave of absence from the Hygiene society to accept the position.

The primary purpose of the change, Dr. Sommer explained yesterday, is to standardize the various institutions.

"Mental hospitals have a tendency to become old folks' homes," he explained. We want to make these institutions hospitals and not places in which to live—medical rather than custodial."

Immunize All Patients.

Dr. Sommer's first and immediate task will be to continue immunization of all 30,000 patients against typhoid fever, diphtheria, and smallpox. He has a detailed program he hopes to work out, which includes reversing the proportion of attendants and nurses [now about 20 to 1]; making medical service in the state hospitals a career service to attract more effective work; encourage consultant physicians and research students, and end what he terms "regimentation" by individual attention.

Dr. Sommer is 34 years old and a graduate of the University of Illinois medical school. He was resident psychiatrist at the Illinois Research hospital in 1932-'33, and fellow and later assistant psychiatrist at the Institute for Juvenile Research from 1935 to 1937. For the last three years he has been director of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, assistant professor of clinical psychiatry at Loyola university and psychiatric consultant at the Peoria state hospital.

HERBERT MARLER DIES; CANADA'S EX-ENVOY TO U. S.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 31 (AP).—Sir Herbert Marler, former Canadian minister to the United States and Japan, died here today. He was 63 years old.

Sir Herbert, Canada's first minister in Japan, was named minister to Washington in 1936. Last June he became ill and was taken by plane to Montreal to the Royal Victoria hospital, where he died. His successor at Washington was Loring Christie.

Sir Herbert, son of a McGill university law professor, was a descendant of two of the oldest English-speaking families in Canada.

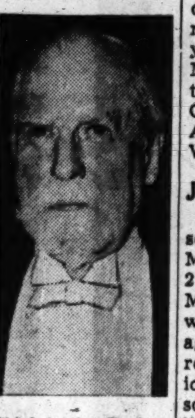
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Silent John

SUPREME COURT WILL MARK ITS 150TH BIRTHDAY

Special Ceremonies in Capital Today.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—The Supreme court will celebrate tomorrow the 150th anniversary of its first session. Special ceremonies will be held in the Supreme court chamber and in the senate and house. In addition, wreaths will be placed thruout the nation on the graves of justices who have died.



Chief Justice Hughes.

Addresses will be delivered at the Supreme court by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, and Charles A. Beardsley of California, president of the American Bar association.

Congressional speakers will be Senators Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.] and Warren Austin [R., Vt.] and Representatives Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] and U. S. Guyer [R., Kas.]

If those present at the first meeting of the court Feb. 1, 1790, in the small royal exchange in New York City could attend tomorrow's exercises they undoubtedly would rub their eyes in amazement.

Founders None Too Hopeful.

For at that time few persons thought the court ever would amount to much. They did not dream that some day it would be housed in a $11,500,000 glistening marble mansion.

Even its founders, members of the convention which drafted the constitution, were none too hopeful. They expected much more of the President and of congress.

So low was the tribunal held in public esteem that Chief Justice John Jay resigned to become governor of New York, Associate Justice John Rutledge quit to become chief justice of South Carolina, and Robert H. Harrison preferred being chancellor of Maryland to associate justice.

But the court came to the fore under the famous John Marshall of Virginia, chief justice from 1801 until 1835.

Packing Move Recalled.

The latest controversy to swirl about the Supreme court—one of many in its history—was precipitated by President Roosevelt's 1937 proposal to add a new justice for each member of the tribunal over 70 who did not retire.

The furore has long since died down, however, following congressional rejection of the proposal and the appointment of new justices sympathetic to New Deal aims. Mr. Roosevelt has named five justices, a majority of the nine man tribunal.

AUNT OF COUNT SEEKING FRENCH THRONE IS DEAD

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP).—The death of Princess Marguerite of Orleans, aunt of the count of Paris, active pretender to the French throne, was announced tonight. She was 71 years old.

The princess was the sister of the duke of Guise and wife of Gen. Patrice de MacMahon, the duke of Magenta. She died at the Château La Forest, near Montcresson, in the Loiret department.

The duke of Guise, head of the French royal house of Bourbon-Orleans, has renounced his claim to the throne in support of his son, the count of Paris.

BISHOP GUITART, THE CO-PRINCE OF ANDORRA, DIES

BARCELONA, Spain, Jan. 31 (AP).—Msgr. Justino Guitart, bishop of Urgell and co-prince of Andorra, one of the world's tiniest republics, died today of a heart ailment. He was 66 years old.

The bishop shared suzerainty over Andorra, country of 191 square miles and some 5,000 inhabitants in the gorges and defiles of the eastern Pyrenees, with the president of France. Actually, however, the country is largely independent and governed by a popularly elected council general.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Bertha Schwingel.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Schwingel, a pioneer resident of Wheeling, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Wheeling Presbyterian church. Mrs. Schwingel, who was 79 years old, died Tuesday in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Frances Russell, in Highwood. She was the widow of Jacob S. Schwingel, president of the village of Wheeling for more than 50 years, who died eight years ago. WHEN KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES YOU TO GET UP NIGHTS

When Bladder is Irritated
When Passage is Difficult
When Backache Results

Flush Poisonous Waste and Acid From Kidneys

GAIN IN HEALTH

If you aren't feeling just right—are nervous—have dizzy spells and occasional backache—study your kidneys and learn more about yourself.

Through the delicate filters of the kidneys, acid and poisonous waste are drawn from the blood and discharged from the body thru the bladder—sometimes these filters are less active than they should be because of excess poisonous waste and kidneys do not function properly—they need harmless stimulation.

One reliable medicine, highly efficient and inexpensive is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This grand medicine has been helping people for 50 years—to relieve aches and pains by helping conditions caused or aggravated by excess uric acid or other circulating poisons such as is so often the case with sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago and rheumatism.

So if you have such symptoms of kidney trouble as backache, nervousness, getting up two or three times during the night—scanty or smarting passage—leg cramps—moist palms or puffy eyes get a 35 cent package of this grand and harmless diuretic at any drugstore—it starts the first day on its errand of helpfulness.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Get Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original—the genuine right from Haarlem in Holland. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

BORAH'S WIDOW IS LEFT $200,000, MOSTLY BONDS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—The late Senator William E. Borah of Idaho left to his widow an estate of approximately $200,000, almost all of it in government bonds.

This was disclosed today by Mrs. Borah, who said the bequest was discovered in the senator's safe deposit box when it was opened by Miss Grace Heilman, his personal secretary for many years, to obtain his will. The will was written by hand on paper from a senate tablet. It left "everything I have to my beloved Mary." His widow also was named executor.

Mrs. Borah said she had been surprised at the amount despite the fact she knew the senator had three life insurance policies which had been paid up several years ago, as well as funds from the sale of their home in Idaho, fees for speeches, and savings from his salary as senator for more than 30 years.

$700,000 VALUE PUT ON ESTATE OF G. W. SMITH

An inventory filed yesterday by the Northern Trust company showed that George Watson Smith, retired investment dealer, left an estate valued at $700,000. The estate was put at $320,000 when his will was admitted to probate last Oct. 31.

Mr. Smith died last Sept. 29 at the age of 84 in a sanitarium in La Jolla, Cal. The family home was at 1462 Ridge avenue, Evanston.

Government bonds valued at $410,500 and real estate worth more than $200,000 comprised the bulk of the estate. Most of the estate was left in trust, with half the income going to Mrs. Anna Holliday Smith, the widow, and the other half being shared by three daughters.

ACCIDENTS TAKE LIVES OF 93,000 IN NATION FOR YEAR

Highways and Homcs Are Biggest Danger Spots.

The home was second only to the highway during 1939 in point of peril to life, limb, and safety of property. This was disclosed yesterday by the National Safety council in reporting that accidents thruout the nation last year killed 93,000 persons, injured 8,800,000, and cost 3 billion 300 million dollars.

Huge as were the losses, they represented a saving of about 800 lives and a reduction of 1 per cent from the 1938 toll, marking the third successive year of improvement. The year's accident rate of 71 deaths per 100,000 was the third lowest since 1900.

Traffic accidents again were the greatest contributory factor to the toll. They caused 32,600 deaths, 18 more than in 1938, and caused 1,150,000 nonfatal injuries. Economic losses and property damage amounted to 1½ billion dollars.

32,000 Killed in Homes.

Accidents in the home killed 32,000 persons, 500 more than in 1938, or an increase of 1 per cent, and injured 4,700,000 persons. Losses were estimated at 600 million dollars. One-third of all home accidents occurred on stairways. Burns and fires accounted for the next greatest toll; 5,700 deaths, 8 per cent more than in 1938.

Deaths due to work accidents declined 3 per cent to 16,000 and accidents were reduced by 50,000 to a total of 1,300,000. The loss was placed at 650 million dollars.

Public accidents, such as drownings, firearms cases, falls in public places, street car, and other accidents, accounted for 15,000 deaths, the lowest figure for any year since estimates were first made in 1928. An additional 1,750,000 persons were injured and economic losses were 350 million dollars.

Travel increased 6 per cent in 1939 and there were 4 per cent more vehicles on the road, so that on the basis of vehicle mileage the traffic death rate dropped more than 5 per cent to an all-time low of 12.2 per 100,000,000 miles.

Chicago Record Unfavorable.

Chicago and Illinois, however, did not make favorable records with regard to motor accidents. Chicago's death toll of 696 was second only to New York's 814 among the 13 largest cities, while its death rate in relation to population was exceeded only by that of Los Angeles. The state-wide death toll of 2,261 was the greatest among all states except California, where 2,784 persons were killed.

Counting all types of death by accident, Illinois had the worst record among the states with the exception of New York. There were 4,974 deaths here, while New York reported 7,578.

Fire losses for the year were estimated at 314 million dollars, 4 per cent more than in preliminary estimates for 1938, which were finally revised to 266 millions. If the 1939 revision is similar, the year's loss will be about 277 millions. This would be 50 per cent less than a decade ago.

State, Federal Taxes Take $193,785 of Scott Estate

Federal and state taxes will take $193,785 of the $986,270 estate of George Eaton Scott, president of American Steel Foundries, who died Jan. 11, 1939. This was disclosed yesterday when Judge Perry L. Persons in Lake County court set the state inheritance tax at $55,253. The federal estate tax is $138,532. Mr. Scott, who lived in Lake Forest, left his wealth to three sisters and four brothers.

BYRD'S FLAGSHIP IS SAVED FROM POLAR ICE PACK

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—A narrow escape of the cutter Bear from rapidly closing pack ice was reported today by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, leader of the government's antarctic expedition.

The expedition's seaplane guided the ship to open water after three close calls, Byrd wirelessed the navy. Aside from grinding ice, the Bear at times was subjected to the hazard of blinding sea smoke, a heavy frost with the effect of fog.

The Bear, expedition flagship, returned last night to the Bay of Whales base after a trip into hitherto unexplored seas. The ship served as a base for a series of exploration flights by Byrd.

CONTEMPT EDICT AGAINST COAST PAPER IS UPHELD

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP).—The California Supreme court today found the Los Angeles Times guilty of contempt of court for publishing editorials referring to cases which at the time of publication were pending in Los Angeles Superior court. The newspaper was exonerated on two other contempt charges involving editorials relating to the Los Angeles Bar association.

The Times, supported by the American Newspaper Publishers' association, opposed the contempt proceedings on a freedom of the press basis. The newspaper's attorneys recently said the case would be appealed to the United States Supreme court, if necessary.

Justices Douglas Edmonds and Phil S. Gibson dissented from the majority opinion written by Justice Jesse W. Curtis and concurred in by three others. Justice Gibson said he thought the contempt charges were "a regrettable mistake," and added:

"I think that by our decision in this case we have sacrificed a substantial part of our cherished freedom of speech and press in order to stamp out an evil that does not exist."

AWARD MEDALS TO FIVE JOLIET R. O. T. C. CADETS

Five Chicago Tribune R. O. T. C. medals were awarded to cadets in the Joliet Township High school unit at a special ceremony yesterday in the school gymnasium. Four thousand persons witnessed the presentation. The battalion of 285 boys and the R. O. T. C. band of 40 pieces passed in review.

Those receiving gold medals were Alvin Kollman, senior; Clarence Reid, junior, and Preston Hyatt, sophomore. Silver medals were given to Howard Snapp and John Georgoulakis, both freshmen. In the reviewing line were Lieut. Col. John T. Rhett, acting R. O. T. C. officer of the 6th corps army area; Supt. C. L. Jordan of the school, and Lieut. Col. J. V. Stark, professor of military science and tactics in Joliet.

Morgan Park Military academy in Chicago and the Marmion Military academy in Aurora will receive Tribune medals today.

Order Driver Held for Jury Quiz in Death of Passenger

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Anthony Valee, 20 East 112th street, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter for the death Dec. 23 of Miss Catherine Maloney, 32 years old, 11604 Lcwe avenue. Miss Maloney was killed and Valee was injured when his automobile left a curve in the Glenwood-Dyer road near Glenwood and crashed into a barn. Valee, a bartender, said she grabbed the wheel.

"I learned—too late—about the WOMEN MEN WANT!"

MARCEL was beautiful, vivacious, sophisticated—and she had said she would divorce her husband and marry me. I felt I was the luckiest man in the world.

But after we were married I learned she wanted a career not babies. She wanted Life with a capital L—colorful, bubbling, frantic.

At first I was content to bask in the sunshine of her smile, her glamour, her allure. But as the years passed, I changed. I wanted the things that marriage truly means—a home, children, real love. I felt cheated.

Then into my life came another girl, sweet, domestic, altogether adorable who offered all I wanted from life and so much more.

I fell madly in love. They often say that love is a species of insanity; it certainly seemed so to me. I adored my affinity during the day and dreamed of her during the night, and then . . . !

IERC Joins City Program to Provide Jobs.

Six thousand reliefers will be transferred to city sponsored Work Project administration jobs during February as a result of action taken yesterday by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

The commission agreed, after a conference with Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, WPA officials and members of the city council subcommittee on relief, to contribute state relief funds as a part of the sponsor's share of the WPA projects.

Will Give Jobs to 43,000.

The program will require the services of 43,000 men. About 37,000 of these are now employed on various projects, according to E. E. Ferrebee, IERC statistician.

Under the plan, the IERC will provide $18 per man for approximately 18,000 of the 43,000 workers during February. The rest of the expense will be borne by the city and the WPA. The transferred reliefers' salaries will average $57 a month on WPA.

Further monthly allotments of state relief funds, according to Leo M. Lyons, IERC executive secretary, will depend on whether the WPA transfer plan results in a savings to the state.

Withhold Township Funds.

The IERC voted to withhold relief funds from Dorr township, McHenry county, until the township supervisor, Roy J. Stewart, is replaced. The allotment scheduled for 76 cases in February was $808.

The action was taken after Raymond Hilliard, IERC attorney, reported that an investigation showed that 90 per cent of relief clients' medical care was given to one physician in Woodstock. Hilliard said that the physician is alleged to have received $6,743 in 1938 and $7,251 in 1939 for treating relief clients.

Hilliard said evidence of irregularities has been turned over to William M. Carroll, McHenry county state's attorney, and to Attorney General Cassidy.

Allocations to Randolph, Alexander, and Pulaski counties and funds for two other townships, Centreville in St. Clair county and Charlestown in Cole county, also were held up. Officials said they wanted to study eligibility claims further and await settlement of local relief disputes.

BLAZE ROUTS HOTEL GUESTS.

Smoke from a small fire in a fifth floor storeroom drove a score of guests to lower floors yesterday in the Grant hotel, 6 North Dearborn street.

Singer Gets Divorce

MRS. FREDA BRUECKLER.

Mrs. Freda Schmidt Brueckler, 29 years old, a concert singer, put her United States citizenship above the German-American bund and thereby incited the wrath of her husband, Hans, she testified yesterday.

She told Judge Rudolph F. Desort that Brueckler left her last Dec. 17 after a quarrel over the bund. She filed suit for divorce. In response to questions by her attorney, Charles C. Cooley, Mrs. Brueckler brought out that Brueckler was a member of the bund and not a citizen, and that she has been a citizen for 11 years.

"He wanted me to return to Germany with him and work in the interests of the Reich," she said. "He was in the German army during the world war. I told him I was proud of my American citizenship and would have none of the bund or his plans to go to Germany."

Judge Desort granted her a divorce. She will get $42.50 a month alimony. Mrs. Brueckler lives at 667 Barry avenue.

DELAYS DECISION ON DIVORCE FOR MERRY FARHNEY

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—State Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy reserved decision late today in the divorce suit brought by Merry Fahrney Cassini, the patent medicine heiress, against her fourth husband, Count Oleg Cassini.

The most material final testimony was that of three of the heiress' maids, who said that they had never known her to be guilty of misconduct. Cassini, in his answer to the suit, had accused her of infidelities with six men.

One of those named in the answer, Lowell Birrell, a corporation lawyer, was exonerated by Justice Levy of any misconduct and his name was stricken from the Cassini papers.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Despite the efforts of a fire department rescue squad, Mrs. Lottie Glick, 54 years old, 1026 Leland avenue, died of a heart attack in her home last night.

COUNTY'S REALTY UP 55 MILLION IN ASSESSED VALUE

Quadrennial List Shows Big Rise for Year.

Cook county's quadrennial real estate assessment [exclusive only of railroad properties] was made public yesterday by County Assessor John S. Clark. The compilation shows that the total assessed value of realty in the county is $1,753,880,738. This is an increase of 55 million dollars over the 1938 figure, and of about 4½ million dollars over 1935 when the last quadrennial assessment was made.

Since assessment is based on 37 per cent of full values, the actual worth of the real estate was computed at $4,740,218,204. Of this the city of Chicago has $3,785,778,983, and the country towns $954,439,221.

Central Properties Decline.

The most significant trend shown in the assessor's figures is a loss in land values near the center of Chicago. South township, which includes the loop and territory south to Pershing road, has a total assessment of $273,674,871, nearly 16 million dollars under 1935 and about $1,300,000 under 1938. The value of South township buildings was increased, but the land valuation was off about 21 million dollars from 1935.

"Decentralization," said Clark, "has shown its effect on loop land values; an effect similar to that in other cities. Continued competition between owners with surplus space on their hands has contributed to the condition."

It was the assessor's opinion that something serious impends unless remedial measures are taken for the close in properties. The principal losses in South township, he said, would be south of Jackson street, west of La Salle street, and north of Randolph street.

Returns on Some Are Fair.

"Better located and well improved and managed properties are still enjoying a fair return on their full values," he said. "So-called tax payers, or one or two story buildings which are being erected in the loop to replace obsolete skyscrapers, are fast becoming sound investments."

Nearly all the city townships showed land value losses from 1935, while building values generally were up. In the country towns both land and building values were up sharply, illustrating the tendency of residential occupancy to move further out.

Clark said there had been an encouraging increase in industrial and commercial building in the outlying parts of Chicago as well as in the suburbs.

New tax rates cannot be figured, according to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, until the state tax commission hands over its books on railroad valuation.

Land Valuable on State Street.

The most valuable land in the city, the assessment indicated, is along the east side of State street between Madison and Washington streets, figured at $15,000 a front foot. The block north was valued at $13,000 or less a front foot. North of Randolph street the highest value was $7,500. South of Madison street values began at $12,500, but were down to $8,500 after crossing Jackson, and fell to $2,300 south of Van Buren street.

Clark explained that a new method of figuring had been adopted under which loop street frontage was figured with a depth of 125 instead of 100 feet. This lifts some of the tax burden from loop owners.

Changes in Assessed Value of Real Estate in County

The following table compares the 1935 and 1939 quadrennial real estate assessments in Cook county. Townships within the city of Chicago are listed separately and the 30 country townships are shown together.

75th Youth Groups Meet Tonight to Plan Council

Plans for the formation of a Chicago Youth Recreation Council will be discussed this evening at a meeting of representatives of 75 youth organizations in the city council finance committee rooms in the city hall. Dr. Philip L. Seman, chairman of the Chicago Recreation commission, will speak.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL.

Edward Morgan, 32 years old, 3520 North Ashland avenue, a retired stationery engineer, died in his home last night of a heart attack.

TUNNEL WORKERS FALL 136 FEET; 1 DIES, 1 LIVES

Arthur Anderson, 33 years old, 5942 Rice street, died in the Jackson Park hospital last night of injuries suffered several hours earlier when he fell 136 feet to the bottom of a tunnel shaft at 75th street and the lake. John Pender, 29, of 4954 South Bell avenue, fell at the same time and was critically injured. The accident occurred when a scaffold at the surface level broke. The shaft leads to the tunnel which connects 75th street mains with the city water filtration plant at 79th street.

Pre-Wrecking Party.

Wrecking of the Great Northern hotel starts shortly. James Snyder, who has had an office there for a decade, invited friends in for a farewell party. When they entered he gave them each a twenty penny nail and a hammer.

"So you will have a place to hang your hat and coat," he explained.

Each guest recklessly pounded one of the big nails into the wall and hung up his hat and coat.

Miss Stein and the Electric Mixer.

Miss Gertrude Stein likes things that go round—gramaphone records, and shooting galleries, and the world, and egg beaters. She told Samuel Steward of Chicago when he was visiting her at her country home in France last summer that she yearned for an American electric mixing machine. Dr. Steward planned to send her one for Christmas, but on account of various technicalities the mixing machine got off only last week.

Dr. Steward had many conversations with the manufacturing company, the French trade commission, the postal authorities, the railway express, even the transcontinental Clipper service. The manufacturing company explained that there had to be special winding of the armature for use abroad, and that a special European continental French type round pin plug had to be attached.

• • •

Finally all the negotiations were completed and Dr. Steward had the mixer in a wooden box ready for shipping when a letter arrived from Miss Stein.

"No, no, no," she wrote. "Twenty-five dollars is a hell of a lot of French francs and there is time for every one to mix things by hand nowadays."

• • •

Dr. Steward sent it along anyhow, with $6.10 in stamps affixed. Had he sent it by Clipper, a method he considered until he found out how much it would cost, he would have had to pay $386. Fare for a person is $350.

Give Welcome to Weizmann, Zionist Leader

Six thousand Chicagoans of the Jewish faith paid honor last night to Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist movement, at a meeting that filled the Civic Opera house and overflowed into the Civic theater. The crowd in the theater heard the program thru an amplifying system.

Dr. Weizmann is in the city for the first time since his appearance on Jewish day at the world's fair of 1933.

He was welcomed back last night by the Most Reverend Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic diocese of Chicago, and Rabbi Solomon Goldman, president of the Zionist movement in America.

Dr. Weizmann spoke on the problem of Jewish refugees.

"It is not to be imagined," he said, "that the Jewish problem would be solved as a result of a victory over the Hitlerite idea. What has happened and is still happening to the great Jewish community of Poland is still unknown and may never be fully known.

"Hitler is not and cannot be the last word in Jewish history. As a people the Jews will survive.

"Guarantee for that already exists in Palestine, which spiritually and physically is becoming the Maginot line of the Jewish people. So far as Palestine is concerned it is essential to maintain the economic structure there and to prepare for the day when once again the question of the Jewish future will come to be considered by the statesmen of the world."

Bishop Sheil said, "Catholics or Protestants who foment religious or racial hatreds are traitors to the religions they profess. . . . Any man or group of men fostering group hatreds is an enemy of religion and of civilization."

Attractive Nursery Motifs

Frederick McNally Becomes President of Hospital Council

Frederick L. McNally, former vice president of Rand McNally & Co., was elected president of the Chicago Hospital council yesterday at the annual meeting in the Palmer House. He succeeds Charles H. Schweppe, who has been president of the council since it was organized in 1936. Mr. Schweppe will continue on the board.

E. E. Salisbury, it was announced, will succeed A. H. Scheidt, who resigned, as executive director.

Reëlected to the board of directors were Dr. A. C. Bachmeyer, the Rev. John W. Barrett, Harry N. Gottlieb, Dr. Irving S. Cutter, Mr. Schweppe, and Robert T. Sherman. Max Epstein was newly elected.

A total membership of 37 institutions was reported, two new hospitals, the Evangelical and the Garfield Park Community, recently joining.

Infant Welfare Has a Record Low in Deaths

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

"The Infant Welfare society was organized to give children life, health, and a chance for happiness," Philip D. Armour, the president, said yesterday at the annual report meeting in the Stevens hotel.

A significant figure, testifying to the success achieved last year, was that reported on the infant mortality rate for babies under the organization's care. On the basic unit of 1,000 the rate was 4.7, or less than one-half of 1 per cent. This was the lowest rate in the 29 years of the organization's history. Interpreted in totals, the figure means that the death loss was only 38 out of 7,996 babies who had the benefit of Infant Welfare care at stations or thru home nursing service.

Statistics for the city as a whole show an approximate mortality rate of 31.3 out of 1,000 live births. The comparison is imperfect, however, since the city's records date from the hour of birth and the society's from the time the baby is registered at a welfare station, usually a few weeks after birth.

The prenatal department, with 1,504 expectant mothers registered, reported 846 delivered cases, with a loss of only one mother. For the city the maternal mortality rate was more than twice that figure. On a budget of $177,331 the society served 15,382 infants, preschool children, and mothers. In the stations there were 79,430 conferences with doctors, and the nurses and nutritionists made 92,185 visits to homes. The society distributed 28,309 pints of cod liver oil.

Respiratory diseases, Dr. Heyworth N. Sanford, medical director, reported, accounted for 45 per cent of the infant mortality. One of the greatest protections against respiratory disorders in babies, he said, was breast feeding.

The 35 centers of the women's auxiliary raised $97,907 last year, made 24,349 babies' garments, and gave 7,957 hours of volunteer service in the stations. Mrs. Vincent P. Otis of Glencoe was elected auxiliary president to succeed Mrs. William Fuller Gregson of Beverly Hills.

All officers and directors were reelected. They are Lucius Teter, chairman; Mr. Armour, president; Lynn A. Williams and Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot Jr., vice presidents; Erskine Wilder, secretary; Donald B. Douglas, treasurer, and George A. Poole Jr., Gordon P. Kelly, and Mrs. Vincent P. Oates, directors.

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

Mackinac Plans Big Three Day Winter Frolic

BY JUDITH CASS.

SEVERAL members of the summer colony at Mackinac Island are planning to visit the island for a winter sports party on Feb. 16, 17, and 18. The John Lewis Cochrans, Miss Joan McArthur and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Selim McArthur; the Peter G. S. Meros, the Howard Peabodys, the junior Tracy Turners, John Turner, and the former Mardi Burnham and her husband, Neil Williams, who habitually summer on the island, plan to enjoy the Mackinac Island winter frolic.

James I. Clarkson is going up with the Meros, and the Stewart and junior Byron Harveys are going if the latter couple returns from Miami Beach in time. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jr. are leaving tonight to visit the Eugene McDonalds in the southern resort. The Stewart Boals and some of the other members of the Snow Chase club are thinking of joining the Mackinac trek and quite a large group of persons from Cincinnati, Detroit, and Cleveland will be going. The Grand hotel will not be open, but several small hotels and guest houses will be, and there will be accommodations for 200 persons.

Ice Crusher to Take Guests to Island.

Special arrangements have been made for the Chief Wawatam, one of the greatest ice crushers in the world, to transport the guests to the island from Mackinaw City, and to return them to the city to catch the train home. Mackinac Island, under the direction of Mayor Robert Doud and the city council, is sponsoring the party, the first of the sort ever held on the island. Heretofore the only crossing in winter has been over the ice on dog sleds. An ice rink will be built on the low central portion of the Grand Hotel golf course, and the stone clubhouse on the course will be used as a shelter.

The slopes of the golf course will be used for skiing and the road between the hotel and golf course will be used for toboggan runs. Fort Hill also will be used for skiing and sliding, and there will be a long, winding bobsled run from Fort Holmes to the lake.

Sleighs and cutters will be available and also horses for ski-joring, and dogs for pulling sleds. On Saturday night there will be an assembly at the John Jacob Astor House for the Mackinac Island winter sports queen. As every one knows, no doubt, there are no automobiles on the island, no factories, and no railroads. The island is hilly and, with its ancient forts and historic buildings, it should be as picturesque a winter scene as could be found anywhere in this country.

Races for Women at Skeeter Regatta.

There are to be several races for women in the first international skeeter championship regatta to be held at Williams Bay on Lake Geneva Saturday and Sunday. There are 15 feminine members of the Williams Bay Skeeter club, among them Miss Sue Vilas, Mrs. Jack Vilas Jr. [Gloria Gartz], Mrs. Harry G. Nye, and Mrs. Chester Granath.

Mrs. Vilas isn't sailing just now, but all during the Northwestern Ice Yachting association regatta last week-end she was out on the ice "looking prettier than ever in a short beaver coat, brown ski pants, and knitted helmet, watching Jack [her husband] run away with the free-for-all championship with the Susie Q II.," our correspondent writes.

Plans Reception for Polish General

Mrs. Richard T. Crane, vice chairman of the Chicago committee for Polish relief, will give a reception on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 14, for Gen. Joseph Haller, cabinet minister of Poland, who is to visit Chicago. That night the Hubert Burnhams will entertain at dinner for the distinguished Pole and the next night Chauncey McCormick will give a dinner at the Casino club for the general.

Mrs. McCormick is leaving at the end of this week for Coconut Grove, Fla., so she will not be here for the party.

Miss Lorraine Marie Roach and Richard Schiller Hosford II., whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Roach of Highland Park. The announcement was made last night at a buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Roach at their home. Miss Roach attended the Sacred Heart convent in Lake Forest and is a graduate of the Roycemore school and Sarah Lawrence college. Mr. Hosford, son of Mrs. Richard Schiller Hosford of Moline, Ill., is a graduate of Phillips Exeter and now is a senior at Williams college. The wedding is planned for June after his graduation. Mr. Hosford came west yesterday for a visit with his fiancée and her family. On Saturday they all will go to Moline, where Mrs. Hosford will entertain for her prospective daughter-in-law.

Hosiery Clox Slice Inches Off the Ankles

BY REA SEEGER.

Ankle lines cause more comment than hats. Most of the approving compliments these days are earned with the newest hosiery with fragile side clox. Such delicate designs accentuate smooth outlines as well as flatter and slenderize. They take inches off thick ankles.

Stunning daytime colors of good golden brown shades do lots toward reviving dark clothes. . . . They're ideal for wear with patent leather footgear. Come sloppy weather and watch the patent leathers come out because they are the neatest, easiest to keep clean footwear ever designed. Patent leather pumps, tie oxfords, or the more fancy half sandal and half pump models shine smartly during dark rainy days.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The woman who grieves because her hair never has the spic and span, well groomed look she envies on other women's heads can do herself some good by investing in a new twosome package just introduced by some famous hair specialists.

This oval package contains an invaluable set of hair glorifiers. One item is a bottle of light brilliantine, the other a bottle of fragrance for the hair. And there's an atomizer, which makes it possible to spray rather than to daub.

Brilliantine, of course, is an essential for the woman with dry hair. And there are times, especially after a permanent or a marcel, when it's a great help to the woman with perfectly normal hair. The trick about using brilliantine is to use it sparingly. Resist the impulse to spray on a lot, remembering that a little goes a long way.

This brilliantine softens the hair and adds luster, and while it is too light and not inclined to make the hair greasy, it too must be used with a delicate hand. Spray a little on the dry ends of the hair and still less on the hair on the crown of the head. It serves as an excellent dressing when properly applied.

The hair fragrance is delightful. It scents the hair charmingly, without drying it in the least. This is obtainable in two scents; our favorite is an airy, rather lemony fragrance that seems just right for hair.

Good Morning!

"I suppose they have him crying again?" remarked the college girl I know best, callously and a bit wearily, when I mentioned having seen the king of the movies in "Judge Hardy and Son."

To which the answer had to be "Yes." Weeping DOES seem to have become a demand performance in a Rooney picture. To show, I suppose, how adroitly Mickey can "run the gamut of emotion."

In this film the illness of Mrs. Hardy proves the softener.

As usual Judge Hardy's son finds himself in assorted difficulties. . . . His car goes to pieces. Three maidens get in his hair. . . . For the first time he becomes a sleuth—and a successful one.

Young Rooney handles his rôle well, mugging comparatively little. Lewis Stone, Fay Holden, Sara Haden, and Cecilia Parker are characteristically pleasing and the girls are brightly portrayed by Ann Rutherford as Polly, whom you know well, Margaret Early—she looks like a Gish—as Clarabelle Lee and Martha O'Driscoll as Elvie. . . .

The story, tho, isn't much. Too forced [I thought].

"OVERTURE TO GLORY."
Produced by Elite Productions, Inc.
Directed by Max Nosseck.
Presented at the Sonotone theater.

Followers of the serious drama, and those interested in the work of the well known Jewish actor, Moishe Oysher, will be interested in "Overture to Glory."

This film, acted by an able cast, tells the story of Joel-David Strashunsky, cantor of the Vilna synagogue, where his voice delighted all hearers. . . . One day from Warsaw comes the Polish composer, Manyushko, to listen, and afterward offer Strashunsky the lead in his opera, "Halka."

The cantor, at the age of 30, makes his debut—a successful one that wings him to the heights of popularity. . . . Away from his wife and child, the cantor falls victim to the lures of a young Polish countess. . . . The death of his son brings wreckage, physical and mental. . . . The tragic ending to the tale occurs in his home town—on the altar of the synagogue.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Love Thy Neighbor, Huh?

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 31.—It is of more than passing interest that the two girls who are up for the academy award this year [or at least the two most prominently named] are Bette Davis and Vivien Leigh. . . . It is interesting because these two sort of prove that sweetness and light are not worth their weight in gold.

On this side of the Atlantic Miss Davis has been a screen meanie for some seasons. . . . Miss Leigh, as Scarlett O'Hara, hardly is the type of squab you'd bring home to the family and introduce as your wife. . . . The family might not object, but it would be embarrassing if she slugged the pater and kicked your younger sister's teeth down her throat.

Shrewish Miss Davis galloped to her first considerable fame as Mildred in "Of Human Bondage," and I defy you to cull from history or fiction a gal who could match her in plain orneryness. . . . This Mildred had all the appealing qualities of a coyote disappointed in love.

The public loved it. . . . The meaner she got, the more ornery she behaved, the greater the reaction of movie audiences. . . . When she told off poor Leslie Howard, twitted him about his lameness, lampooned his ineffectuality, you could almost hear audiences muttering: "That's telling him, Mildred."

It's the same way with Vivien Leigh, as Scarlett. . . . When she shoots down a Union soldier northern audiences are pleased.

The lady sitting next to me at the preview heaved a sigh of profound pleasure as the soldier toppled down the stairs into a pool of Max Factor ketchup. . . . "Good," the lady breathed as the poor soldier did an end-over-end and died the death of a dog. . . . She was applauding the ornery Miss Leigh.

In "The Women" catty Rosalind Russell won the bravos. . . . The more insulting Rosalind became, the better the audiences liked it. . . . In "These Three" trouble maker Bonita Granville was the audience favorite. . . . In "Destry Rides Again," when Marlene Dietrich slipped a Mickey Finn into the cowboy's drink, audiences volleyed approval.

Mae West long has been a favorite because she victimized gullible young heroes. . . . This is all very strange.

No doubt about it, the villains of the screen enjoy greater success than those who retail sweetness. . . . Audiences don't want saccharine heroines or heroes. . . . They want ornery individuals. . . . Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Basil Rathbone, Brian Donlevy, Charles Bickford, Gene Lockhart, Ward Arnold—all of them have cashed in heavily on villainry.

Charles Laughton, the late Lon Chaney, Lee Bowman, Miriam Hopkins, and Robert Montgomery are others who have won applause because they thumbed their noses at the dictum to love thy neighbor as thyself.

At the preview of "Night Must Fall," the audience expressed shuddering delight when Montgomery killed the inoffensive old lady and buried her in the patio. . . . So far as I know, the old lady was a fine character and Montgomery was completely offensive, but there was no hesitation on the part of movie audiences. . . . They wanted the old lady to get killed by fair means or foul, and the fouler the better.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke is enjoying a plentiful success out here because his features lend themselves readily to villainous acts. . . . When Sir Cedric appears on the screen, the audience knows that it will get a run for its money, with a couple of ill winds tossed in for good measure.

When he leers at a girl, the movie fans know that she is coming to no good end, and they are right. . . . Sir Cedric, in real life, is a nice gentleman, but turn him loose in a script and he can conjure up more hell than Old Nick. . . . The audiences enjoy him to the last murder.

Students of, and experts in, behaviorism, explain this audience reaction to villains and shrews on the grounds that law-abiding John Q. Public and his wife, Joan Public, become so fed up with their own conservatism that they get a vicarious thrill from such players as Bette Davis, Vivien Leigh, Tallulah Bankhead, et cetera.

The performers, in other words, are expressing the omega of alpha personalities. . . . If this is so, and I do not wish to quibble with the psycho-analysts who understand behaviorism, all of us are suspect. . . . If I go to the cinema and enjoy Bette Davis' "Mildred," woe indeed is me, and that goes for you, too. . . . If we abjure sweetness and light in favor of shrews, vixens, and villains, then we are south of the border in all actuality.

The evidence is regrettable and irrefutable. . . . We DO prefer the shrews, vixens, and villains. . . . Otherwise, how can you explain the fact that shrewish Miss Davis and vixenish Miss Leigh are up for the academy award? I leave you with that astonishing query.

The Housewife

The newest roasting racks for meats and fowl are adjustable so that almost any size of roast may be accommodated. They consist of two racks of rustproof metal. Set them on a broiling tray, turn the oven to the desired temperature, and almost at once the meat will be seared, sealing the juices and preventing shrinking. It is easy to use and easy to keep clean. Its price is small.

"AS FOR ECONOMY, YOU GET THE EQUIVALENT OF

2 THICK TENDER MADE HAM STEAKS Plus"

George Rector
FOOD CONSULTANT
WILSON & CO.

The reason is
No costly oven shrinkage

Wilson's Tender Made Ham costs less on your table than you have realized. And here are the reasons why: The longer a piece of meat remains in the oven the more it shrinks. Every woman knows that.

Ordinary ham requires from 16 to 22 minutes to the pound to cook. In this time approximately 25% or a quarter of it shrinks away in the oven. For example, after cooking a 12-lb. ordinary ham you have only about 9 lbs. left to serve. This is what we call costly oven shrinkage. Wilson's Tender Made Ham, due to the Wilson Secret Process, requires only 5 minutes per pound for heating. Because it remains in the oven so short a time, there is practically no shrinkage—no loss of paid-for pounds. That is how a Tender Made Ham gives you the equivalent of two thick center cut steaks plus, as compared to ordinary ham. That is also why a 12-lb. Tender Made Ham, market weight, will serve practically as many people as a 16-lb. ordinary ham, market weight. In addition, you save costly waste because a Tender Made Ham is tender and enjoyable from end to end. Have you served one lately?

'Go-with-Its' Important to Any Spaghetti

A pert, attractive salad does for a dinner what a crisp, white collar does for last year's dress. There are salads and more salads in Mary Meade's "Everyday Adventures in Salads" and a variety of dressings in "Simple Salad Dressings." The booklets sell for 3 cents each at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, or they will be mailed for 5 cents each in stamps.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I can think of nothing more unappealing than plain, cooked spaghetti with no sauce of any kind, but I can think of few foods which are eaten with more relish than spaghetti with the right kind of "go-with-its."

Take savory spaghetti, for example. It's different and it's all its title would indicate.

Savory Spaghetti.

[Serves Six.]

½ pound spaghetti, boiled in salted water
1 pound lean pork, diced
1 large sweet onion, diced or sliced
1 can tomato soup
1 cup water
2 cups grated cheese
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Drain spaghetti when it is tender. Fry pork and onions together until both are browned. Combine all ingredients, pour into casserole, cover, and bake at 350 degrees, moderate heat, for 45 minutes to an hour.

Spaghetti and corn stuffed green peppers entice the appetite, too.

Spaghetti and Corn Stuffed Peppers.

[Serves Four.]

4 large green peppers
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup canned tomatoes or sliced fresh tomatoes
1½ teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 cup cooked spaghetti
¼ pound pork sausage

Remove stems and seeds from peppers. Boil 7 minutes in salted water and drain. Cook onion until tender in butter. Add tomatoes, sugar, and salt and cook until thick. Mix corn and macaroni with tomato sauce and stuff the peppers. Place a thin, flat sausage cake, the size of the pepper tops, over each pepper and bake in a greased casserole in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Leftover baked ham may be used for ham and spaghetti scallop.

Ham and Spaghetti Scallop.

[Serves Four.]

3 cups spaghetti, boiled in salted water
1 cup diced cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 small can button mushrooms
2 cups medium white sauce
Grated cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese and place in a buttered casserole. Sprinkle cheese over the top. Bake at 350 degrees for half an hour until hot and browned.

Most popular and beloved of all spaghetti dishes is, of course, Italian spaghetti. The sauce is all-important. The spaghetti is cooked full length in boiling salted water and coiled, piping hot, in a large serving dish. Then the hot sauce is poured over it, or, better, spaghetti and sauce are served from different containers, so that there's no opportunity for the sauce to become mixed with the spaghetti before it reaches the diner's plate. Roman or Parmesan cheese is served separately.

Our files contain many recipes for spaghetti sauce, basically all alike in that they contain meat, tomatoes, onions, spices, and a bit of garlic. This particular recipe hasn't been printed for several years.

Italian Spaghetti Sauce.

1 quart canned tomatoes
¾ teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
½ bay leaf
4 whole cloves
½ teaspoon mace
2 teaspoons sugar
½ pound finely chopped veal
3 tablespoons olive oil

Put tomatoes thru a strainer and cook with salt, garlic, onion, pepper, celery, spices, and sugar for 20 minutes at simmering temperature. Remove the garlic clove after about 5 minutes. Brown veal in olive oil and add to tomato sauce. Allow the mixture to simmer for an hour, or an hour and a half, until it is as thick as heavy cream. Pour over hot spaghetti and serve with grated hard cheese.

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage, Cynthia Brentiford is sentenced to prison. An innocent scapegoat of the crook, Rory Clarke, she hides her plight from her fiancé, Michael Alloway. At Honebyker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. Bessie manages to change places with Cynthia and let Cynthia have her two weeks' leave of absence to marry Michael. Then Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to his job in Malta alone. She goes back to prison. There she discovers she is going to have a baby and manages to break prison. Explaining her silence as a lapse of memory, she goes to stay with Michael's mother and sister Marion at Cloutleigh. Rory Clarke trails her there and blackmails her. Thru a phone call, Scotland Yard connects Cynthia with Rory Clarke. Detective Stevens comes down to Cloutleigh. Marion, pretending to be young Mrs. Alloway to the detective, learns enough to arouse her suspicions. Planning to fly to Malta with Gen. Sir William Merrowbridge, Cynthia is arrested at the airport and taken to Scotland Yard for questioning. Her marriage on a date when she was supposed to be in prison clears her. Cynthia learns Bessie has lost her job thru Clarke's blackmailing and gives her a note of recommendation to Marion. Cynthia arrives safely at Malta, but Detective Stevens is still investigating at Cloutleigh.

INSTALMENT XXII.
THE PHOTOGRAPH.

Stevens was under the impression that no one in Cloutleigh knew that he was a detective except Miss Alloway and her housemaid. That was the townsman's point of view. For Jessie had lost no time in spreading the news in the village that they had had a visit from a real Scotland Yard detective, who had put up at the inn.

"I see you've found me out," he said ruefully. "And I'll own up I would like to know all you can tell me about Stainham. We don't know that he's got anything to do with a crime, but we've got to check up on him."

"There isn't so much to tell," said Mr. Tottle. "He was wearing the right clothes for a gentleman of these parts, which is more than the travelers ever do. He used to stand around in the bar—and you could see from his room habits that he was a gentleman."

"What was he like to look at?"

"About your height. With one of those modern mustaches—clipped like a yew hedge. Young fellow under 30, I should say."

That fitted the description given of Clarke by the detectives who had failed to arrest him at Paddington.

Stevens opened his bag and brought out a wallet with concertina sides. The wallet opened out like one of those letter cards that give eight views of the town. It showed eight photographs of youngish men and one of the photographs was of Rory Clarke.

"Is he in that lot, Mr. Tottle?" asked Stevens.

The landlord studied the photographs, taking time over each.

"No, sir."

Stevens reversed the wallet and showed another set of eight photographs. And one of the photographs was of Rory Clarke—after it had been treated by an artist. The artist had painted in "one of those modern mustaches" and the soft collar and tweed cap which Clarke had been wearing at Paddington.

"That's Mr. Stainham!" exclaimed the landlord. "Only that isn't the cap he was wearing down here."

Stevens felt a glow of pride. Stainham was Rory Clarke, all right. Mr. Tottle was saying:

"All the same, I can't believe that man is a criminal. If he's that, why should the Alloway ladies be friendly with him?"

"Miss Alloway may have thought he was some one else," said Stevens astutely.

"Not Miss Alloway—young Mrs. Michael's the one who spent 10 minutes or more with him in the parlor here that morning," obliged Tottle promptly. "But she's gone off to Malta to join her husband, so I hear."

"Just my luck," said Stevens, as if this were news to him. He busied himself with a paper and the landlord pottered off. Stevens lit a pipe and stared out of the rain bespattered window.

"Stainham is Rory Clarke. Mrs. Michael Alloway had a private conversation with him. And Mrs. Michael is the living image of Rory Clarke's girl. But she isn't Clarke's girl because she was out and about, getting married and so on, while Clarke's girl was in Honebyker. . . . But wait a bit. While Mrs. Michael was staying at the Manor and talking in this inn to Clarke and—possibly—ringing up Scotland Yard to arrest Clarke on his return to London, Clarke's girl was at large, having escaped from prison. She's at large still. Therefore on those facts only Mrs. Michael Alloway may be Clarke's girl, protection certificate or no! Let's assume that Clarke's girl—known down here at least as Mrs. Michael Alloway—was being followed and persecuted by Clarke. Blackmailed, probably. She shook him off and got away to Malta. What will Clarke do next? Either give her away out of spite, if he can. Or, if he can't or decides not to, he'll blackmail whoever is keeping her secret. Probably he's spied out the land already. For instance, there's the sister-in-law. The one who led me up the garden."

It was with a certain satisfaction that Stevens pulled on his coat again, turned up the collar, and set off thru the misty lanes, for the second time, to Cloutleigh Manor.

Half an hour earlier, another visitor from London had passed up Manor lane. This was Bessie Stockley, with Cynthia's card of introduction in her bag. She had not forgotten Cynthia's injunction to take a few days' rest before starting work again, but she was shrewd enough to want to make sure of the job first and take her holiday afterward.

Country bred, she did not view the high fern-grown banks and deep ruts of the lane with the dismay felt by such a deep-dyed townsman as Detective Sergeant Stevens; but she heaved a sigh for the busy life she had had to give up. To be a prison wardress might seem merely monotonous and grim to Cynthia; to Bessie it had been a coveted position, attained only by hard work. She did not reproach her beloved Miss Cynthia, however, in the matter. "I started the whole tangle when first I took her place in Honebyker," she reminded herself loyally.

The next bend in the lane brought her within view of the manor. It certainly had a reassuring look, built so snugly against the side of the hill; even on a rainy day like this its red brick and high windows looked cheerful and safe.

Bessie made her way round to the back entrance and sent in the card of introduction Cynthia had given her. After rather a long wait, she was taken to the morning room, where Miss Marion Alloway awaited her.

Marion was turning over the card in her fingers and frowning a little. Her voice was curt as she said:

"Good afternoon. Sit down. I don't quite understand what Mrs. Michael Alloway wants me to do for you."

Bessie flushed, but she was resolved not to alienate this rather high-handed young lady if she could help it.

"I don't think it was in Miss Cynthia's mind that I should be any trouble to you, madam," she said carefully. "It's just that I needed a few days' rest and quiet and she sent me down here to a room in the village."

At the name "Miss Cynthia" Marion's expression softened. She valued loyalty above all qualities.

"You've known my sister-in-law a long time, I gather?" she said, glancing again at the card. "She speaks of you as a childhood friend."

"Yes, madam." Quietly Bessie added a little sketch of the early years that she and Cynthia had shared so happily. "Sir John would never allow any difference to be made between us until we were of an age to go away to school, and then no one could have been more generous to me than he was. He let me choose what sort of a living I wanted to make and he stood my friend in every way until his death. And Miss Cynthia's been just as kind. She helped me to this little holiday and when I said I was looking for a place in the country she gave me the introduction here. She thought it was just possible you might know of something for me."

Marion was by now considerably mollified. Her suspicion that Cynthia considered the domestic staff at the manor inadequate was soother; she was, in fact, ready to do exactly what Cynthia had hoped—offer Bessie employment. But she insisted, of course, on doing it in her own way.

Bessie waited respectfully.

Feb. 1, 1940.

Swing into action, but be sure it is constructive, because on a day like today it could very easily be destructive. The month of February is not likely to be any too calm for the majority. It is not in harmony with the year and it holds too much of last year's vibrations to offer hope for a quiet or peaceful month. Today's birthday children have a strong year ahead and they should take advantage of its expansive benefits.

Woman Pioneer Quits Business to Enter College

BY MARCIA WINN.

Mrs. E. A. Seeley.

It's nothing new now for life to begin at 40, but it was 30 or 35 years ago. Especially for a woman.

Some 35 years ago when it was a mark of excellence to be able to tool a four-in-hand thru a narrow business street and women occupied their time painting china and burning Spencerian little designs in wood, a quiet, blue-eyed little woman who had been Emma Hawley of Buffalo shocked her family by announcing her intention of entering the business world.

Her decision had the effect of a minor cataclysm. Members of her family had been educators—her cousin, David Starr Jordan, had become president of Leland Stanford university—but this was different. It would make her almost declassé. Nevertheless, she did, under her married name, Mrs. E. A. Seeley.

She began by designing art novelties, hand painted satin candy boxes, pincushions, and bags, the ornate oddities of the Edwardian era. She was the first to make candle shades out of book linen. One large house employed her services as designer of their entire line of baby hampers and bassinets.

Later she went into business on her own initiative, designing art novelties and becoming her own traveling salesman from Buffalo to Denver. She succeeded prodigiously. Her work became so outstanding that Lord and Taylor in New York once devoted an entire window display to her articles. She was the first to use black as an accent, a trick later made famous by Elsie De Wolfe in her decorating.

When the world war came, she dropped her business to take charge of an important department in the Curtiss airplane factory at Buffalo, where she directed the making of model airplanes embodying new and secret designs for war planes. For this she was cited by President Wilson.

After the war she shifted her vision. She began to study interior decorating. Over the protests of friends she rented a shop from Vincent Astor for $5,000 a year, and succeeded. She became nationally known for her color sense. Her Chinese lamp shades alone sold for $150. She made semi-annual buying trips to Europe, not once failing to sell everything she bought.

In 1936, due to the popularity of her English chintzes and linens, she decided to feature these alone, and moved to Chicago to become the only woman fabric jobber in the United States. And now after 35 years of it, she has retired.

"I was getting a little tired of the fabric business," she said demurely. "I am going to attend classes at Northwestern.

"I know all about business, but I've decided maybe I'm not socially adjusted, so it's time I started. I'm going to study sociology and psychology. Who knows? Perhaps I will get a new idea. It is time to change."

Quarreling, If Not Habitual, Easily Solved

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It was pleasant just to be there at the family holiday gathering, and look on at two brothers and two sisters so evidently deeply fond of each other and not afraid to show it. All grownup they were—married and with children.

"Did you ever quarrel when you were at home, growing up together?" I asked.

There was a pause, then a reminiscent grin ran, more or less, around the room.

"Yes, I guess we did," admitted one sister.

"Come clean!" broke in one of the brothers. "You know we did. Didn't we, mother?" This to the elderly mother of four, who replied with a quizzical smile:

"A little, I must admit. But it never worried me because it didn't ever last. I knew you really loved each other. I didn't take it seriously."

On the other hand, I know families in which the children, no more fond of each other, grew up without enough quarreling to be worthy of the name. I don't believe one can lay down rules or recipes, exactly.

A good many factors enter into this quarreling business. The temperaments of the children are one factor. Where there are one, perhaps two, very dominating natures, quarreling is apt to ensue. A group of children with very strong and very different individualities also are apt to cross words frequently. A mother and father who quarrel before the children set an example which may result in discord among their children. A completely laissez-faire attitude on the parents' part may allow squabbling among brothers and sisters to become a fixed habit.

While I don't condone quarreling and think a wise mother and father can cope with it successfully, the fact remains that in a family several human beings of varied physical and emotional make-ups live daily in very close proximity, and it is not surprising that conflicts should occasionally arise and sparks fly. This is different from serious and habitual quarreling; that brings ugliness into the family atmosphere, and where it exists should certainly be looked into and be corrected.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

If your partner is squeezed out of the setting trick by a wily declarer, there is little to be done about it except to grin and bear it. The least one can do, however, is not assist the declarer by consumating the squeeze for him. West, in today's hand, had to resist cashing a perfectly good trick to allow his partner to guard two other suits.

South, dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no tr'p [1]	Pass
3 no trump [2]	Pass	Pass	Pass

[1] A shaded raise, induced by the profusion of ten spots.

[2] An overbid, since his one no trump bid was a minimum.

West opened normally with the queen of spades. Dummy's king won and the diamond ten was led. East covered and South took the ace. Three more rounds of diamonds followed, ending in the dummy. East discarded a club and a spade, West a heart. Next the heart finesse to the queen was taken and, when it held, declarer was in somewhat of a quandary as to his next play. For lack of a better plan, and in order to confuse the defenders as to the club situation, South led the club queen. [Naturally, he could not know that East had both the ace and king.] East took the king and returned a spade. Declarer ducked and West won, leading a third round. South, in with the ace, led another club and West won with the jack. Now was the crucial moment! Had West cashed his perfectly good spade, East could not have found a safe discard. The situation was:

EAST

SOUTH

Obviously the jack of spades, if led, is East-West's last trick. Dummy discards the club ten and, whatever East lets go, declarer "coppers." A heart discard establishes both hearts; a club sets up South's nine.

West did not fall into the trap. He led the nine of hearts and South could take no trick except the heart ace. Thus, the contract was defeated.

★ Your Stars Today ★

By WYNN

Thursday, Feb. 1.

Here is what the wise man calls a good day; but it is good to only the wise, for it offers opportunity to be responsible for worthy promises and to collect on similar promises from others. Don't look for free tickets to happiness.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead brings up past limitations, if this is your birthday, in ways that could cause active resentment, and then loss, changes; so look ahead. Wait for optimism, tolerance. Danger: Feb. 25-March 8, July 7-27, Nov. 30-Dec. 11.

Vermont Artist Offers Best in Swedish Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Swedish-American Art association is holding its annual nationwide exhibit of paintings and sculpture in the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers. There are oils, water colors, and prints in the exhibit, which is, on the whole, pleasant, tho not exciting.

The work has been sent from many parts of the country and is by living Swedish-American artists and artists of Swedish descent.

As one looks thru the exhibition the finest picture in it seems to be the excellently handled "Red Bridge" by Cecil Larson, who is a Vermont painter. The painting is a winter landscape with the red covered bridge in the immediate foreground flanked by birch trees. In the distance are farmhouses and fields under snow and the landscape retreats until it comes up against a range of hills which stretches, wooded and rocky, along the horizon. The nuances of color in the background are a delight to the eye.

Axel Linus, who has lived in Chicago but is now in Texas with a trailer [so we are told, to our intense envy], shows two fine western landscapes, one of cacti, "Evening Glow, Arizona," and the other even more beautiful and thrilling, "Mountain Pass, Texas."

In an unusual technique, a picking out with paint, is the delightful "Winter Scene from Gotland" by Annie Jacobson. The "Girl in Red Dress" by Mary C. Peterson gives a cheerless effect, she looks so wan, pale, and listless. Iron, Miss Peterson, and more iron, the prescription is practically forced from one in view of the color of that skin, the disposition of that figure. This should be no model but a patient!

"Twenty-Five Foot Lots" by Grace Spongberg has plenty of snap to it, and intelligent handling of whites. The "Self-Portrait" by Gus Wick is challenging, very well done. "Hill Top" by Thomas Hall offers a stormy interlude.

Minnie A. Carlson shows a decorative flower arrangement, "Early Morning," and the "Phlox" of Ada Enander should not be too hurriedly passed. Lydia D. Pohl's "Early Snow" is a friendly summing up of autumn.

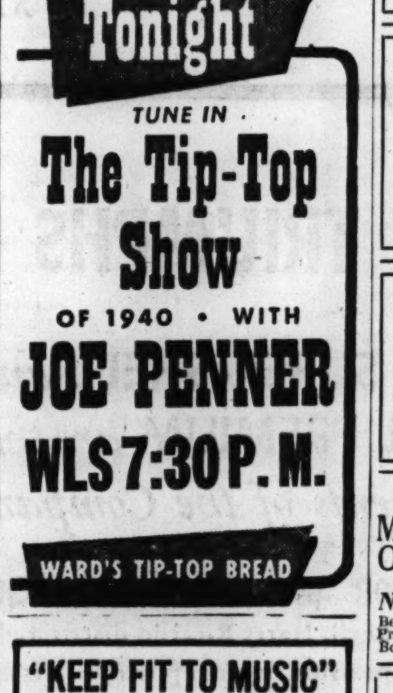
A likable show—with the "Red Bridge" outstanding—and the "Red Bridge" has been selected to be sent to the American collection in Stockholm.

BLAKE ANSWERS

You've Right to Her Company.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am not bad looking, but I am the strong, silent type. I like her, but I am afraid to speak to her and she to me, because our classmates tease us. She is the lively type. GEORGE K."

I'll bet other boys are her friends, so why shouldn't you be one, too?



Episcopal Convention Declines to Alter Rule for Electing Bishops

An effort to change the method of electing bishops in the Episcopal diocese of Chicago to give laymen a more prominent part was defeated yesterday at the final sessions of the 103d convention of the diocese at St. Peter's church, 621 Belmont avenue.

The diocese is one of a few in the country in which the clergy select their candidate for bishop with the laity exercising only veto power. The proposed change, offered by the Rev. Edward L. Aldworth, of Batavia, called for concurrent voting by clergy and laity.

The Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins, rector emeritus of the Church of the Redeemer, 5550 Blackstone avenue, argued against the change. He said clergy vows, including obedience to the bishop, gave them priority in the selection of their superior. The Rev. John B. Hubbard of Park Ridge in reply pointed out that laity select their pastors. A similar change was defeated 10 years ago.

TWO STARTLING NEW GASOLINES WIN MOTORISTS IN CHICAGO

Thousands more gallons of New Super-Shell and New Shell Premium rushed to meet demand!

We knew the New Super-Shell and the New Shell Premium were the finest motor fuels ever offered you. But who could tell that the news would travel so fast? Our refineries are working night and day. Tank cars are on the way with thousands more gallons of these great new gasolines! Your neighborhood Shell Dealer is ready to serve you.

Quick Facts on NEW SUPER-SHELL

Q. Is it higher in anti-knock?
A. Yes—much! Try NEW SUPER-SHELL on the steepest hill you can find. You can feel the difference!

Q. Is NEW SUPER-SHELL quick starting?
A. Yes! NEW SUPER-SHELL is the fastest starting regular grade of motor fuel we've ever made! Check it with a stop watch!

Q. How about economy?
A. Just test it! NEW SUPER-SHELL is made by Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS," so the improvement in performance qualities means increased savings on Stop-and-Go —the costliest kind of driving.

Q. Does NEW SUPER-SHELL cost more to make?
A. Yes—but costs you no more to buy.

Quick Facts on NEW SHELL PREMIUM

Q. Is its anti-knock stepped up?
A. Decidedly! If your car's anti-knock requirement is far above the average, NEW SHELL PREMIUM will amaze you with its smooth, steady, knockless power!

Q. Quick starting?
A. Like a flash! We know of none faster!

Q. Better mileage?
A. Absolutely! Because NEW SHELL PREMIUM is also made by Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" you can expect increased savings on your costly Stop-and-Go.

Q. What about the price?
A. Costs plenty more to make, but costs you no more than the usual extra price.

TWO NEW TRIUMPHS FOR SHELL'S SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

NEW SUPER-SHELL and NEW SHELL PREMIUM are the latest achievements of the Company...

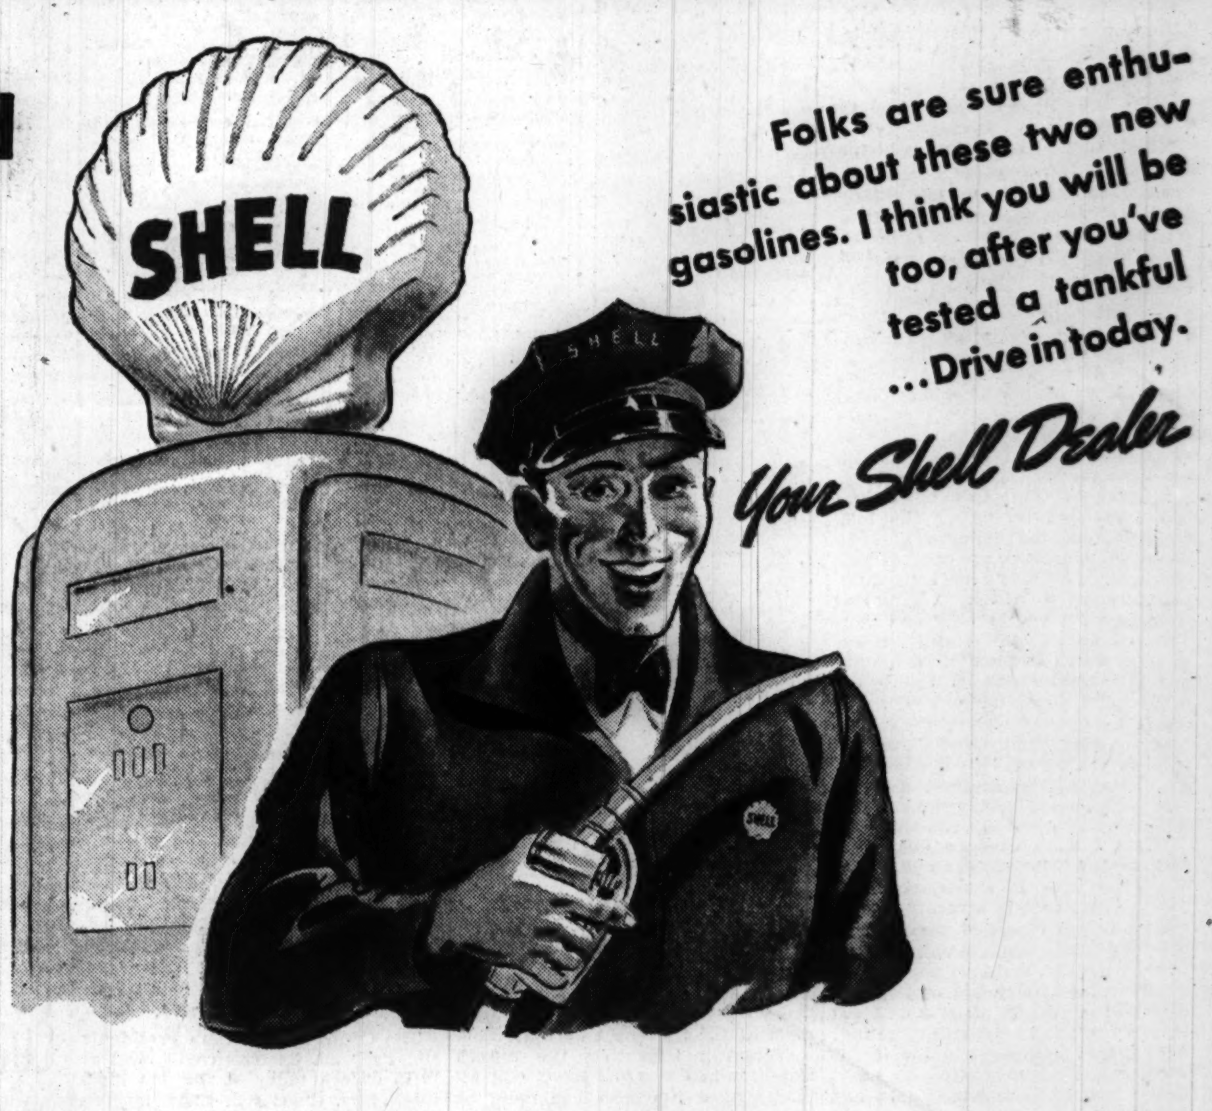
FIRST TO SPONSOR ANTI-KNOCK RESEARCH... Under the sponsorship of Shell, Harry Ricardo discovered principles that made high compression engines possible. His experiments in flame propagation and action of aromatic hydrocarbons led to the development of Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" in refining.

FIRST TO PRODUCE 100 OCTANE GASOLINE... Shell first produced 100 Octane Gasoline commercially... instrumental in bringing aviation to its present high development. Shell produced approximately 30% of all aircraft fuel used in the United States in 1939.

FIRST TO RE-FORM GASOLINE—and NOW Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS" saves you more money on Stop-and-Go... The refining process that makes NEW SUPER-SHELL and NEW SHELL PREMIUM possible is Shell's "BALANCING PROCESS." There are many different tests by which the performance of a gasoline can be measured. "Balancing" means that no one performance characteristic is stressed at the expense of another—we don't "rob Peter to pay Paul." As a result every drop of both these fuels is usable in your motor. Waste is reduced. Economy increased. Stop-and-Go costs you less.



To get full advantage of these new balanced motor fuels, do not dilute them with ordinary gasolines.

ILLINI LOSE 3 PLAYERS FOR NOTRE DAME GAME

CLUBS MAY ASK YEAR'S DELAY ON LANDIS RULING

Upsets 1940 Farm System Plans.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The majors, and the minors as well, may decide to go to their own court and request Commissioner K. M. Landis for a delay in execution of baseball's so-called farm system.

Two weeks have elapsed since the commissioner, long an enemy of baseball's chain store evils, promulgated his famous five points which if enforced, would leave only traces of the system by which a few major league organizations retain control of the player supply.

And after two weeks of studying the commissioner's interpretations the major clubs hardest hit by the orders from the throne room are still running in circles trying to figure how, with spring coming on, they can keep their minor league babes alive for at least another season. Meanwhile, the big leaguers without extensive minor league connections are merely chuckling over the misery of their unfortunate associates.

Insists on Direct Agreements.

What has caused all the confusion is No. 5 of the five points recently set up as law by the commissioner. This is the one aimed at working agreements which are so arranged that one big league club can put together a chain embracing scores of young players. The annoying No. 5 was put together by Landis in the following language:

"Working agreements must be executed by the club actually making same and must not be executed in the names of affiliated or subsidiary clubs to whom the major or other higher classification club supplies the necessary funds therefor by loans, advances, capital stock subscriptions, player purchases, or other methods whatsoever."

What this means is that a major league club with chain store inclinations can't hook up with a Double AA minor club and feed money on one excuse or another to the latter so that it in turn can pass the money down the line to Class A1, classes A, B, etc. In this way big league money supports the chain, working agreements are made in return for the financial aid and the players caught in the chain are the victims.

May Ask Year's Delay.

What the commissioner wants, and will get if No. 5 is enforced, are working agreements minus the chain feature. For instance the White Sox could have an agreement with St. Paul whereby the latter would be furnished with players or money in return for "first pick" privileges. St. Paul also could have agreements with minor clubs of a lower classification. But such agreements couldn't be made with money supplied by the Sox. The agreements must be direct connections.

Many of the working agreements already made for this season are based on the features outlawed by No. 5. Big league money has been passed down the line to assure rental of ball parks, etc. Since No. 5 was broadcast two big league outfits, the Yankees and Cardinals, have announced the agreements have been abandoned. So the major clubs now up to their necks in confusion and also the Association of Minor Leagues plan on asking Landis for a year in which to rearrange their households.

MacPHAIL TO SPEAK.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31 (AP).—A critical review of the recent rules and proposals of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, has been promised by President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow night when he appears as the main speaker at the Boston baseball writers' annual dinner.

Two members of the Red Sox and one of the Bees will receive the writers' awards. Joe Cronin, Sox manager, has been voted a plaque for performing Boston's outstanding feat of 1939, leading his team to five straight victories over the New York Yankees. Ted Williams, the Red Sox's hard hitting outfielder, has been designated for the most valuable Boston player award, and Eddie Miller of the Bees has been voted the outstanding rookie's trophy.

LAST OF NOVICES REGISTER FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

Savoy A. C. Enters 70 for Coliseum Tourney.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Registration for Chicago's three neighborhood Golden Gloves shows which will start next week was completed last night with the final examination of novice boxers in Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street.

Two hundred and ninety-nine boxers appeared for physical examinations, while Wilding Pictures company of Detroit took movies for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE business survey. All except 16 of the boys passed the corps of examining physicians. There were 27 open division boxers included in the group. Among them were Arthur [Pete] Altizer, 124th Field artillery armory bantamweight; Stanley Murczek, 1940 Illinois Athletic club welterweight champion; John Matula, Polish Roman Catholic union, who won the 1939 novice Golden Gloves light-heavyweight title; Joe Chuckro, welterweight; Walter Kanzler, light heavyweight; Warren Tekip, lightweight; Jim Sarenella, 1939 west section novice Golden Gloves flyweight finalist; Dick Stone, flyweight, and Carlo Rattazzi, lightweight, who has won 34 of 37 bouts.

Madison A. C. Coach Confident.

The latter six are members of the Madison Athletic club. Jack Biggerstaff, Madison A. C. boxing director, is confident they will make things interesting for opponents in the tournament for the city championships in the Coliseum Feb. 20, 21, and 22.

This tournament—the Chicago championships—will determine the eight city champions who will enter the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium the following week to fight against the winners from 45 cities.

Experienced boxers still may enter this Coliseum tournament. Entries will be accepted until midnight Sunday and a physical examination for these boys will be held a week from Friday evening in Trafton's gymnasium.

Chicago Colors Blue and White.

Each Chicago champion will receive a golden glove and his defeated opponent in the final match Feb. 22 will be awarded a silver glove. The Chicago team of eight will be uniformed for the Tournament of Champions. The colors of the Chicago squad will be blue and white, the reverse arrangement of the colors worn by the Chicagoland team against New York. Blue trunks trimmed with white and blue jerseys trimmed with white constitute the uniform.

Last night's Golden Gloves candidates were given an unexpected treat when Steve Souris, 1937 Gary sectional Golden Gloves lightweight winner, sparred four rounds, two each with Joe Marshall and Jack Cooper, during the ceremonies in Trafton's.

Lightweight Is 6 Feet 3 Inches!

The long and short of it was represented last night by Frank Ricks of 5957 Prairie avenue, who weighs 133 pounds and is 6 feet 3 inches tall, and Art Powell of 3157 Prairie avenue, who weighs 112 pounds and is 4 feet 8 inches tall.

Ralph Manning, novice middleweight, a sophomore at Tilden Tech High school, was the third of three brothers to pass his medical test. The others are Edward, open bantamweight, and Tom, novice welterweight. They are members of the Polish Roman Catholic union, of which Ted Bogan is coach.

A Chicago team championship trophy will be awarded at the Coliseum. The Savoy Athletic club is making a determined effort to take this trophy. Seventy amateur boxers were entered yesterday in the Coliseum tournament by Robert Mackie. These 70 boys will receive letters requesting them to appear for examination Feb. 9.

The Savoy will be represented by 15 boxers in the welterweight class, 12 each in the lightweight and middleweight classes, 10 in the light heavyweight class, and nine in the featherweights. The other classes are smaller, but there are six heavyweights.

Repeats National Title Victory

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., by defeating Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., yesterday repeated her victory in the 1939 national women's golf final to reach the semi-finals of Miami Biltmore tournament.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Patty Barely Averts Loss in Florida Golf

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP).—Three of the nation's top ranking women golfers and a comely outsider, Shirley Ann Johnson of Chicago, survived two rounds of play today to reach the semi-finals of the annual Miami-Biltmore tournament.

The others were Patty Berg of Minneapolis, attempting a comeback after an appendectomy last fall and seeking the tourney title for the fifth time; Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., the national champion, and Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., former southern champion and Curtis cup star.

Beats Tourney Medalist.

In tomorrow's 18 hole semi-finals Miss Berg will oppose Miss Miley and Miss Jameson will play Miss Johnson.

Miss Johnson scored a surprise victory this afternoon by defeating the tournament medalist, Grace Amory of Palm Beach, Fla., 2 and 1, after winning this morning from Neoma Cupie of Toledo, O., 4 and 2. Out in 40, to 41 for Shirley Ann, Miss Amory led, 1 up, at the turn. They halved the next four holes before Miss Johnson rallied to win the 14th, 15th, and 16th and end her triumph with a half at the 17th.

Reënact National Final.

Miss Berg played magnificent golf in the second round this morning, requiring only 61 strokes for 15 holes to defeat Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., 4 and 3, but was forced to rally in the afternoon, after a shaky start, to eliminate tall, long hitting Clara Callender of Long Beach, Cal., 2 and 1. Miss Callender was 2 up on the 1938 national champion thru 10 holes, but from there on lost accuracy with her tee shots, and each lapse proved fatal.

Finalists of last year's National tournament battled in the third round feature, in which Miss Jameson squeezed out a 1 up victory over Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., runner-up for the 1939 national title. Miss Jameson scored a 79, Dorothy an 80. After being 3 down for 14 holes Dorothy rallied, but failed to square the match on the 18th when she barely missed a long putt.

Ellamae Williams of Chicago was eliminated this morning by Miss Kirby, 4 and 3.

Summary of today's matches:

SECOND ROUND.

Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., beat Mrs. Leon Solomon, Memphis, Tenn., 4 and 3.

Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., beat Ellamae Williams, Chicago, 4 and 3.

Patty Berg, Minneapolis, Minn., beat Louise Suggs, Lithia Springs, Ga., 4 and 3.

Clara Callender, Long Beach, Cal., beat Mrs. Charles Harbaugh, Cleveland, O., 7 and 5.

Grace Amory, Palm Beach, Fla., beat Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., 3, and 2.

Shirley Ann Johnson, Chicago, beat Naomi Copic, Toledo, O., 4 and 2.

Mrs. William Hockenjos, Lake Hopatcong, N. J., beat Elizabeth Hicks, Long Beach, Cal., 1 up, 19 holes.

Marian Miley, Lexington, Ky., beat Jane Cothran, Greenville, S. C., 2 and 1.

THIRD ROUND.

Miss Berg beat Miss Callender, 2 and 1.
Miss Jameson beat Miss Kirby, 1 up.
Miss Johnson beat Miss Amory, 2 and 1.
Miss Miley beat Mrs. Hockenjos, 3 and 2.

Blackhawks Call on Americans in New York Tonight

New York, Jan. 31 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks, who in their last two games have proved to be the outstanding extremists of the National Hockey league season, arrived here today for tomorrow night's battle with the New York Americans in Madison Square Garden.

The game with the Americans may well be called a battle, for the New Yorkers have won three of the five games played with the Hawks to date, and they will have in their lineup a man named Eddie Shore, who has been around and about the big league, man and boy, for the last 13½ campaigns.

HUTCHINS' ACTION GAINS SUPPORT IN 2D MIDWAY POLL

Three Out of 7 Approve Football Ban.

The University of Chicago's expenditures in behalf of athletes are explained in a report released by Western conference headquarters yesterday. Story on page 35.

Eight hundred University of Chicago students, whose reactions to the recent withdrawal from intercollegiate football on the Midway were polled yesterday by the Daily Maroon, student newspaper, demonstrated that the ancient conflict between the emotions and the intellect still is alive. Deep in their hearts most of the students were sorry to see football go. Approximately four out of seven said they did not favor the abolition of the game. But Ol' Debbil intellect told most of them it was best that way; approximately four out of seven said they were in substantial accord with President Robert Maynard Hutchins' reasons for the abolition.

And altho the vote against Chicago's withdrawal had shrunk from 10 to 1, the figure given by a poll before the action of the university, to 4 to 3, the students asserted in yesterday's poll that they had made the decision for themselves. Five out of six said they had not been influenced by President Hutchins' address explaining the reasons for the university's action.

Cool Off on Subsidization.

At the two other points in which the Daily Maroon survey coincided with the earlier poll the students indicated that their opinion had changed. In the earlier poll 75 per cent said they would favor the subsidization of players scholastically admissible to the university. In yesterday's vote only 52 per cent said they would favor subsidization. The students who previously had voted 7 to 1 against a lighter schedule and continuation of football, indicated in the new poll by a 4 to 3 margin that they would have preferred to play a lighter schedule.

Two-thirds of the students who voted said they did not regard the university's intramural program as an adequate substitute for the abolition of football. The vote for continuation by the university of other Big Ten sports was 715 to 69. An even larger majority, 726 to 54, stated they did not think the university should drop intercollegiate athletics in favor of an enlarged intramural program.

One-Eighth of Students Vote.

Of the 800 who voted in the poll 633 were men and 167 were women. The 800 represent about one-eighth of the students on the Midway. The results follow:

	Yes.	No.
Do you favor the abolition of football at Chicago?	331	456
Did Hutchins' address on football in Mandel hall influence you to favor the abolition of football?	171	565
Are you in substantial accord with Hutchins' reasons for the abolition of football?	419	349
If football were not abolished, would you favor the subsidization of football players scholastically admissible to the university?	416	373
Rather than abolish football, would you have favored the maintenance of football at Chicago if a lighter schedule, that is, a schedule with small schools, were arranged?	413	343
Do you think that the university's intramural program is an adequate substitute for the abolition of football?	247	464
Do you think that the university should remain in the Big Ten in sports other than football?	715	69
Do you think that the university should drop intercollegiate athletics in favor of an enlarged intramural program?	54	726

A. A. U. DECLINES TO SUSPEND BAD BOYS OF TRACK

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—Charles Beetham, Howie Borck and Harold Cagle, who had been threatened with suspension for passing up the Metropolitan A. A. U. track meet last Saturday to compete in the Prout games in Boston, will be allowed to run in the Millrose games here this week.

The Metropolitan registration committee declined to suspend the trio at a meeting today.

BOB RICHMOND, TWO OTHERS FAIL IN CLASS WORK

Irish Favored to Win Return Battle.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP).—Three members of the University of Illinois basketball team, including Bob Richmond, first string guard, today were declared ineligible.

In addition to Richmond, who lives in Johnston City, Ill., Bob O'Neill, of Ottawa, second string center, and Rex Sherman, sophomore reserve from Pekin, were lost to the Illini for the Notre Dame game Saturday.

Richmond played most of the game when Illinois defeated Notre Dame on the Illinois floor Dec. 27, 42 to 29. He made three free throws. O'Neill played briefly and secured a free throw. Sherman did not play.

Irish on Scoring Spree.

If history runs true to form the Illini are due to lose the return game with the Irish on the Notre Dame floor. Illinois never has won in four starts at Notre Dame, while the winner has alternated regularly in the last eight games between the two teams. They have met 13 times on the floor, starting in 1921-'22, and Illinois has won eight times.

The Irish, besides having advantage of their own floor, are currently in the midst of a high scoring winning streak of five games. In their last four they have run up 52, 55, 55, and 56 points against Kentucky, Butler, Penn, and Northwestern, respectively—all of these scores being the highest ever recorded by Notre Dame against those teams.

DE PAUL FACES INDIANA

De Paul and Loyola, the Coliseum basketball twins, play Saturday night, but in different parts of the city. Of most importance is De Paul's contest in the Coliseum against Indiana, tied for second place in the Western conference. De Paul's lone defeat this season was in overtime by Southern California. The only blot on the Hoosiers' record is a defeat by Minnesota. It was reported last night that Lou Possner, injured De Paul star, may play against Indiana.

Loyola, which has lost 10 games in a row, hopes to find the University of Chicago fieldhouse the proper place to discard its losing ways. The Maroons also are in the midst of a disastrous season, having lost all of their four Big Ten starts.

Mount Carmel, city champion Catholic high school basketball team, will meet St. Philip, north section Catholic leader, in a preliminary to the De Paul-Indiana contest.

There are no Big Ten games scheduled Saturday. Wisconsin returns to action, however, against Michigan State in East Lansing.

A third game has been added to the Chicago Stadium basketball program the night of Feb. 9, featured by the annual charity game between Loyola and De Paul. The added game will be between the Immaculate Conception heavyweight five of the C. Y. O. basketball league and the Collegians, first round champions in the Windy City league.

BROOKLYN BUYS TEX CARLETON FROM BREWERS

New York, Jan. 31 [Special].—The Brooklyn Dodgers today bought Tex Carleton, a veteran pitcher, from Milwaukee. Carleton pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs before he was sent to the American Association. With Milwaukee, Carleton won 11 games, lost nine, and had an earned run average of 4.23.

MILLARD SIGNS FOR 8 ROUNDER WITH FRANKLIN

Heavyweights Will Meet in Marigold Monday.

Buddy Millard, Houston, Tex., heavyweight, yesterday was matched to meet Lem Franklin of Cleveland in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens Monday. Johnny Brown, Catholic Youth organization featherweight, and Henry Huerta of Peoria are paired in an eight round co-feature. A third match of eight rounds may bring together Booker Beckwith, Gary light heavyweight, who knocked out Luther Brent on the Al Hostak-Tony Zale card in the Stadium last Monday, and Harold Dettman of Detroit. Annunzio Ferraro, Milwaukee welterweight, will oppose Bobby Ryan of the west side in a four round event. . . . Plans are underway to hold a boxing show, originally scheduled in the Coliseum next Thursday, on Feb. 23. Three bouts of 10 rounds between Milt Aron and Bep Van Klaveren, Fritzie Zivic and Johnny Barbara, and Roscoe Toles and Lem Franklin were closed for the Feb. 8 date. These matches will be carried over to Feb. 23 if the new date is decided upon by Promoter Irving Schoenwald. . . .

Toles, Detroit heavyweight, will face Johnny Whiters of Pontiac, Mich., in Detroit Monday. . . . Francis Smith, southpaw featherweight of Aurora, has agreed to meet Bill Jordan of the south side in a five round amateur headliner in Madison Athletic club tomorrow. . . . Promoters Fred Kohler and Ed White are arranging four bouts in support of the heavyweight wrestling engagement between Bronko Nagurski and Joe Savoldi in the Coliseum Feb. 9.

Steve Souris, 1937 Gary sectional Golden Gloves lightweight winner, who is undefeated as a professional, will encounter Johnny Rock in a five round semi-final to an eight rounder involving Gene Spencer and Phil Saeli in Civic Center auditorium, Hammond, Feb. 12.

Promoter Bill Rand yesterday said profits from the Hostak-Zale thriller in the Stadium amounted to $2,100. Rand expects to conduct his next show in the huge west side arena in March, featuring Zale or Davey Day, lightweight stablemate of Zale. . . . Settimo Terracina, once light heavyweight and heavyweight amateur champion of Italy, will arrive today for a campaign in this country under the direction of Emil Nanny of Highland Park.

The Illinois boxing commission was notified yesterday that Judges Charles Williams had denied a motion to dissolve an injunction which prevents Johnny Paycheck, 1933 Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, from fighting without approval of Clarence Rapp. The decision was given in Superior court on Tuesday. At the same time Dave Caplow, attorney for Rapp, entered a motion to dismiss a conspiracy suit against Pinkie George because the Des Moines, Ia., promoter has made full disclosure as to the amount of purses paid Paycheck under his promotion. The court agreed to the dismissal order.

Rapp has a life contract with Paycheck, signed by Johnny on May 4, 1936, but the state commission declared the agreement to be invalid last November. Later the board gave Harold Steinman recognition as the boxer's manager.

Race Fans Boo as Seabiscuit Rests Again

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP).—In again out again Seabiscuit stayed out again today, forced to postpone his comeback race because of a slippery track, and his rival of the past, Heelfly, went on to win the $2,000 added Santa Chiquita handicap at Santa Anita park.

Owner Charles S. Howard looked over the track after rain began falling during the fourth race, and withdrew Seabiscuit from what was to have been his first race since he broke down last Feb. 14.

The crowd, hoping to see the renewal of a duel that once sent them to a dead heat in the Laurel mile in 1937, booed lustily as the track loudspeaker reported the California favorite had been scratched.

Rally Beats Four Rivals.

With the field reduced to five, Jockey Basil James piloted the 6 year old Heelfly to the head of the pack after being outrun for the first three-quarters, and rolled on in to win by a length over Valdinia farm's Viscounty.

Hysterical, Heelfly's stablemate, finished third, with Bubbling Boy and Firozepore trailing in the rear.

"We hated to scratch 'Biscuit, but it was the only thing we could do," Howard said. "It isn't fair to the crowd, who put their money on him or to the horse to send him out when there is danger of reinjuring himself on a slippery track."

Only Top Turf Slippery.

Turf observers labeled the track fast, pointing out that Heelfly ran the mile in 1:38 2-5, but it was generally agreed that the top layer was slippery.

It was the third time in 10 days that Seabiscuit had been pulled out of a race because of track conditions, and the fourth time he was kept out of an event. Last Saturday the stable decided against sending him postward because of a large field and his unfavorable post position.

Just when Seabiscuit will run remains unanswered. The stable wants to get him in competition before the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap on March 2.

Heelfly's victory paid $5 to win and $2.20 to place. Viscounty paid $2.60 to place. There was no show betting in the pari-mutuels.

FREE AGENT SIGNED.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP).—Syracuse of the International league tonight announced the signing of Pitcher Martin Zachar, 23 year old righthander recently declared a free agent from the Beaumont club of the Texas league by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Farragut Five Wins, but It May Not Stick

The Farragut senior basketball team defeated Du Sable, 32 to 30, yesterday in a Chicago Public High School league game at Du Sable—and that's the way the records will stand for a while.

But, should either team establish claim to sectional honors, then the game will again come under advisement, with a possibility of its being replayed. It seems that the teams played only 31 minutes and one second, and a regulation game is of 32 minutes duration.

The Clock Says No.

A Farragut timekeeper pronounced the contest over before the official clock showed the fourth period's eight minutes were up. The Farragut players went to the showers, but Du Sable's team remained on the floor. Coach James Fox of Farragut claimed that as far as he was concerned the game was over and refused to bring his team back on the court.

Referee Joseph Schwartz made no official decision until he had conferred with A. H. Pritzlaff, the league's director of physical education. Pritzlaff, after a meeting with the rival coaches, ruled that the contest should remain in a status quo position until such time as sectional claims would force a reconsideration.

Parker Juniors Win.

Parker remained undefeated in the south section junior race by shading Fenger, 31 to 30. It was Parker's fifth straight victory. Amundsen remained in the running for the north division senior championship with a 31 to 23 conquest of Steinmetz, its fourth victory in five starts.

In a Midwest conference double header, St. John's Military academy won two games from Lake Forest academy in Lake Forest, the lights triumphing, 23 to 20, and the heavies, 45 to 34. Lineups:

Chicago's Fighting Men

And Then There Were the Court Jesters—Levinsky, Shires, and Trafton

[Chicagoland's greatest all time fighters? This is the ninth of a series that will attempt to answer the question, tracing the topnotchers from the gay '90's to the present and recalling some of the famous battles of the city's ring history.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Pugilism is most noted for its hard knocks, its scrambled ears and its intrigues. But it has given Chicago many belly laughs, furnished notably by three gay young men who enlivened the heavyweight picture in the last decade. The trio? Kingfish Levinsky, Arthur [The Great] Shires, and George Trafton.

While Chicago was laughing at the Kingfish he was pocketing $300,000 for swishing that ludicrous right in the general direction of near champions and ex-champions. He could have had the last laugh on the boys whose raucous cries rent the ringside air when he lumbered into action. But his ability—and his money—ran out at the same time.

The King, whose proud boast was that he had 50 amateur fights—and never won one—became famous overnight. Fighting a supporting number to the Tony Canzoneri-Billy Petrolle main event in the Stadium Sept. 11, 1930, he dumfounded the crowd by scoring several knockdowns against Leo Lomski, a first flight light heavy, and finally stopping him in the sixth round.

The King Knew of Only One Use for a Towel.

The battered fighter's seconds tossed in the towel in the sixth. Levinsky picked it up, wiped the crimson smear off his face and started winding up again. He didn't know the towel was a signal of defeat for his foe.

This stunning triumph led to a five year big time career in Chicago rings and elsewhere against such warriors as Max Baer [three times], Tommy Loughran, Jim Slattery, Mickey Walker, Jack Sharkey, Ace Hudkins, Paulino Uzcudun, Jack Dempsey, Tuffy Griffith, Primo Carnera [twice], and Joe Louis.

If for no other reason, King will go down in boxing history as the last man to pop Dempsey on the whiskers. He gave the old champion such a going over the night of Feb. 18, 1932 before a Stadium crowd of 22,000 that paid $75,199.95 that Dempsey abandoned his comeback campaign.

After keeping his feet during 30 rounds of previous battling with Baer, Levinsky suffered his first knockout in a Stadium match billed as an exhibition Dec. 28, 1934. Baer was champion and the King had visions of sneaking over a knockout punch. He gave the surprised Baer a battering in the first round. During the rest period, Ancil Hoffman, the champion's manager, said:

"He's making a monkey out of you. What are you going to do about it?"

Baer came out, fixed his satanical leer on Levinsky, drove him against the ropes, sent lefts and rights to the body and head, then drove a left hook to the stomach. Levinsky went down for the full count.

Louis Writes Finis to the Fabulous Tale of the King.

That defeat no doubt softened up the King for Louis. They met in Comiskey park Aug. 7, 1935 before 39,195 who paid $192,906. For the first time in his career the King showed fright. He had changed handlers for this engagement and had been continually warned to stay away from Joe's right. This may have stirred up the fear that showed so plainly when he entered the ring.

Going down from short blows that belied their power, Levinsky was gasping and pale. A left to the stomach doubled up the King and as he sat on the lower strand of the ropes he was counted out in 2:21 of the first round by Referee Norm McGarity. That marked his finish as a big time fighting man.

Art Shires, bored while waiting to start spring training with the White Sox, decided to pick up some extra change in the ring during the winter of 1929. After knocking over some hand picked stooges, Shires accepted the defi of George Trafton, the former Notre Dame center who then was doing the same chore for the Chicago Bears. Built up as "baseball versus the gridiron" their five round frolic on Dec. 16 in White City attracted 5,000 curious folk who paid $15,000.

Shires, outweighed 40 pounds, dashed into his 219 pound foe, but a left hook and a ponderous overhand right knocked him down and into the ropes just before the bell ended the round. A right by Trafton sent Art spinning into the ropes early in the second and the laugh of the century was on. They chased each other, both panting and occasionally calling a truce from exhaustion. Trafton's expansive waist line quivered. Shires looked like he had just been struck out for the fifth time by a rookie pitcher. He ducked and covered his head with his hands. On and on it went to its serio-comic finish. Shires lost the decision and got $1,800. Trafton won and got $1,000. A later attempt to match Shires and Hack Wilson, then a Cub hero, was stopped by K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

A thriller that can't be overlooked was Young Stribling's knockout of Otto von Porat in the Stadium June 20, 1930, and the bout, which lasted only 2 minutes and 50 seconds, set an attendance record for the Stadium, 20,956 paying $80,236.97. The knockout punch was delivered by Stribling's injured left, which had been given a shot of novocaine before the fight.

Griffith and Von Porat were at their best at the same time. At their height they could have drawn a tremendous crowd, but efforts to match them failed until public interest waned. When they finally met in the Coliseum in 1933 the attraction had cooled. Griffith won in the eighth by a knockout.

They Finally Get Together, but Not to Levinsky's Advantage.

Levinsky was jealous of Griffith's popularity, but Tuffy and his manager, West Side Jack O'Keefe, held off until Ray Alvis, then managing the King, offered Griffith a $25,000 guarantee. Alvis, confident the match would draw upward of $75,000, agreed to take 60 per cent of the net, pay off Griffith and retain the rest for his fighter. Held March 6, 1931, the net was $46,000 and Alvis received only $27,760, leaving $2,760 for Levinsky's end. And the King took a beating to boot. Levinsky later reversed the decision.

HEAVYWEIGHT FACTS: Remember the Von Porat-Ted Sandwina bout in the Coliseum Nov. 25, 1927? The Norwegian, staggering back from a terrific punch, let a right fly and knocked Sandwina out. . . . Jack McCormick, a fair Chicago heavyweight, was a 1,000 to 1 shot in his bout against Kid McCoy in the Star theater in 1899. . . . McCormick brought a punch up from the floor, putting McCoy down and out. . . . Jack was trainer for the Cubs in 1906 and 1907 when they won the pennant. . . . Tuffy Griffith operates a west side tavern. . . . Les Marriner, a good heavyweight 10 years ago, is a lieutenant in the United States air corps. . . . Otto von Porat is a policeman in Norway. . . . Max Marek, who retired recently, is a liquor salesman.

One of the long time familiar figures in Chicago boxing is Ike Bernstein, inspector for the Illinois Athletic commission. . . . Bernstein, who once boxed, was Packey McFarland's companion and trainer.

In such a review as this, it is inescapable that some of Chicago's fighting men have been unintentionally overlooked. Each boxer, even tho he failed to reach the heights, has been a factor in the city's boxing history. . . . And thanks to the fans and former boxers for their help in presenting this series.

[Tomorrow: Phil Collins, Chicago's oldest referee, delivers the final punch in this series.]

BRUINS WALLOP OSHKOSH, 38-33; TAKE FIRST PLACE

Edwards Gets 18 Points for All-Stars.

Pro Basketball

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Chicago, 38; Oshkosh, 33.
Akron Goodyears, 54; Indianapolis, 44.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Bruins last night took first place in the western division of the National Basketball league by defeating the Oshkosh All-Stars, 38 to 33, before 3,500 in the 132d Regiment armory.

The Bruins saved their best concerted effort of the season for last evening. They maintained a fire horse tempo thruout the game and their passing at times approached sleight of hand. They might have had an easier time except for the presence in the Oshkosh lineup of Le Roy Edwards, former Kentucky star, who is en route to the league's individual scoring championship for the third consecutive year.

Runs Total to 234.

The big center now has a total of 234 points, including the 18 he made last night. He favors the pivot and hook shot so much that last night none of his seven field goals originated in a two handed facing effort.

The Bruin attack was paced by Stan Zadel and Mike Novak, each with 11 points.

Eddie Oram, the Bruins' durable guard, made only five points, but three of them came in right handy, being scored in the final minute, when Edwards' last basket brought the All-Stars within two points at 35 to 33.

Harvester Five Wins.

In the preliminary game the International Harvester five defeated the Acme Steel team, 29 to 21. The victors led at the half, 11 to 6. The lineups:

BOWLS 300 GAME, BUT HIS TEAM IS BEATEN 3 TIMES

Paul Krumske of the Pabsts turned in a 300 game last night in the White City Recreation, the first 300 game shot by any member of the Classic league this season, but the leading Pabsts lost this game and two others to Power House, which took third place.

Maroons Tell How Athletes Receive Help

As a follow up to its report of financial aid given athletes in member schools, the Western conference has prepared a series dealing with each university's individual expenditures. The first article, released yesterday, follows:

The University of Chicago, one of two endowed schools in the Western conference, presents an obstacle to the needy student in a necessarily high tuition, but offers compensation in extensive opportunities for scholarships.

Of the 2,303 male undergraduates at Chicago 652, or 28.31 per cent, last year held such scholarships, which are administered by a committee of the deans of the various schools and divisions and for which any needy student may apply.

Chicago athletes enjoyed scholarship grants in almost identical proportion with the whole student body. Of 267 men who are listed as athletes, freshman numeral winners or on varsity squads, 82, or 30.71 per cent, hold scholarships in the amount of $16,591.60.

Grant Tuition Remissions.

In addition, tuition remissions may be granted in case of need to students of acceptable scholastic records and eight athletes were among those granted remissions, for a total of $1,300. Extensive loan funds also stand at the university for grants to athletes or nonathletes upon the recommendation of the dean of the applicant's school or division. In 1939, 21 Chicago athletes were granted loans amounting to $2,947.99.

A board of vocational guidance and placement is maintained by the university for the placement of students seeking work while in school.

Cites Aid to Athletes.

Last year 103 Maroon athletes held campus jobs and were paid out of university or athletic funds according to Western conference regulations. In aggregate they earned $13,720.91. Twenty-four of the jobs were NYA assignments, with the average annual earning about $135. The jobs ranged from cook's assistant to teacher, including field laborers and carpenters.

Off campus Chicago athletes likewise found extensive and varied employment, including butchers, bakers, and a magicians' assistant.

Concessions at the university are let and concessionaire's jobs are not held by student athletes.

Plater Sets 1½ Mile Record of 2:29 3-5 at Hialeah Track

Miami, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP).—Wise Will, a $1,500 plater, set a new track record of 2:29 3-5 for the mile and a half at Hialeah Park today. He bettered by one-fifth second the mark formerly held by Saragazo.

Northwestern Again Admits Subsidization

Northwestern university subsidizes athletes, its president, Dr. Franklin Bliss Snyder, said again yesterday when he digressed from his subject before the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer House.

"The charge has been made that we subsidize people," Dr. Snyder said. "Certainly! Northwestern university gives about $31,500 a year to its athletes in the form of scholarships, loans, and jobs." Dr. Snyder added that more than $250,000 a year is given in the same manner to students who are not athletes, and he declared the university made no distinction between athletes and nonathletes.

"We make no apologies for treating an athlete as well as a flute player," he said vigorously. "We wish we had five times as much money for subsidizing students," Snyder continued, asserting that the primary aim of the university is to provide an education, whether the education is for an athlete or a musician.

In this connection he said that Northwestern offers to pay half the tuition of a war veteran or of the children of any minister.

Dr. Snyder got "off the track" of his regular subject, the relationship of business to the university, when he said that Northwestern is in the recreation business. "That includes football, which we believe in and play as well as we can," he stated. "Northwestern university is in the real estate, hotel, hospital, and recreation businesses as well as education. Right now we're in the construction business," he concluded, adding that the university will spend about $8,000,000 on new buildings and modernization in the next two years.

BUDWEISERS WIN THREE TO TIE FOR WOMAN PIN LEAD

The Budweisers swept three games from the Rovicks last night in the Congress Recreation, placing the two teams in a tie for first place in the Congress Women's Major league, each with 50 games won and 16 lost. The Budweisers scored 2,830; the Rovicks, 2,652.

Mary Gordon of the Congress team had high individual series of 601, helping her team win two from the Pabsts. Lee Liepe of the Budweisers and Anna Gall of the Lincoln Bottlers shared second high with 599. Miss Gall's 237 was the best individual game.

Other outstanding totals were 591 by Celia Grob of the Budweisers, 587 by Ruth Hartman of the Rovicks, 586 by Margaret Luchsinger of the Pepsi-Colas, and 561 by Agnes Pitelka of the Pabsts and Dorothy Miller of the Logan Squares.

The Pepsi-Colas won two from the Logan Squares, altho outscored, 2,555 to 2,592.

D. Di Maggio Spurns Terms from Red Sox

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 31 (AP).—Dominic DiMaggio said today he had mailed back unsigned to the Boston Red Sox his first major league contract.

The former star center fielder of the San Francisco Seals explained he had been offered a substantial increase over what he received in 1939 from the Seals but believed it wasn't enough. Dom was sold to the American league club after the 1939 season.

$150,000 ST. LOUIS PLANT.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 31 (AP).—Arrangements for joint construction of lighting facilities for night baseball at a cost of more than $150,000 were announced today by the Browns and the Cardinals.

Installation of the floodlights at Sportsman's park will be completed by mid-May and each of the teams will play seven night games. There will be 784 light projectors on the field, each containing a 1,500-watt lamp, grouped on eight steel standards.

Counting the two St. Louis clubs, ten major league teams will play night baseball at home this season. The Pittsburgh Pirates announced yesterday that Forbes field would be illuminated and the New York Giants recently made similar arrangements for the Polo Grounds.

The Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Athletics and Phillies, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox played after-dusk games last season.

RED SOX BUY PITCHER.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox announced today the purchase from Little Rock of Morris Harris, southpaw pitcher, who won 17 games and lost 4 with Scranton last year. At the same time Eddie Collins, general manager of the American league ball club, reported the release of Catcher Moe Berg from the active list and his retention as a coach.

ARMSTRONG GETS JACOBS' PERMIT TO FIGHT GARCIA

New York, Jan. 31 [Special].—The way has been cleared by Promoter Mike Jacobs of New York and the Henry Armstrong-Ceferino Garcia middleweight title bout of 10 rounds is set for the Los Angeles Coliseum on Feb. 22, it was learned tonight. Jacobs will release both battlers, provided Garcia agrees to defend the crown against Ken Overlin in Madison Square garden on March 29. The proposition is expected to be formally accepted by George Parnassus, Garcia's manager, tomorrow.

Jacobs wired Parnassus the offer Tuesday night. The latter originally rejected Overlin, the N. B. A.'s No. 1 challenger saying the match wouldn't draw.

DUFORD NAMED FOOTBALL COACH BY ST. LOUIS U.

Assumes New Position on March 15.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 31 (AP).—Wilfred J. [Dukes] Duford, whose splendid record at St. Ambrose college, Davenport, Ia., won him the post of head football coach at St. Louis university today, will assume his new duties March 15.

This will give the new coach time to put his protégés thru spring practice in preparation for next fall's Missouri Valley conference campaign.

Altho there was no official confirmation, it was reported that Robert G. Klenck, one of the two assistants Duford is bringing here, will coach the St. Louis basketball team. Also coming here with Duford is Don Geyer, former Northwestern star.

If Klenck takes over the basketball assignment, he will succeed Jack Sterrett.

Duford's St. Ambrose teams have a nine-year record of 60 victories, 7 ties, and 10 defeats. They won the Iowa conference championships in 1934, 1935, 1937, and 1938.

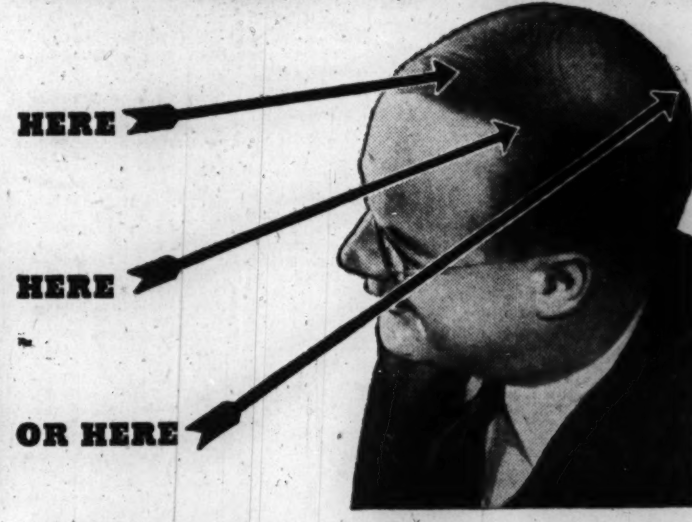
Duford, former Marquette star, succeeds Cecil E. Muellerleile, who resigned Jan. 13. Carl J. Pike and Henry [Red] Krause, Muellerleile's assistants, also have resigned.

NYE'S GALE WINS FIRST OF THREE CUBA CUP RACES

HAVANA, Jan. 31 (AP).—Harry G. Nye Jr.'s Gale, of the Southern Lake Michigan fleet, today won the first of three races in the series for the mid-winter challenge trophy of Cuba, one of the events in the 14th annual international Star class regatta.

Gale, already winner of the Bacardi cup series which ended yesterday, was followed over the finish line in order by Harold C. Halstead's Chuckle IV., of the Moriches Bay, N. Y., fleet, and C. H. De Cardenas' Kurush II. of the Havana fleet.

RE-GROW HAIR



• • • Science has found that the hair-growing structure (papilla) remains alive and ready to respond to proper stimulative treatment even long after hair has disappeared from the scalp.

Thomas has perfected a method of stimulating this dormant hair-growing structure to normal activity. First, Thomas treatment removes the causes of inactivity (usually one or more of 14 local scalp disorders) and then skillfully supplies the necessary stimulation and thus makes it possible for the hair to gain sufficient strength to push through the follicle and become visible again on the scalp.

Come in person to the nearest Thomas office TODAY and learn more about this precise, reliable method of growing hair, stopping hair-fall, and ending dandruff. No charge will be made for consultation or scalp examination. You will not be accepted for treatment unless your case comes within the scope of Thomas methods.

FARM BILLIONS SPENT FUTILELY, PARLEY IS TOLD

Problem Still Is Unsolved, Smith Declares.

BY HOMER NEISZ.

Billions of dollars of federal money have been spent for farm relief during the last seven years, but the real farm problem as related to the future welfare of every citizen of this country has not been even approached. This opinion was expressed yesterday by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, at its 25th annual convention in the Stevens hotel.

Earl C. Smith.

"Everything yet done by congress for the solution of the farm problem," Smith said, "has been done to appease the farmers rather than to solve the agricultural problem."

Assails Partisan Influence.

Smith, who has strongly supported the New Deal farm program since it was started in 1933 and still maintains faith in its possibilities, complained that farmers had been forced to witness more or less partisan influence creeping into the administration of farm laws. He said farm leaders had been forced to accept compromises in proposed laws and greatly reduced appropriations and expressed regret at the necessity of continually being forced to ask congress for money to carry on the farm program.

He demanded that congress and the administration cease temporizing with the farm problem and take steps without further delay to put farm prices up to full parity level, a price level that would give farmers buying power equal to what they had immediately before the world war.

More Buying Power Urged.

Smith contended that problems of unemployment and relief could best be solved by giving farmers increased buying power to enable them to buy more of the products of industry, thus increasing employment.

In effect he suggested increasing appropriations to farmers at the expense of appropriations for relief and national defense on the theories that this is the best way to solve the relief problem and that the greatest difficulties facing the nation lie from within rather than from without.

Investors' Guide

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—3.

In computing their 1939 gross income, investors should direct special attention to revenue from dividends, interest on bank deposits, on loans, on corporate bonds, and on government obligations.

Dividends.

Dividends paid by corporations to stockholders are taxable if taken from earnings in the current year or from profits accumulated after Feb. 28, 1913. That portion of the dividend not paid from current profits or from earnings accumulated after that date is not taxable.

A stock dividend is income if the stockholder's interest in the corporation thereby was increased or if he was granted new or additional rights. Usually a stock dividend is not taxable if it does not change the stockholder's proportion of ownership in the company.

If a dividend represents a return to stockholders of invested capital, such as a payment from capital surplus or from depreciation or depletion reserves, it is not taxable. A liquidating dividend is also not income under the law except that portion that may be paid from accumulated profits. Similarly, dividends from mutual insurance companies or from unmatured life insurance are not income.

Dividends received on share accounts in federal savings and loan associations are subject to surtax, but exempt from the normal tax. Dividends on shares in state chartered building and loan associations, however, are not exempt from normal tax or surtax.

A list of all dividends received in 1939 should be attached to the income tax return.

Interest.

All interest received or collectible in 1939 must be reported. Interest payments should be distinguished from return of principal, which is not income. Accrued interest bought from the seller of a bond and later received by the purchaser is not taxable because it is considered a return of principal.

Interest received on obligations of state and local governments must be reported but is not taxable. Income from all obligations of the federal government or its agencies is free from normal tax of 4 per cent, but in numerous instances is subject to the surtax levied on net incomes of more than $4,000, after personal exemption and credit for dependents.

Government obligations whose interest is entirely exempt from both normal tax and surtax are postal savings deposits, United States obligations issued on or before Sept. 1, 1917, treasury notes, bills and certificates of indebtedness, and bonds issued under the federal farm loan act.

On other issues of the federal government and its agencies, interest is free from normal tax but subject to surtax, except that on treasury bonds and savings bonds of $5,000 or less face value, the interest is free also from surtax.

[The fourth article, which will appear next Sunday, will discuss what not to include in gross income.]

MASONITE PAYS EXTRA DIVIDEND OF 25c A SHARE

Declares Regular Mar. 10 Payment on Common.

Directors of the Masonite corporation yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock as well as the regular quarterly disbursement, both payable March 10. The quarterly payment of $1.25 a share on the preferred issue also was authorized, payable March 1. The company, a large manufacturer of building materials, has headquarters in Chicago.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company announced a payment of 87½ cents a share on common stock, payable Feb. 29. The company paid 50 cents on common on the comparable date a year ago, and a total of $3.50 a share during the year. Directors also authorized a payment of 87½ cents on the participating preferred stock, payable Feb. 29.

Votes 25 Cent Payment.

American Metal company directors declared a payment of 25 cents a share, payable March 1. The previous payment was 50 cents, payable today. Four disbursements of 25 cents were made in 1939.

A dividend of 35 cents a common share, payable March 1, was authorized by directors of Archer-Daniels-Midland company. In 1939 the company paid a dividend of 35 cents in December and three others of 25 cents in March, June, and September.

Bigelow-Sanford Carpet company announced a disbursement of $1 a common share, payable March 1, the same amount as that paid last December. Directors said that there would be no consideration of further dividends until earnings of the first half of this year were known. The company has plants at Amsterdam, N. Y., and Thompsonville, Conn.

POWER OUTPUT SHRINKS; STILL TOPS YEAR AGO

Production of electric power during the week ended Jan. 27 increased 11.9 per cent over the level of the corresponding week of 1939, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. Compared with the preceding week's output, however, production declined 0.2 of 1 per cent.

Output in the latest week totaled 2,565,958,000 kilowatt hours, according to the institute, against 2,292,594,000 kilowatt hours a year ago and 2,572,117,000 hours in the preceding week. The decline from the preceding week's level was less than seasonal, the institute said.

The Commonwealth Edison company [Chicago] group reported output of 163,550,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 10.6 per cent over 1939.

Foreign Moneys Steady in Relation to U. S. Dollar

Foreign moneys were little changed in terms of the United States dollar in New York City yesterday. Sterling declined ¼ cent to $3.99½, and the Dutch guilder lost .01 cent. The French franc was unchanged. Belgian and Swiss currency was slightly higher in relation to the dollar.

STUDY TAX LOSS OF 3½ MILLIONS CAUSED BY TVA

Tennessee Hit Most by Displacement.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 31.—An annual tax loss to state, county, and local governments amounting to more than $3,500,000, resulting from the Tennessee Valley authority's venture in society planning, is one of the current problems in the Tennessee valley.

It is now the subject of congressional hearings in Washington, and undoubtedly will be a question before the Tennessee legislature next year. About 87.7 per cent of this tax displacement has taken place in Tennessee.

Among the proposals considered is one to put a tax of some sort on TVA electricity used by three great industrial companies—the Aluminum Company of America, the Monsanto Chemical company, and the Victor Chemical company—which in 1938 bought more than one-half of the total of 1,618,286,000 kilowatt hours of energy sold by TVA. Another proposal is to enact state legislation to make compulsory on municipally-owned systems and coöperatives the payment of state and local ad valorem property taxes.

Propose Increase in Payments.

Before congress is a bill to increase the 5 per cent of TVA revenue which TVA pays to the valley states in lieu of taxes. The bill, recommended by TVA, proposes to hoist this to 10 per cent for a period on a graduated downward scale that will bring it back to 5 per cent in eight years.

The Norris-Sparkman bill provides for payment by TVA of state and local taxes on dams, transmission lines, and reservoir lands acquired from private owners and used by the authority in producing and selling power at wholesale.

The difficulties over taxes bring into high relief the small population of the Tennessee river basin, in which the government is spending more than half a billion dollars.

Cost of the TVA system with its 11 dams, six of which are now in operation, was estimated last December by TVA officials at a congressional hearing at $535,000,000. This was said to be $15,000,000 less than the estimates of a year before.

Budget Officer Questioned.

As to the total amount spent or obligated to date, Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth [R., Mass.], questioned Paul W. Ager, chief TVA budget officer, as follows:

Mr. Wigglesworth: What is the total investment in the system as a whole at present?

Mr. Ager: In the unified river system projects, it is approximately $350,000,000. That figure is the one that would compare with the $535,000,000. That would mean that to June 30, 1940, we will have expended or otherwise secured $350,000,000 out of the $535,000,000.

The Tennessee river, seat of the New Deal venture in arranging society and operating electric power, is formed just above Knoxville by the confluence of the French, Broad, and Holston rivers. In its length of 652 miles it loops into Alabama, nicks a corner of Mississippi, and flows northward thru Tennessee and Kentucky to Paducah, where it empties into the Ohio. The basin of the river embraces 102 counties in seven states and about 1,000 cities, villages, and towns. It covers some 40,600 square miles.

Population Is 2,195,500.

Population of the watershed [1930 census] is 2,195,500, less than 2 per cent of the population of the United States. About 52 per cent of the population lives on farms. In 1930 the basin was estimated to have 801,000 gainful workers 10 years of age or over. About 10 per cent of its inhabitants, or 238,000, were Negroes.

Population of the watershed by states [1930 census] is, by TVA figures:

States—	Counties.	Population.
Alabama	10	350,000
Georgia	6	50,000
Kentucky	6	50,000
Mississippi	2	15,500
North Carolina	15	280,000
Tennessee	56	1,250,000
Virginia	7	200,000
		2,195,500

Opinion in the valley is naturally pro-TVA. A general viewpoint expressed here is that altho taxpayers all over the country are paying for the project, Tennessee itself pays taxes on hydro-electric projects in other regions, such as the Boulder Dam, Pasamaquoddy, Bonneville, and Grand Coulee projects, and the Platte and Loup river projects in Nebraska.

In one of its exhibits before the congressional committee, TVA estimated that it saved consumers $8,-

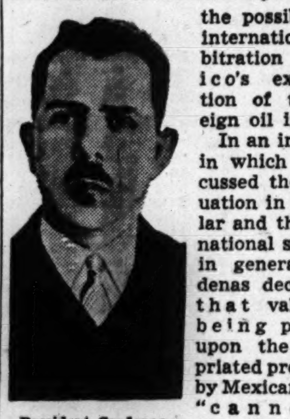
Mexico Flouts Arbitration on Oil Land Grab

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31 (AP).—President Lazaro Cardenas today ruled out the possibility of international arbitration of Mexico's expropriation of the foreign oil industry.



President Cardenas.

In an interview in which he discussed the oil situation in particular and the international situation in general, Cardenas declared that valuations being placed upon the expropriated properties by Mexican courts "cannot be changed."

Cardenas said representatives of the 17 British, American, and Netherlands companies affected by his expropriation order of March 18, 1938, had refused "repeated and frequent requests to participate in valuation of the properties."

Valued Up to 400 Million.

The companies have valued their seized properties as high as $400,000,000; the Mexican government says the value is considerably less than that.

Asked if the new tanker fleet which Mexico is acquiring would be used to carry oil to warring and neutral European as well as Japan and other Asiatic countries, Cardenas said the government had no plans for supplying any particular country.

In response to a query whether Mexico had protested the allied blockade of Germany, he said "this matter is being studied."

"Concerning reports that Mexico asked opening of the blockade to permit passage of German goods for which Mexico swapped oil prior to the war," he added, "the Mexican government made some proposals to France, with satisfactory results, to avoid disrupting shipment of merchandise which we acquired before the war in Germany as well as other parts of Europe."

Attitude on Neutral Zone.

Regarding the adequacy of the naval forces of the Americas to enforce their neutralty "safety" zone he said:

"We should think of the moral force of the nations of the American continent rather than their naval force, and I hope that the belligerents will consider it desirable to accept the neutral zone approved by the Panama conference."

In the event the American republics decided they could help the cause of peace by suspending all sales to warring nations, he asserted, "Mexico would surely be disposed to lend its collaboration."

SUITS AGAINST 2 INVESTMENT FIRMS DROPPED

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle yesterday dismissed two suits against officials of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the Corporation Securities corporation involving claims totaling about $80,000,000. In a memorandum opinion the court held a settlement of nearly $5,000,000 between Chicago and New York City banks and creditors of the corporation in 1937 barred any further action.

The suits, brought by debenture holders of the defunct companies, charged officials with wrongful transfer of assets to the banks in violation of certain provisions of the debentures. Samuel Insull Jr. and H. L. Stuart were among the officials named as defendants.

Judge Briggle wrote that a paragraph in the settlement with the banks was "a meaningless and repugnant attempted reservation." The paragraph, approved by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, provided that the settlement should not serve as a bar to other court actions against other defendants.

The court also barred any action regarding an alleged illegal payment of dividends by the defunct investment concerns.

PREDICTS SHIP BUILDING WILL DOUBLE IN '40

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—A prediction that American shipbuilding would increase almost 100 per cent during 1940 was made today by J. Lewis Luckenbach at his reëlection as president of the American Bureau of Shipping.

Luckenbach told the 78th annual meeting that at least 52 seagoing ships of 470,500 tons were scheduled to be completed this year. In 1939 only 28 ships of 239,858 tons slid down the ways. A survey of shipyards showed 222 ships of 1,157,365 tons under construction today, he said.

Lake Flow Cut Curbs Shipping on Waterway

The transportation year for the Illinois waterway has been cut by as much as a month by a shortage of water diversion from Lake Michigan, enforced by a United States Supreme court ruling, a leading barge line official declared yesterday.

An 11 month operating year is in prospect for barge companies and shippers until Illinois is able to increase the present limit of 1,500 cubic feet a second on the flow of water from the lake, according to A. C. Ingersoll Sr., vice president and general manager of the Central Barge company.

Ice Forms After Cut.

Ice formation caused by the lack of current is the latest result of the 1,500 foot limit, Ingersoll said. The company had planned to operate all winter, hauling 160,000 to 175,000 tons of coal per month from Havana, Ill., to Chicago for the Commonwealth Edison company.

During December about 165,000 tons was brought in, but since then a negligible quantity has been carried due to ice. A powerful towboat was equipped with steel sheathing and battered its way thru the ice repeatedly, but operations were suspended on Jan. 18.

"It was like punching a feather bed," Ingersoll said. "If we had known on Jan. 1 what we were up against we would have quit then."

Holds Strong Flow Would Aid.

With a fairly strong current, such as prevailed before the lake water flow was cut from 5,000 cubic feet a second on Jan. 1, 1939, the ice would not form as quickly nor as thickly, Ingersoll said.

"Up to 30 days can be cut from our operating year by the shortage of water," he said. "This winter is a pretty good illustration of that fact. While it is difficult to measure the difference made by a current, our experience support my statement."

South of Ottawa the waterway is as still as a mill pond, Ingersoll said.

A. L. Mechling of the Mechling Barge line said that except for trips between South Chicago and Morris [68 miles] operations of his line ceased Jan. 3.

Boats Halted New Year's Eve.

William H. Smith of the Ohio River company said his concern's boats, which had been expected to haul 40,000 tons of coal a month between Havana and Chicago, quit running New Year's eve.

Meanwhile, it was learned that many members of the Michigan Manufacturers' association are strongly opposed to the proposed St. Lawrence seaway treaty between the United States and Canada.

"The lumber, iron and steel, and cement manufacturers were opposed to the treaty plan," said John L. Lovett, secretary. "They fear it would result in dumping of foreign products in their markets."

Illinoisans fear the treaty would fasten forever on this state the insufficient water diversion quota.

Industrial Agency Places Unemployed at 8,428,000

SEC STUDY BARES LOSS OF 34% TO FIXED TRUST INVESTORS IN 9 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—The Securities commission said today a study of fixed investment trusts had disclosed that investors had a capital loss of about 34 per cent between 1927 and 1935, while sponsors of fixed trusts had made gross profits of about 10 per cent.

The SEC disclosed its finding in a report to congress on one phase of its extensive study of investment companies.

The survey indicated, the commission said, that the public had lost $302,000,000 on an investment of $900,000,000, while the sponsors made more than $90,000,000. During the nine-year period, six sponsors sold an aggregate of $759,000,000 of fixed trust shares or 87 per cent of the total.

[A fixed trust is one characterized by a fixed or nearly fixed list of securities in which investors acquire the beneficial ownership by purchasing certificates of the trust].

WALLACE WARNS FARM CUTS INVITE VOTE REPRISALS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, leading a chorus of protests against slashes in farm appropriations, today warned congressmen, and particularly members of the Democratic party, that farmers would hold them responsible in the 1940 elections.

An interesting political issue will be raised, he said, unless congress restores the 154 million dollars cut from the agriculture department appropriation bill yesterday by the house appropriations committee.

Wallace expressed the belief the reductions were based upon "a misunderstanding" and that they, together with parity payments or their equivalent, would be voted if, toward the end of the present session, it appeared that the European war was not helping farm prices and incomes. Later he said:

"I would ask the farmers this question when they went to vote, 'which way are you most likely to be taken care of in 1941!'"

The house committee approved a $634,374,756 bill—20 per cent below President Roosevelt's estimates.

I.C.C. Permits Rail Financing Without Bids

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission, without commenting on competitive bidding, today authorized the Louisville & Nashville railroad to issue $60,000,000 of collateral trust bonds in connection with the refinancing of outstanding bonds.

The bonds already have been sold to Morgan Stanley & Co., of New York; Otis & Co., of Cleveland, and Halsey, Stuart & Co., of Chicago. Former Senator Robert Bulkley of Ohio asked I. C. C. officials to require competitive bidding on the issue.

The railroad will sell $30,000,000 of 10 year collateral trust 3½ per cent bonds, due Jan. 1, 1950, and $30,000,000 of 20 year collateral trust bonds, due Jan. 1, 1960. The 10 year bonds will be sold at 99½, 20 year bonds at 98½, plus accrued interest in each case.

HISTORY OF CONTROVERSY.

The Louisville and Nashville bonds actually were offered on Dec. 28, subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce commission, and were reported to have been well received.

Announcement that they were to be offered by an underwriting syndicate of 75 investment houses resulted in a sharp letter from Halsey, Stuart & Co., which had been trying to have the bonds sold in competitive bidding, to Lyman Delano, chairman of the board of the L. & N.

Halsey-Stuart said, "This sudden haste to conclude the financing in an attempt to shut off competition is in our opinion detrimental to the public interest and harmful to the railroad, banking, and business interests of the country."

DEERE & CO. NET INCOME SHOWS DECLINE IN 1939

Earnings $7,627,355; Sales Off 11 Pct.

[Earnings statistics of many other companies are printed on page 39.]

Net income of Deere & Co., manufacturer of farm implements, declined to $7,627,355 in 1939 from $9,469,930 in 1938, the company's annual report disclosed yesterday. This was equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to $1.89 a share on common stock outstanding and compared with $2.42 a common share the previous year.

Charles D. Wiman, president, said that sales last year dropped about 11 per cent to $70,165,235. In 1938 sales totaled $79,233,797. Wiman attributed the drop in sales to a declining tendency in farm commodity prices during the active agricultural implement selling season.

1940 Prospect Favorable.

Wiman said, however, that 1940 prospects of Deere & Co. are favorable on the basis of the present agricultural outlook. An encouraging factor last year was an improvement of 2 per cent in collections as compared with 1938.

The 1939 net profit of S. H. Kress & Co., operator of a chain of variety stores, showed a substantial increase. Net was $4,963,870 after all charges, equal to $1.92 a common share, compared with $3,668,216, or $1.37 a share, in 1938.

United States Leather company and subsidiaries reported a 1939 net income of $150,571, compared with a 1938 net loss of $1,696,524.

Bigelow-Sanford Carpet company's 1939 net income amounted to $2,180,344, or $6.44 a common share, contrasting sharply with the concern's net loss of $1,491,032 in 1938.

New Jersey Zinc Gains.

New Jersey Zinc company reported net income of $5,299,055 for 1939, equal to $2.70 a capitalsh are. In 1938 the company reported a net income of $3,220,314, or $1.64 a share.

Net income of Atlas Powder company last year was $1,299,137, or $3.82 a common share, compared with 1938 net profit of $1,103,056, or $2.69 a share.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., estimated a consolidated net profit of $169,536 will be shown for 1939 after all charges, against net profit of $119,018 in 1938.

Plymouth Oil company reported that preliminary figures showed earnings of $2,462,755, or $2.37 a share on 1,038,633 shares outstanding. In the preceding year net income totaled $2,609,091, or $2.59 a share on the 1,008,000 shares then outstanding.

Skelly Oil company reported in a registration statement filed with the Securities commission that it earned $2,360,783 in 1939, equal to $1.99 a common share. In 1938 the company's net profit was $2,650,054, or $2.27 a share.

Steel's Upturn Is Reflected in Profit Gains

Reports on earnings by additional steel companies yesterday continued to reflect the business upturn in the steel industry in 1939. Among the companies that reported were the Acme Steel company, Chicago; Republic Steel corporation, Cleveland, O.; Wheeling Steel corporation, Wheeling, W. Va., and the Carpenter Steel company, Reading, Pa. Most of the reports made yesterday were preliminary.

Acme Steel reported a fourth quarter profit of $872,506, equal to $2.66 a share, compared with $202,726, equal to 62 cents a share, in 1938. For the full year 1939 the profit was $1,915,331, equal to $5.84 a share, compared with $368,168, equal to $1.12 a share, for 1938.

Republic's Profit $10,671,343.

Republic Steel had a 1939 net profit of $10,671,343, equal to $1.42 a share, compared with a loss of $7,997,825 for 1938. The fourth quarter profit was $6,772,593, compared with $308,612 in 1938.

"Republic's 1939 showing came largely as the result of stimulated domestic business," said Tom Girdler, chairman. "There has been some increase in export business, but very little of it is attributable to the war in Europe.

"Steel production during the last quarter was at an abnormally high rate, resulting in the purchase of steel in excess of current requirements. The drop in the first quarter of 1940 has been due in part to inventory adjustments. I see no reason, at this time, why the general average for the year should not be at a satisfactory rate."

Wheeling Steel's Report.

Wheeling Steel for 1939 had a net profit of $5,560,755, equal to $6.40 a share, compared with $493,138 in 1938. The indicated profit for the fourth quarter was $2,152,452, compared with $1,042,153 in the fourth quarter of 1938.

Carpenter Steel's fourth quarter profit was reported at $382,033, equal to $1.06 a share, compared with $60,281, equal to 17 cents a share for the 1938 fourth quarter.

The Bath Iron Works corporation, Bath, Me., reported 1939 net profit of $660,703, equal to $1.58 a share, compared with $129,745, equal to 31 cents a share, in 1938.

ONTARIO PLANS BIG BOOSTS IN COMPANY TAXES

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 31 [Special].—Increases that would more than double taxes paid by some corporations to the provincial government were provided today in a bill amending the corporation tax act. It was introduced to the Ontario legislature by Attorney General Gordon Conant.

The sweeping tax revision would affect United States corporations doing business in the province because it applies "to every incorporated company which has its head or other office in Ontario, or which holds assets in Ontario or which transacts business in Ontario."

ECCLES SLATED TO REMAIN AS RESERVE HEAD

Appointment Hinted by Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—President Roosevelt indicated today that he would reappoint Marriner S. Eccles as a member and chairman of the federal reserve board. His term of office expired at midnight tonight.

Marriner S. Eccles.

The President said that it would be a good guess that Eccles would be reappointed. He would not elaborate, however, on the term of years for which Eccles would be appointed. A statement is expected from the White House tomorrow clarifying this point.

Mr. Roosevelt gave no indication whether Eccles would be expected to serve out his full term of four years as chairman or 14 years as a member of the board.

Roosevelt Persuades Eccles.

There was every indication that Mr. Roosevelt had persuaded Eccles to change his mind about not accepting formal reappointment. It was Eccles' intention, as disclosed by associates, to continue in the office, as provided by law, until a successor should be appointed. This would have allowed Eccles to remain at the helm of the reserve system and as the President's leading economic adviser. Eccles is the author of the deficit-spending theory which Mr. Roosevelt adopted as New Deal policy.

According to associates, Eccles did not want to jeopardize his future business interests by the provision of the federal reserve act which would bar him from employment with any member bank for a period of two years if he resigned before completion of his term of office. This would apply to his extensive family banking interests in Utah.

Temporary Appointment Expedient.

Uncertainty over the next administration made the temporary occupation of the reserve board office a happy solution to the problem.

It is considered likely that Mr. Roosevelt may ask congress to amend the federal reserve act so as to exempt the chairman from the ban against entering private business. Such exemptions have been granted by congress in the past where government officials were retained by special request and would have been penalized when they wished to return to private business.

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—Scattered selling in aviation, motor, and metal shares tipped the stock market scales slightly to the downside today. A few shares broke away from the main trend with minor gains, but traders generally seemed reluctant to take positions until the business and war outlooks clarify.

One of the quietest months on the stock exchange in many years ended with little change in the character of the dealings. Several large transactions in low priced issues contributed to lift the day's turnover, but the market remained in the rut it has occupied the last two weeks.

New York Stock exchange reported sales of stocks during January totaled 15,991,105 shares, the smallest since last June's 11,965,790 shares, comparing with December's 17,768,713 shares, and January, 1939, total of 25,182,350 shares. It was the smallest January business since 1922.

Additional 1939 corporate earnings reports today made satisfactory reading for the financial district, but the stock market remained indifferent to such news, except for an occasional small flurry in individual issues.

Loft and Studebaker attracted attention. The former ended ⅛ point higher at 24¾—a 1939-'40 high—while the latter, after setting a similar record, closed unchanged.

Other outstanding performers included Seaboard Air Line, with no change in its price of 25 cents a share despite a transfer of two blocks totaling 46,400 shares, and United corporation, which lost an eighth at 2⅛ on a block of 15,000 shares. Bigelow-Sanford ended up ½ point on strength of the company's exceptional 1939 earnings.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—Railway loans and selected industrial issues ended fractions higher in the bond market today. Dealings continued moderate.

Standard Gas & Electric issues dropped 3½ to 5½ points in light dealings as the Securities & Exchange commission reiterated it would continue to retain full jurisdiction over subsidiary dividends. Standard Gas 6s of '48, convertible, stamped, lost 5½, the 6s of '57 closed down 5¼, and the 6s of '51 dropped 3½ points.

Portland General Electric 4½s of '60 ended 2⅛ higher on reports a tentative agreement had been reached with bankers for extension and refinancing of promissory notes maturing in May.

United States government issues ended 7-32 point higher to 12-32 lower. Finland 6s of '45 in the foreign sector lost 1⅞ and Norway 4½s of '56 were down 1⅛ points.

Bond sales on the New York Stock exchange for January totaled $145,078,150, face value, smallest since August's $111,394,000, comparing with December's $176,100,000 and the January, 1939, total of $159,611,000.

Chicago Stocks.

Price movements were mixed in trading yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, with 34 issues advancing, 33 declining, and 28 closing unchanged. Commonwealth Edison was unchanged at 32 on turnover of 3,700 shares. Up ⅛ were Illinois Central and Berghoff Brewing. Marshall Field dropped ½, Athey Truss Wheel advanced ⅝, and Bendix Aviation lost ⅝. Central & South West Utilities and Chicago corporation were both unchanged. Sales totaled 20,000 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Declines predominated in bank stock trading yesterday. Northern Trust dipped four points to 560. First National and Harris Trust were 2 points lower. Chicago Title and Trust dropped 1 to 118.

GRAINS FINISH LOWER; TRADING NARROW, QUIET

Grain prices averaged lower yesterday in a rather quiet trade. Wheat prices held within a range of slightly more than 1 cent a bushel. The lowest prices of the day were made late in the session on selling which brokers attributed to an eastern professional trader.

Closing trades in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade showed losses of ½ to ⅝ cent. Corn was ½ to ⅝ cent lower, with the May delivery at a new low since the middle of December.

A forecast for somewhat colder weather in the west and southwest after several days of abnormally high temperatures led to some buying of wheat futures.

Export demand for North American cash wheat was confined to small lots of Canadian grain with sales estimated at 200,000 bushels. China was reported to have purchased 300,000 bushels of North Pacific coast white wheat on Tuesday. The sale was facilitated by an export subsidy of 30 cents a bushel.

Commodities

Commodity futures moved upward yesterday with silk still taking the lead. Final silk quotations showed gains of 15 to 24½ cents a pound, which followed Tuesday's advance of 2 to 20 cents. Cash silk moved up from $2.96 a pound to $3.07½.

Rubber futures climbed .08 to .20 cents a pound, wool tops advanced .8 to 1.1 cents a pound, and smaller gains were posted for world sugar futures, cocoa, hides, and lead.

Moving counter to the general trend were cottonseed oil futures, tin, zinc, and domestic sugar. Losses for the most part were small.

Turnover in coffee futures jumped to 10,000 bags from the recent daily average of about 2,000 bags. Traders switched their holdings from the March to the December delivery. All the activity was in Santos contracts, which declined .01 to .03 cent a pound. Rio was inactive and unchanged.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE HAS LARGER INCOME

Reflects Better Business in Chicago Area.

Reflecting the improved business in the Chicago area, the Illinois Bell Telephone company in 1939 had net income of $13,658,699 available for dividends, equal to $9.11 a share, compared with $11,036,479 in 1938, equal to $7.36 a share, A. H. Mellinger, president, reported yesterday to stockholders.

The company late in the year reached a new high in number of telephones in use for the entire area served. On Jan. 22, this year, the number in use in Chicago alone reached the 1,000,000 mark for the first time in history. The total in Chicago yesterday was 1,001,368.

"Telephones increased 64,023 as compared with 33,920 in 1938," Mellinger said. "This gain brought the total in service to 1,471,869 on Dec. 31. [This was the total for the entire area served, including Chicago.]

Changes in Telephones.

In obtaining the 1939 net gain, 231,163 telephones were installed and 167,140 removed. In addition, customers changing their locations required us to move 125,714 telephones.

"An event gratifying to the entire telephone organization was recorded in November when we reached an all-time high mark in telephones in service. This meant that we had finally recovered the losses in telephones which occurred in 1931, 1932, and 1933. Beginning in 1934, we made a substantial gain each year but it has taken us six years to recover what we lost in three."

Mellinger said the special weather announcing service started in Chicago in December has been highly successful, with calls by the public averaging about 13,000 a day at the end of the year. The service gives out weather information supplied by the government weather bureau by means of a special device that repeats the announcement automatically.

Daily Average Calls Increase.

Originating calls thruout the area averaged 6,437,000 per day during 1939, an increase of 6 per cent over the 1938 average. Toll and long distance messages per day increased 5 per cent over 1938.

Gross additions to the total "telephone plant" amounted to $23,972,072 in 1939, compared with $18,633,301 in 1938. Heavy expenditures will be required during 1940, Mellinger said, because the open cut method being used at portals and mezzanine station locations of the Chicago subway.

There were 24,455 employés at work at the end of 1939, of whom 2,750 had been with the company 25 years or more. The total pay roll for 1939 was $43,349,674, an increase of $1,397,939 over 1938.

NATION'S GOLD IMPORTS SHOW SLIGHT DECLINE

The flow of gold to the United States declined slightly to $46,535,747 during the week ended Jan. 24, the commerce department reported yesterday. In the preceding week gold imports aggregated $57,860,333. The United Kingdom was the principal shipper in the latest week, sending $10,095,383. Canada, India, Hongkong, South Africa, the Netherlands, and Sweden were other major shippers.

Foreign governments and central banks reduced the amount of gold deposited with federal reserve banks by $23,253,595 during the week, the department said. This lowered such deposits to about $1,127,800,000.

Silver imports rose slightly to $1,755,463. Mexico shipped $697,415, Japan $676,145, and Canada $189,609.

STEEL OUTLOOK CLOUDY; AUTOS ARE MAINSTAY

A cloudy situation in the immediate outlook for the nation's steel industry was reported yesterday by Iron Age magazine in its weekly survey of steel operations.

"Except for the probability that automobile companies will come into the market during February for their March steel requirements," the publication asserted, "there is nowhere convincing evidence of a broadening of steel demand."

Altho January is normally a slow period, Iron Age said, the situation has been affected this year by heavy production during the fourth quarter of 1939 and freezing weather which has delayed the placing of orders for spring activity.

Business Bits

Edward A. Cudahy, chairman of the Cudahy Packing company, will celebrate his 80th birthday today. He began his career as a packer in 1872 in Milwaukee. The Cudahy company, which he founded and has guided for the last half century, will observe the 50th anniversary of its founding this year. Starting with a small plant in South Omaha, Neb., in 1890, the company now has plants and branches in more than 80 cities thruout the United States.

Edward A. Cudahy.

Renewal of the contract of Ernest Glück, vice president and general merchandise manager of Henry C. Lytton & Sons, was announced by Willard W. Cole, assistant to the president.

The annual sales congress of the Chicago Association of Life Underwriters will be held on March 15 at the Hotel La Salle.

The Chicago Federated Advertising club has set Feb. 15 as the deadline for the submitting of material for the organization's first annual advertising awards. Nine awards will be announced at a special club luncheon on March 21 at the Hotel Sherman.

DECEMBER LARD EXPORTS LOWEST IN THREE YEARS

Lard exports from the United States during December fell 26 per cent behind the November volume, and they were 17 per cent under the tonnage exported during last August, the month prior to the outbreak of the European war, the United States department of commerce disclosed yesterday. The total of 18,916,611 pounds was the smallest for December in three years.

In November the total was 25,706,337 pounds and the high for the year was 28,520,477 pounds last January.

Due to a substantial increase in sales to Canada for domestic use in that country, exports of pork were swelled to 17,391,706 pounds during December. Canadian packers have contracted to deliver practically their entire output of pork to England at a rate much above the prices in the United States, and are buying pork in this country for domestic use.

Pork buying by Europe ran higher during 1939 than in any of the last four years. The 12 months' exports from the United States totaled 129,542,972 pounds, compared with 95,632,794 in 1938 and 63,232,464 pounds in 1937.

BUSINESS MEN FORM GROUP TO PROMOTE STATE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP).—The Illinois Development council, a group of 25 business men appointed recently by Gov. Horner under an act of the legislature, organized today to sell Illinois to the rest of the nation as the ideal place in which to live, work, and play.

The group will serve in an advisory capacity in expenditure of a $2,500,000 legislature appropriation, selected Milburn P. Akers, superintendent of the state division of department reports, as its executive secretary. Robert E. Straus, Chicago banker, was appointed chairman by Gov. Horner.

The council divided into two committees—one dealing with agricultural and industrial aspects of state promotion and the other with exploitation of recreational attractions.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL 1939 NET INCOME TOTALS $2,335,775

The Illinois Central railroad reported yesterday that its 1939 net income — income after provision for fixed charges—was $2,335,775, equal to 89 cents a share. Net income in 1938 was $1,222,874, equal to 7 cents a share, before sinking funds.

Operating revenues for 1939 totaled $111,370,852, an increase of $5,955,025 over 1938, and net operating income—income before provision for fixed charges—was $17,914,099, an increase of $986,930.

The Wabash railroad reported 1939 net operating income of $3,559,246, compared with $1,297,490 in 1938. The Missouri Pacific railroad had $1,195,989 net operating income, compared with $5,479,496. The Frisco had $3,835,525, compared with $1,135,174.

CALIFORNIA OIL PRICE CUT FIRST TIME SINCE 1936

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 31 [Special].—The first sweeping change in California crude oil prices since March 6, 1936, was announced today, effective tomorrow, by the Standard Oil Company of California. Prices are revised downward from 4 to 15 cents per barrel, depending upon gravity.

The company indicates as the reason for the state-wide cut in prices the fact that marketers recently reduced fuel oil prices 15 cents per barrel at Pacific coast ports, and that fuel oil prices should reflect this to the extent of the fuel oil content of the various gravities of crude.

Juror's Illness Brings 4th Trial for Grain Trader

Because of the absence of a juror, who was ill, Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday declared a mistrial in the third hearing of a suit brought by Soma Peto, Kansas City grain dealer, against Thomas M. Howell. The court immediately began to impanel a jury for the fourth trial, which is to get under way today. Soma charges Howell, a Chicago grain operator, cornered the corn market in July, 1931, causing Peto to lose $8,444.

PACKER PREDICTS FURTHER UPTURN IN EMPLOYMENT

Swift & Co. Head Reports to Workers.

Because of large increase in the number of hogs slaughtered is expected during 1940, prospects are good for larger employment in the packing industry, John Holmes, president, yesterday told the 60,000 employés of Swift & Co. This was the second report to be made by the company—largest packing organization in the world—directly to its workers.

The report covered problems of the company, employment conditions, pensions, earnings, efforts to improve the lot of the workers, and other matters of direct interest to the big force of employés.

Holmes said the federally inspected hog slaughter increased to 40,000,000 last year from 35,000,000 in 1938.

Larger Slaughter Expected.

According to the department of agriculture, he said, the federally inspected slaughter will increase this year to about 47,000,000 hogs, approximately the number marketed before the drouth and the agricultural control program of 1933 and 1934.

"We can expect our meat packing plants to be busier than they have been for years," he said.

"Hourly wage rates and weekly earnings were maintained at the same high levels as they were in 1938. Average hourly rates are 39 per cent higher and average weekly earnings are 12 per cent higher than they were in the prosperity year of 1929."

Commenting on employment stabilization, a subject of attention for all American industry, Holmes said in 1939 about 80 per cent of the hourly workers in Swift's meat packing plants were given steady employment thruout the year.

Employment More Stable.

Progress in the direction of stabilized employment was greater in 1939 than in 1938, and the outlook for 1940 and the future is even better as a result of recent changes in the company's weekly guarantee and seniority policies.

Holmes said that because of seasonal influences temporary employment is given to several thousand persons, and it is from this group that vacancies in the regular staffs are filled.

A total of 52,646 employés took vacations with pay during 1939 and the vacation regulations are being further liberalized. The pension plan was liberalized thru changes adopted on Oct. 2, 1939.

Of the $758,836,072 gross income last year, Holmes said, major expense items included $552,021,551 for live stock and other raw materials; $32,267,804 for supplies, and $26,990,931 for transportation, and the employés got $97,669,619. Earnings remaining for shareholders amounted to $10,321,523.

PULLMAN BEGINS DELIVERING BOX CARS TO ROADS

Delivery was started this week of 500 light weight box cars of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company from its Chicago district shops, the company disclosed yesterday. Of the total the Nickel Plate is getting 200, the Wheeling and Lake Erie 200 and the Pere Marquette 100.

Extensive use of high tensile, low alloy steels enable weight savings of almost 10,000 pounds per car. The new cars weigh 35,300 pounds, contrasted with the 45,000 pounds of the conventional box car. The weight savings enables increasing the number of cars in a train, thereby increasing the pay load, without increasing motive power.

The steel alloys, altho weighing the same as conventional steels, are much stronger and this makes it possible for less of the alloy steel to be used, thereby cutting down on weight.

SPRING MARKET WEEK TO DRAW BIG ATTENDANCE

Attendance at the merchandising events to be held in Chicago during spring market week, which will begin next Monday, will be about 8 per cent larger than last year, officials of the Chicago Association of Commerce predicted yesterday.

More than 18,000 merchants and buyers will come to Chicago for the semiannual convention of the Interstate Merchants' council, and the other events sponsored by the association, they predicted.

Features of spring market week will include 20 trade shows and merchandise exhibits, individual spring openings of 2,200 Chicago wholesale and manufacturing concerns, and openings for 900 out of town lines.

REPORT UTILITY NEGOTIATES FOR BIG STOCK SALE

New York, Jan. 31 (AP).—Financial circles heard today Utilities Power & Light company, is negotiating with a banking group for sale of its 645,980 shares of common stock of Indianapolis Power & Light company.

If the deal is made, it was said, the banking group would buy an additional 55,000 shares of common from the Indianapolis Utility direct and re-offer the entire block publicly.

Rock Island Streamliners Carry 516,700 in Year

The Rock Island railroad's streamlined Rocket trains in 1939 carried 516,700 passengers, the road reported yesterday. The Peoria Rockets led with 142,313 passengers and the records for the others were: Des Moines, 109,391; Kansas City-Twin Cities, 88,488; Kansas City-Dallas, 110,682; Rocky Mountain Rocket [in service less than two months], 16,869, and Texas, 48,700.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A liberal run of low quality underweights and pigs was a feature of yesterday's hog trade. The oversupply of these brought the general quality of receipts to the lowest of the season, and indicated, men in the trade said, that farmers are economizing on feed for the new crop hogs.

Buyers searched for quality and paid steady prices for most of the good grades of stock over 250 pounds. Other hogs ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

Light receipts forced a slight advance in the general trade for steers and yearlings yesterday. The small supply of lambs offered cleared quickly at strong to 10 cent higher prices.

COTTON

American cotton markets fluctuated in an uncertain manner yesterday within a fair range of prices. There was moderate buying by mills and speculators early on relative strength in Liverpool, but the upturn was not maintained as the English market weakened later. Closing trades were unchanged to .09 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed .03 to .05 cent lower with New York, 10.79 cents; New Orleans, 10.52 cents; Galveston, 10.33 cents, and Houston at 10.32 cents a pound. Prices follow:

STUDY TAX LOSS OF 3½ MILLIONS CAUSED BY TVA

Tennessee Suffers Most by Displacement.

572,866 a year in its electric rates. The savings to consumers in Tennessee is placed at $7,621,318. TVA now has 324,000 customers using its power, since the purchase of the Tennessee Electric Power company last summer and the acquisition of the Memphis system by the city and TVA last June 28.

Taxing TVA Prohibited.

Acquisition of properties, however, reduced the taxes the state, county, and local governments were getting, since they can not tax federal property without consent of the government. A TVA table says the former annual state, county, and other local property taxes and nonproperty taxes on electric power property and reservoir real estate and business acquired by the TVA and its municipal and coöperative contractors, bring the tax displacement in the basin to $3,538,321. Of this, $3,101,700 is being displaced in Tennessee.

Of this total sum, 42 per cent is chalked up to TVA and 58 per cent to the municipalities and coöperatives and other purchasers. Of these annual losses in taxes formerly levied on electric utilities and reservoir lands acquired by TVA and its contractors, the total of property taxes lost by states is placed at $121,389; by counties, $1,523,264; by special districts, $52,743; and by municipalities, $905,972. In nonproperty taxes, the states lost $887,046, and counties and municipalities lost $47,907. These figures are a breakdown of the total of $3,538,321.

Federal Loss Is $1,108,000.

In addition, the loss in federal taxes formerly levied on power property and operations acquired by TVA and its municipal and coöperative contractors amounts to $1,108,000.

TVA says its rates for power contain an allowance for taxes. In its contracts with wholesale customers—municipalities and coöperatives—the rates at which the power is to be distributed to the customers are sufficient, it contends, to cover all state, county, and local taxes formerly levied on the distribution properties. "The consumers," it says, "are now paying in their rates a sum equivalent to the taxes previously assessed against these systems."

TVA does not engage in the distribution and retail sale of electricity but generates the power and transmits power to retail distribution systems owned by municipalities and coöperatives.

Now it appears that the Tennessee legislature will require municipally owned and coöperative systems to pay property taxes. Whether TVA rates may be increased as a result of the controversy is among the questions that raises.

CHICAGOANS ASK RATE REVISIONS TO WEST COAST

In a move to place Chicago and middle western manufacturers in a better position to compete in Pacific coast markets, a Chicago Association of Commerce traffic committee tomorrow will present to the interstate commerce commission a plea for rate revisions.

Designated as "all freight rates," the rate structure advocated by the Chicago group suggests that there be a flat charge of $2.75 a hundred pounds on shipments with a minimum of 30,000 pounds regardless of commodity classifications of individual items in the cargo.

The association's proposals would open the way for the establishment of carload commodity rates on many classifications not already enjoying carload benefits, it was said.

The association said that granting of the requests would enable Chicago and other middle westerners again to compete in the Pacific coast markets which they lost on account of competition from those shipping overland by trucks and from eastern manufacturers shipping via the Panama canal.

BELIEVE FRUIT PRICES HAVE REACHED PEAK

Fruit and vegetable prices on the Chicago market appeared to have reached the "practical ceiling" yesterday, according to M. M. Thomas, government marketing expert. Prices have pushed upward since reports of the crop-crippling cold wave thruout the south reached Chicago last week.

Thomas said that consumer resistance to present high prices was strong, consequently the volume of trading on the market yesterday was slight.

"Buyers, and in turn, housewives, apparently will not pay the increase," he said. "Canned and frozen fruits and vegetables will be bought instead."

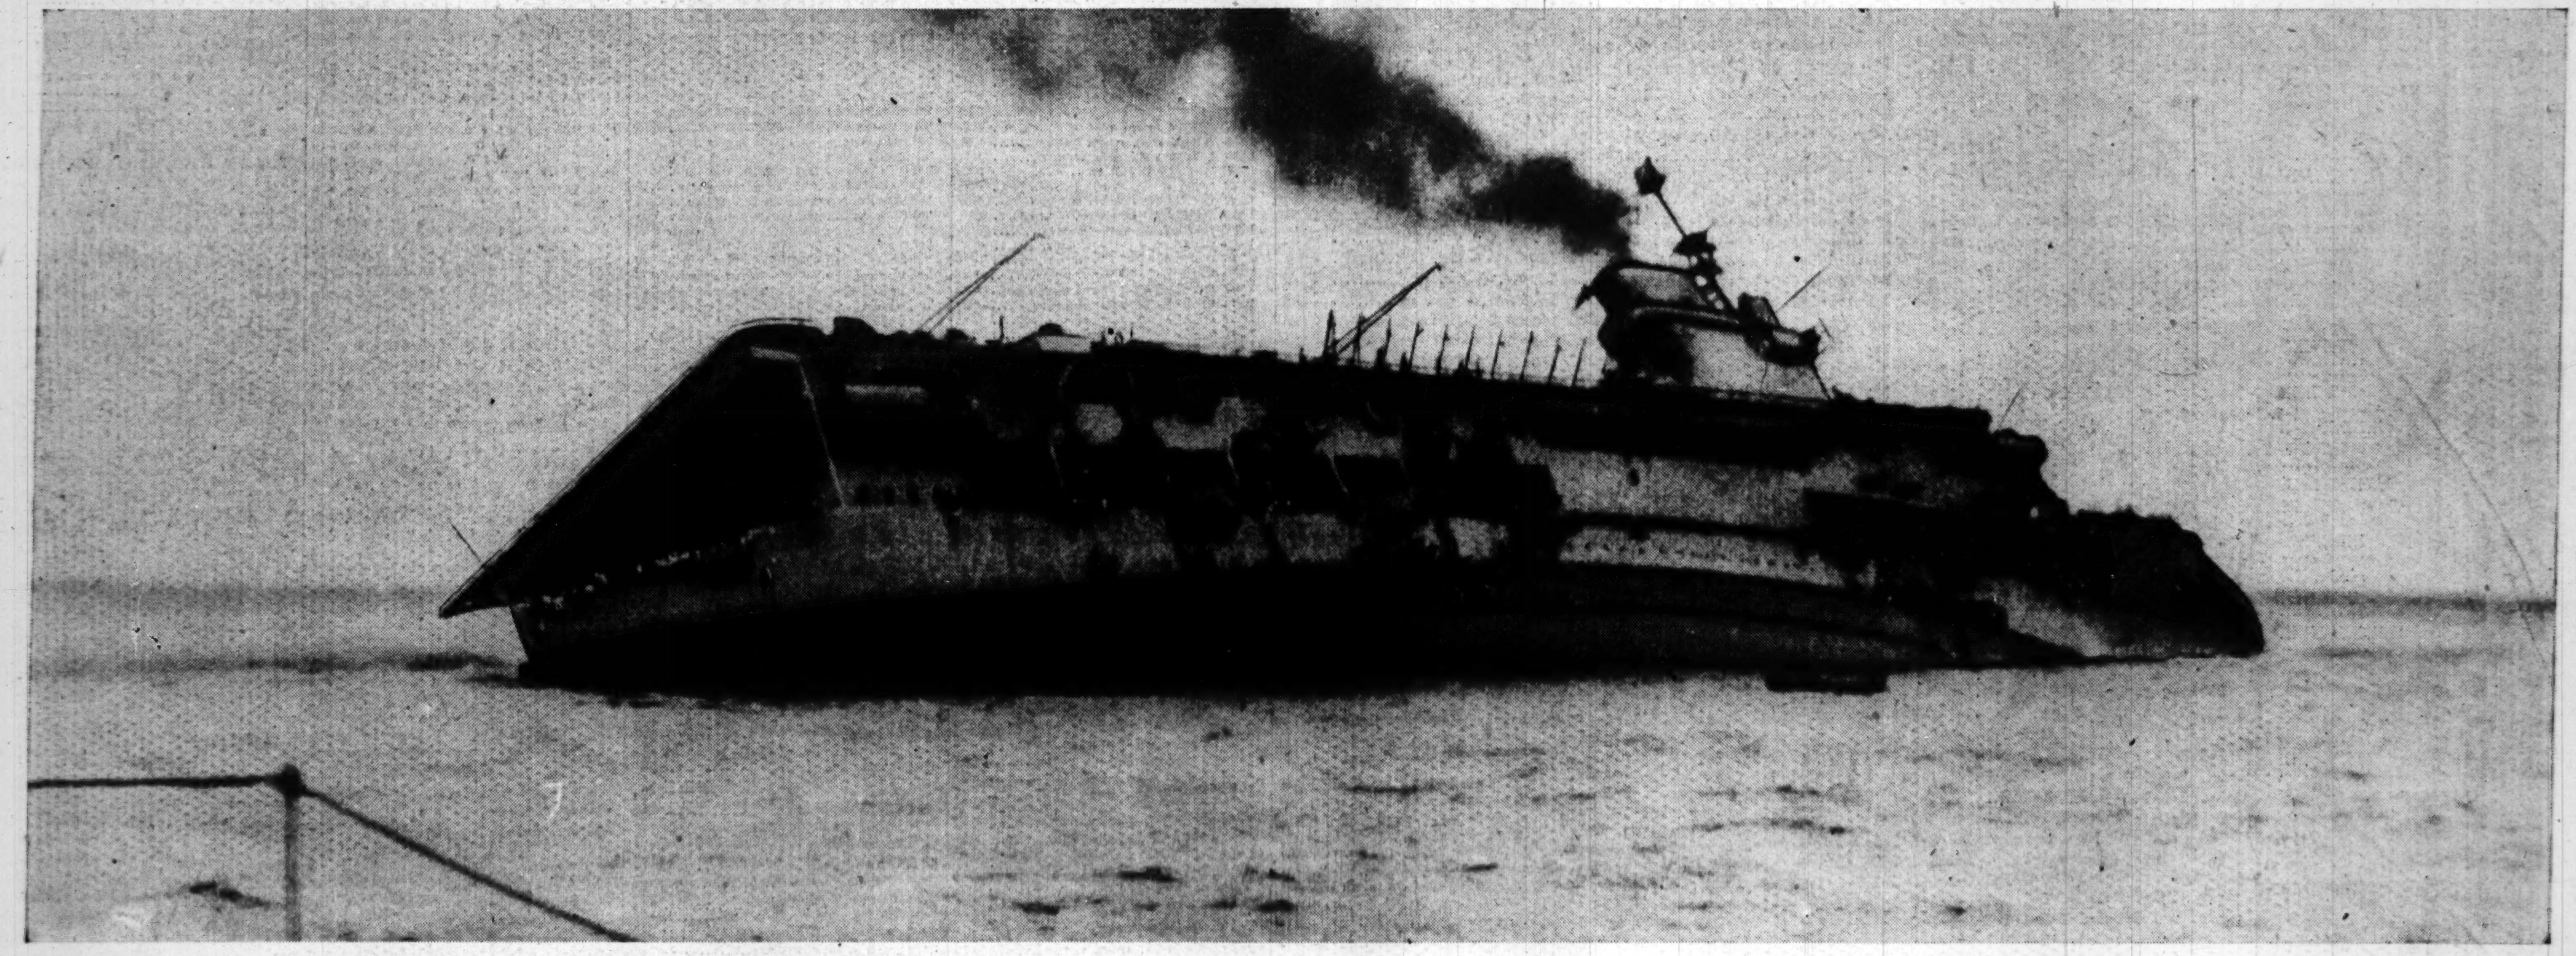
First Pictures of Sinking of British Aircraft Carrier Courageous—Finns Trap Two More Russian Divisions



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The first camera record of the sinking of British aircraft carrier Courageous by a German submarine on Sept. 18 with loss of 515 lives. Pictures of the sinking, taken by a British officer on rescue vessel, finally passed censorship restrictions and reached United States yesterday on Clipper plane. In this picture the Courageous is heeling over. Men can be seen sliding down the side of the vessel. The sinking took place somewhere in the North Atlantic. (Story on page 3.)

Another view of the sinking of the Courageous. According to censor, this picture was taken just after the aircraft carrier had been hit by torpedo. The vessel is already heeling over on its port side. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The last plane (arrow) to land on the Courageous just before it was attacked by submarine. The picture was made from the deck of another British warship which was close by at time of attack and later took part in the rescue work.

Russian prisoners being taken behind lines by white garbed Finnish ski soldiers at Suomussalmi, where the Russian 44th division was routed by the Finns in one of war's most important engagements. The picture was taken early in January.

Finnish victors in the rout of the Russian 44th division dragging away an antitank gun abandoned by the fleeing Reds. According to the Finns, they captured 102 such weapons in addition to thousands of prisoners. (Story on page 1.)

Some of the 40 Russian tanks the Finns claim to have captured in the battle of Suomussalmi. The fleeing Russians abandoned much other equipment, including trucks and guns. Yesterday the Finns said they had two more Red divisions trapped.
